NEWFOUNDLAND DOG AND SHARE.—A short time since an enormous shark which had been caught by a fisherman off the railway wharf Geelong, West by a managed to escape. It returned, however, to its old quarters a few days after, and was ever, or desired measured, its dimensions receptured. On being measured, its dimensions were found to be as follows:—12 feet in length, 6 exhibited for some days, attracting numerous visitors, and on being opened a Newfoundland dog was found in its capacious stomach.

To DRIVE AWAY RATS.—A correspondent desires a remedy for ridding his house of rats. Let him take a quantity of green copperas and dissolve it in bolling water, and pour it as, hot as possible down their holes, and scatter it in crystals about their haunts. It will cleanse the premises of all disagreeable odors, and it has driven every rat out of the house we occupy. If he will imewash his cellar with the wash made yellow with copperas, it will act as a capital disinfectant, and with us has routed every rat and mouse, although the house was an old one, and the vermin were very numerous.—Country Gentleman.

FRESH SPRINGS IN THE MIDDLE OF THE OCEAN .- On the southern coast of the Island of Cuba, at a few miles from land, springs of fresh water gush from the hed of the ocean, probably under the influence of hydrostatic pressure, and rise through the midst of the salt water. They issue forth with such force that boats are cautious in approaching this locality, which has an ill repute on account of the high cross sea thus created. Trading vessels sometimes visit these springs to take in a supply of fresh water, which is thus obtained in the sea. The greater the depth from which the water is taken the fresher it is to be found.

A Good Ruce.—A man, who became very rich was very poor when he was a boy. When asked how he got his riches he replied: "My father taught me never to play till my work was finished, and never spend my money till I had earned it. If I had but an hour's work in the day, I must do that the first thing, and in half a hour. After this I was allowed to play; and then I could play with much more pleasure than if I had the thought of an unfinished task before my mind. I early formed the habit of doing everything in time, and it soon became perfectly easy to do so. It is to this I owe my prosperity." Let every boy who reads this go and do likewise.

A HAPPY FAMILY.—A gentleman traveling through Mecklenburg, some years ago, witnessed a singular association of incongruous animals. After dinner the landlord of the inn placed on the floor a large dish of soup and gave a loud whistle. Immediately there came into the room a large mastiff, an Angora cat, an old raven, and a remarkably large rat, with a bell about his neck. They all four went to the dish, and without disturbing each other fed together; after which the dog, cat, and rat, lay before the fire, while the raven hopped about the room. The landlord, after accounting for the familiarity of these animals, informed his guest that the rat was the most useful of the four, for the noise he made completely freed his house from the rats with which it was infested.

THE CAMEL AS A SCAPE-GOAT .- A very singular account of the use to which a camel is sometimes put is given by the traveller Bruce. He tells us that he saw one employed to appease a quarrel between two parties, something in the same way as the scape goat was used in the religious services of the Jewish people. The camel, being brought out, was accused by both parties of of all the injuries, real or supposed, which belonged to each. All the mischief that had been done they accused this camel of doing. They upbraided it with being the cause of all the trouble that had separated friends called it by every opprobrious epithet, and finally killed it, and declared themselves reconciled over its body.

THE MAYOR'S DAUGHTERS .- About a century ago when England was more pugnacious than she is now, and when she was engaged in frequent broils with her continental neighbors, a French officer her continental neigh happened to fall a prisoner in the hands of the English. He was conveyed to London, where he was immediately released on his giving his "parole d'honneur" not to leave the country during the continuance of the war or until an exchange of prisoners should be made between the respective belligerents. With that chivalry and generosity which, in every civilized country, is so characteristic of the noble profession of arms, the French prisoner was treated with the utmost courtesy and kindness by his English professional confreres and became a frequent if not a daily guest at the Officers' Mess. His general rendezvous however was the Army and and Navy club room, where, in his broken English funny accent, he was accustomed to dispense all the gossip, which, in the course of the day he happened to acquire during his long strolls and mables through the city. On one occasion he related having seen the Lord Mayor's daughters, who were remarkably pretty blondes, but unfortunately at the moment, in the excitement of his admiration, he forgot both name and office of the distinguished father of those ladies. He began by saying " Me saw to-day too such beautiful lady in the Hyde Park. Oh! so beautiful! beautiful!" Wishing to explain who they were he enquired of one of his amused listeners, "What you call the wife of the horse?" "The mare," was the answer; "On res! that is the name of the wife of a horse: they, these dear beauties, they were the daughters of the Mare." - Extract from " Tales of a Grandpa."

