FOUR MEET DEATH BY DROWNING

seven children, had been in delicate health, and engaged as cook on the steamer, in the hope that the trip on the water would do him good.

The officials of the company feel that it will be next to impossible to find the body.

John Farr, aged 16, the only son of John Farr, who resides at 24 East Barton street, was drowned and Harold Mills, aged 16, of 26 West Murray street, and John Clinton, aged 15, of 2 Tiffany street had a narrow escape from the same fate when the rowboat in which they were seated capsized about three-quarters of the way to Oaklands on a direct line from the foot of James street about 8.30 o'clock last evening.

Alberta Bries, James Rand and George Crossley, three young men employed on the Steamer Modjeska, were sailing in the vicinity when they imagined they heard cries for help coming about. They saw in the dim light the upturned boat about three-quarters of the way to Oaklands on a direct line from the foot of James street about 8.30 o'clock last evening.

There had been a remarkable calm upon the bay for some minutes previous to this, but fortunately a sudden gust of wind filled their sails and they were quickly upon the scene. It was then they saw the two boys struggling in the water and with some difficulty they succeeded in pulling them aboard.

The boys were so exhausted that they could not speak coherently of the accident.

The three young men at last learned from them that there had been a third person in the boat, 10-year-old John Farr, but that when the boat capsized he had struggled about for a few moments and sank before help arrived.

When taken aboard the Modjeska, which was lying at the wharf, they were stripped of their wet clothes and wrapped in warm blankets.

Changing Cars. They explained to P.C. Duncan that they were in the act of changing cars when it capsized and all three were precipitated into the water.

The two older boys were able to keep their heads above the surface until the timely arrival of the three men in the sailboat. Their young companion, however, sank almost immediately despite their efforts to save him.

The two rescued were at the point of exhaustion when picked up, and it was only the prompt and heroic action of the three young men from the Modjeska in answer to the cry of distress that prevented a triple drowning.

It was stated that there were several motor boats in the vicinity at the time.

An official of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is in receipt of a letter from Rev. Robert Johnson, D.D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Portland, Oregon, in which he entreats over a trip, recently made by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway through the Yellowhead Pass to Tete Jaune.

He says in part: "There are splendid possibilities there. The valley of the Athabasca is so wide that the mountains do not crowd in upon you as upon some other routes, but you get such a splendid and continuous view and the panorama is so constantly changing that the effect is indescribably grand. The boat trip, too, up to Prince Rupert and Stewart was particularly pleasant."

True Economy

ALL the wastes in the world there are none so much to be deplored as that of wasted time; money we value too highly, but time, because it is like the widow's curse of oil, which, tho divided among millions, still remains the same, we hold cheap.

As an instance of direful waste of time of which I speak I have only to call your attention to the fact that the large number of housekeepers on our streets twice as much time in the performance of their household duties as is necessary.

Many of these have only small families to do for, yet they adopt such hard ways to accomplish their work that it is impossible for them ever to have any leisure to devote to the training of the children, the discharge of other pressing duties or for personal recreation.
