DRINKING AND ITS CURE.

NOW THE DOCTORS DIFFER AS TO THE REMEDY.

What Toronto Physicians told The World The Russian Alleged "Infallible" Bemedy—The Effects of Strychnine-Inchrintes Saturated with the Drug. bue of the most abstruse problems in cor iety. The subject has been discussed at the subject has been discussed at ferences, considered in conventions, dog-lically pronounced upon from the pulpit, thoroughly ventilated in the press. Apart from the question to the core a remedy t restraint and abstinence, is there a remed or dronkenness that shall permanently erad cate the craving for strong potations?

That is the question which is now attracting much attention in various circles in Toonto and district. To a large extent this due to the publication of the following articles

The World yesterday into a community of total was a community of the leading physicians of Toronto on this important question. The result is given below and affords another example of "how doctors differ." The medical faculty is one of the most enlightened and least affected by prejudice of any of the leasts appear their mind on what many of the laity would term "quackery." As such the majority of the physicians interviewed did not regard the Russian discovery, though there were grave misgivings in many quarters as to the reported beneficial results of the afryclutine treatments. Patients have been scaked with the drive and no cure

There is no doubt of the great effect of strychnine on the nervous yetem. Drunkenness is undoubtedly a servous dassase, and it is possible that in very mall doses strychume might be beneficial. Sat this I'de not know, having had no experience in the matter. I would like to see ome demonstration. Until then my opinion will not be much worth." He Doubts If It Will Cure Alcohol

Dz. T. H. Stark, 97 Bond-street, asid: "I have treated many cases of alcoholism, but never any in the way referred to in this article. I do not believe it will do what it says. Certainly I should never expect any decided effect in causing aversion to drink in either one day or ten days. Strychnine in very small quantities is used as a nervine touic, but I greatly doubt if it would have any effect in curing alcoholism. However I have not tried it not heard of it being no used, and therefore can not say." Pleasty of Beef-Tea Well Pepwered.