A Specific Against Hydrophobia .- Dr. Gizyvala, of Krivoe, Ozero, Podolia, for whose trustworthiness, Prof. Gubles, of Paris, vouches, declares that aftern series of crucial trials, which he describes at length, he has found that, after having opportunities of treating at least one hundred cases of men bitten by rabid dogs with the Xanthium spinosum, he has never in any one of these cases failed to Ward off hydrophobia. He gives some startling examples. During the Crimean war a family of twelve persons had been biten by a hydrophobic wolf. Six of them entered his wards in the hospital of Olschanka, Government of Podolia, District of Balfa. They were treated with infusion of leaves of Xanthium, and all recovered. The six others, Who were treated with the actual cautery and the daily use of Genesta tinctoria and other drugs, died of hydrophobia in the course of from twelve to sixty days. He recounts many other facts not less stiking. For an adult the dose is sixty centigrammes of the dry powder, repeated three times a day, and continued six weeks. Children under twelve-take half that quantity. The dose for an animal is much larger. A heard of thirty oxen had been hitten. bitten by a mad wolf. Eight had succumbed to the symptoms of hydrophobia. The commissary of police came to Dr. Grzyvala for his "anti-rabio powder." He gave three ounces of the powder with bran, daily, to each of the animals. None of them suffered from the disease. These are examples of which Dr. Grzyvala says he has a hundred others. We have heard too often of specifics for hydropho-bla not to regard the claimant with sorrowful suspicion. But the herb is at least a harmless one. Its ordinary properties seem to be mainly sudorific; and since animals suffering rabies are only too frequently at hand, and the remedy is one that grows plentifully in the middle regions of France, as well uin Podolia, let us hope that our French colleakuss will lose no time in putting this prophylactic

SETH HANCE, Bultimore, Md.— Dear Sir; Seeing your advertisement, I was induced to try your Epileptic Phils. I was attached with Epilepsy in July, 1833. Immediately my physician was summoned, but he could give me no relief. I then consulted another physician, but I scened to grow worso. I then tried the treatment of another, but without any good effect. I again returned to my family physician; was cupped and bled several different times, I was generally attacked without any premonitory symptoms. I had from two to five fits a day, at intervals of two weeks. I was often attacked in my sleep, and would fall wherever I would be, or whatever be occupied with, and was affected so much that I lost all confidence in myself. I also was affected in my business, and I consider 1 your Epileptic Pills cured me. In Fobruary, 1851.

I menced to use your Pills, and only had two attacked your medicine was made the instrument by which it is a less serious character. BY HANCE'S EPILEPTIC PILLS.

MONTGORER, TONAS, Juno 28th, 187.

To Seth S. Hance:—A person in my camboy had been afflicted with Fits, or Epilepsy, for therefore years; he had these attacks at intervals of two to four weeks, and oftentimes several in guick succession, sometimes continuing for two or three days. On several occasions they hasted until his mind appeared totally deraugaed, in which state he would continue for a day or two after the fits ceased. I tried several remedies prescribed by our resident physicians, but without success. Having seen your advertisement I concluded to try your remedy. I obtained two boxes of your Pills, gave them according to directions, and they effected a permanent cure. The person is now a stout, healthy man, about 30 years of age, and has not had a fit since he commenced taking your medicine, ten years since. He was my principal wancaer, and has, since that time, been exposed to the severest of weather. I have great confidence in your remedy, and would like every one who has lits to give it a triat.
