"Southeast Whitney is showing up remarkably well just at this time," concluded Mr. Thorniley, "and the recent rich discoveries made have attracted considerable interest in Porcupine. Results on all the properties under development are being closely followed."

PORCUPINE. Nov. 4.—(From Our Man Up North.)—The Hollinger Extension, one lot under the waters of Gillies Lake, has been offered for option to an English syndicate, and should the rough draft, as now made out, suit the English capitalists, the deal will go thru.

Hollinger Extension has one strong yein that shows at the water's edge, vein that shows at the water's edge, near the Hollinger line, again outcropping on the shores of Gillies Lake to the north. Engineers also figure that the several veins crossing the McIntyre and Pearl Lake Gold Mines to the west by south, form a juncture with the Hollinger vein somewhere under-neath the lake waters, for to the west to set in.

Work was started on the Hollinger
Extension last week, when a pontoon platform, on which a drill has been placed, was built. The drilling into the lake bottom started Friday.

Drilling to catch up the Hollinger vein last winter, when the ice covered the lake, showed that 28 feet down the big vein carried good values. Only two holes, one 22 and the other 28 feet, were bored.

Should the present option be taken up, the drilling will proceed also, according to the present plans. A shaft will be sunk in the lake bottom, a cement cellar being used to protect the shaft from the water, which is only eight feet deep at the south edge of the lake. Chas. Fox.

MISSIONARY PROGRESS

Meeting of Women's Home Missionary Society Shows Record Year,

The great need of the settlers in New Ontario and the west, at this epoch in Canada's history, when the problems of immigration are engaging the attention of both statesmen and churchmen, was the keynote of the addresses and reports at the annual meeting of the Toronto Presbyterial of the Wo-men's Home Missionary Societies, held yesterday in High Park Presbyterian Church.

The chair was taken by a vice-pre-The chair was taken by a vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Taylor, in the enforced absence of the president, Mrs. James Loggie. The meeting was attended by between 200 and 300 women, representatives being present from 28 Toronto churches, and from Agincourt. Toronto churches, and from Agincourt, Eglinton, Mimico, Markham, Cakville, Scarboro, Swansea and Cedar Grove.

A special feature of the year's work has been organization, a considerable extension of the number of auxiliary societies having been made.

Highly promising developments have occurred at the Eldorado property in southeastern Whitney, of late, a new discovery having been made in the main shaft, which was started on the 14th of last month. Consulting Engineer E. Martin Thornliey came down from the camp the other day, and in conversation with The World last night confirmed the good news which has been whispered on the street during the last few days.

PRICE OF SILVER.

The cheaper issues showed much the same disposition, small declines being more general than anything else. These were limited in most instances to about a point, and the excellent demand at the lower prices bore conclusive testimony to the fact that the outside following of the market were willing buyers of securities on all the breaks.

Small Declines Shown.

A two point slump in Dome Extension, which got off to 74, was the only instance of conclusive loss, and in this case the reaction was not material when viewed in connection with the recent remarkable firmness in the shares. Vipond, Swastika and Preston East Dome all recorded declines of a point. Pearl Lake and Crown Chartered were remarkably firm.
