Melbourn papers to the 25th February had been received at Liverpool, Lola Montez was playing at the Victoria Theatre, Ballarat diggins, where she had had an encounter with Mr. Seekamp, the editor of the Times at that place.

A writer in the Times had made some remarks reflecting on the character of Lola, and a few evenings afterwards, Mr. Seek-amp called at the United States Hotel, where she was residing. Hearing he was below, she came down stairs with a whip, and the carcase of a dead whale, from which about five tons of fat was obtained. It is laid it on his back with a hearty good will. Mr. Seekemp retaliated with a riding whip and ere long the combatants had each other leterally by the hair. Some of the par itis interposed and they were separated, but not before life preservers and revolvers had been produced. At the theatre next evening Lola Monteze was enthusiastically received, and at the close of the peforman ce made a characteristic speech. A meeting was to be held by the Mel bourn Chamber of Committee on that day to davise the best means of promoting the re-establishment of steam postal communi cation with Europe. 7 The Melbourne Argus says :
