EDITORIAL IMPRESSIONS.

ABOUT THIS PAGE.

On this page each issue the editor says what he thinks. Probably what he thinks may not please everybody but this is our own back yard and everything goes. We will say what we please here even though the learned (?) reviewers call it talking through our chapeau.

THIS IS NOT "US" NEVER! WE'RE ALWAYS BUSY.

Were you to happen into the den of a philatelic editor when he is not busy you would probably marvel at the dolorous sounds proceeding therefrom. Ye editor is ruminating on the hard-lined-ness of his lot in general, and in particular, his sufferings at the hands of that world known individual of unsavory reputation — "The sample-copy fiend".

Were you to gaze into his window you might see him with his journal "William's" or "Taxidermy" side up, in one hand and his other hand performing indescribable evolutions in the atmosphere which has a decidedly ultramarine hue, caused by the profuse blankedly - dash - blank language being emitted from the mouth of the enraged editor. Well is it that William, Ackley et al are nowhere in the vicinity else "!!?!!!" These are only a few of the manifold tribulations of the average stamp editor's life. Yea! verily! his path is not strewn with roses but thorns abound in plenty, especially in the shape of advertising sharks, sample copy fiends and that necessary evil the printer's bill.

HAS STRUCK A PACE.

This publication is fast finding its way to the fore in philatelic journalism, it is receiving more support in every particular than it did when published weekly. It will appear regularly every month and is giving more reading matter than ever before.

But this is still only a beginning, we shall not rest satisfied until the REVIEW becomes almost a necessity to every Canadian Philatelist. You might add your "mite" toward making it such by letting us have your subscription. Why not? Meanwhile we will also add our "might".

OLLA PODRIDA

We would be pleased to receive half tones of any of our readers for publication in the REVIEW and promise that the best of care will be taken of the cuts.
