

caused his death... a death which is not too much to say he died the lustre of even this victory, as it has deprived the country of one of the ablest men and the most gallant soldiers that England anywhere number among her ranks.

QUEEN VICTORIA TOASTED IN THE ROYAL PALACE.—On the night of the 21st of September, the conqueror, General Wilson, proposed the health of Queen Victoria in the Dewan-i-Khas, the beautiful white marble hall of the palace, where once stood the famed peacock throne, and which bears the well-known inscription, meant to apply to the palace and its gardens generally, and which now reads like a mockery: "Oh! if there's an Eden on earth it is this."

Here, in the palace of the great Moguls, the health of our Queen was drunk by her victorious soldiers with enthusiastic cheers, which were taken up by the gallant Ghoorkhas who formed the personal guard of the General.

THE CAPTURE OF THE KING.—On the 21st the old King surrendered to Capt. Hodson and his cavalry near the Kotoub Minar, which is about fifteen miles south of Delhi. He was accompanied in his captivity as in his flight by his chief wife, the Begum Zeenut Mahal, "the Ornament of the Palace." The King is said to 90 years of age, and it is probable that he is scarcely in any way responsible for what has been done in his name, so that, as at present informed, we cannot condemn the clemency which has spared his life. He is now a prisoner in what was once his own palace.—Two of his sons and a grandson, however, who were captured also by Captain Hodson, at the tomb of Humayun, about five miles from Delhi, and who are known to have been leaders in the rebellion, have received the reward of their treason. They were shot on the spot, and their bodies were brought back to the city and exposed at the Kotwal-ee or chief police office, where it is said so many of our countrywomen were brutally murdered.

THE KILLED AND WOUNDED OF THE BRITISH.—On the day of the assault we had 61 officers and 1,178 killed and wounded, being nearly one-third of the whole number engaged. The first Fusiliers alone lost nine officers, and other regiments, I believe, in proportion. The Engineers suffered heavily; the three officers conducting Nos. 1, 2 and 4 columns (Lieutenants Medley, Greathead and Maunsell) were all struck down early in the fight, and of 17 officers on duty that day 10 were put hors de combat. The loss of the enemies is never likely to be correctly ascertained, but at the end of the operations it is probable that at least 1,500 men must have been killed between the 7th and 20th and a very large number wounded who were carried away.

Tales of Five Sons, and Nights at Sea. Each Volume contains between four and five hundred pages, handsomely bound in Cloth, price only 6s. each

NOTIONS OF THE PRESS. " Griffin's Works.—They are interspersed with scenes of the deepest pathos, and the most genuine humor—at one moment we are convulsed with laughter, at the next affected to tears. We heartily recommend Gerald Griffin's Works to the attention of the American public, and predict for them an immense popularity."—Sunday Dispatch. " We welcome this new and complete edition of the works of Gerald Griffin, now in the course of publication by the Messrs. Sadlier & Co. We read the Collegians, when it was first published, with a pleasure we have never forgotten, and which we have found increased at every repeated perusal. Ireland has produced many geniuses, but rarely one, upon the whole superior to Gerald Griffin."—Brownson's Review.

"Whoever wishes to read one of the most passionate and pathetic novels in English literature will take with him, during the summer vacation, The Collegians, by Gerald Griffin. The picture of Irish character and manners a half a century since in The Collegians, is masterly, and the power with which the fond, impetuous, passionate, thoroughly Celtic nature of Hardress Cregan is drawn, evinces rare genius. Griffin died young, but this one story, if nothing else of his; will surely live among the very best novels of the time. It is full of incident, and an absorbing interest allures the reader to the end, and leaves him with a melted heart and moistened eye."—Putnam's Monthly.

"We have now before us four volumes, the commencement of a complete edition of Gerald Griffin's works, embracing the 'Collegians' and the first series of his 'Munster Tales.' The nationality of these tales, and the genius of the author in depicting the mingled levity and pathos of Irish character, have rendered them exceedingly popular. The style in which the series is produced is highly creditable to the enterprise of the American publishers, and we are free to say that the volumes are worthy of being placed in our libraries, public or private, alongside of Irving, Cooper, or Scott."—Hunt's Merchant's Magazine.
