Toronto, Aug. 11. - Following is summary of the August crop bulletin to be issued tomorrow by the Ontario department of agriculture, regarding conditions on Aug. 1: Fall Wheat—The harvest season from one to two weeks later than isual, for while in some quarters cutting began July 20th, considerable of the crop remained to be cut on the 1st of August. This grain, will be, compared with its own average, the poorest of the cereal crops, taking the Province at large; for while in some calities a good return is reported n other sections the crop has been o great a failure as to give back no more than the quantity of seed sown. A good deal of fall wheat land was plowed up, and much was resown with parley, which has done well.

Spring wheat was not so far advanced as usual on 1st of August, and cutting was not expected to begin until the 10th or 20th of the month, according to location, Rust was threatsome quarters, but aside from that the crop was in excellent condition, and the yield was expected to be well above the average. Barley—The cutting of barley was general in the last week of July, although much of the crop remained to be harvested after that period. The yields generally are well up to or above the average, and the heavy eturns much outnumber the light Oats-Some yields of oats have been reported, and only a few poor ones, and the probabilities are that the general result will be one of the most satisfactory in the history of this important crop. The harvesting of this crop was not expected to be general before the second week of August. Rye was badly winter-killed, and the yield per acre will be below the average. Where the crop survived, however, it came along in fair condition as to quality.

Peas—The bulk of the crop will probably be harvested between the 15th over the lock sills, with width and of August and end of the month. Owing locks in proportion. It will be open as to ravages of the "bug" during the early in the spring as Sault Ste. Marie, last few years, only a small acreage of peas was planted this season. Present prospects are for a yield rather above the average.

Hay and Clover—Taking the Province is a whole this crop may be briefly described as a fairly large one, and described as a fairly large one, and later than a twelve-foot ditch.

Will be a fair more elective fee-breaker than barge, being towed. A twenty-one-foot canal two hundred feet wide will be navigable later than a twelve-foot ditch. It has been well saved in most cases, Some of the early hay was caught by rain, but the bulk of the crop was housed in excellent condition. The poorest average yields were reported from Lake Eric counties, where much damage had been done by winter killing.

Identity for ditch.

Canada can open a waterway with twenty-five feet of water in depth from Georgian Bay to tide-water at Montreal for less than the estimated cost of our ditch—how much less than the actual cost, time only will determine. When we have expended $150,000,000 or when the same position there on July 50. t has been well saved in most cases, later than a twelve-foot ditch.

Corn—References to the poor quality of seed corn are so frequent as the time to demand attention. The wet and cold weather prevailing at the time of planting also caused some rotting of the seed on low fields, the result of these various drawbacks being funds, construction will begin and contained as a bad start generally, while parts of some fields had to be resown with buckwheat, or with oats and peas for green food. Some correspondents speak of the crops as promeising, but most of the returns made in our ditch we will realize our folly and left the national government make a ship canal from the Hudson to Lake Ontario to the Contario to the Unitario, and from Lake Ontario to the Unitario, and from Lake Ontario to the Session of the Grand Lodge, I. At 8 o'clock this evening, a state dinner was given, for which a large number of invitations had been issued. The dinner was given at the vice-regal quarters. Montreal, Aug. 11. - An important meeting of the executive of the Canadian Fire Underwriting Association was held here today, when it was decided to make another increase in the fire insurance rates. This is on account of the condition of the boilers at the low level pumping station. As the result of defects there is danger of a water famine, which would increase the risks in case of fire. The increase will affect only the congested district of Montreal.
