

destined to occupy an important and proud place when the history of this great West comes to be written.

"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." South Vancouver has won her victories in a soldier's battle for government of the people, by the people, for the people—has made South Vancouver the proud, prosperous and happy place it is to-day.

An Oversight

IN the present number of this magazine there are one or two stories and several sets of verses reprinted from other magazines, and by an oversight, which is unfortunate, the magazines from which they were taken were not given credit for them. "The Drovers of the Hills" was reproduced from Collier's Weekly; "In the City Crowd" from Scribner's Magazine; "They Know not Harbors who Know not the Deep" and "To a Lady" were also stolen without credit.
