Dundas-street bridges came up in turn before the Board of Control and the Board of Works yesterday. The former body was in a hurry to unload the matter, and the Court of Revision and the Works Committee were suggested as the most convenient places to get rid of it.

The legal representatives of the property owners, for technical reasons, objected to going before the Court of Revision; but when they appeared before the Works Committee in the afternoon Ald, Hubbard, Crane, Bowman and Graham contended that as a financial question this assessment concerned the Board of Control.

"It is altogether too big for them," said Chairman Lamb. Thereupon the lawyers and individual property owners told their stories in great detail, and it was decided by the committee to go into the whole matter at a later date, with the assistance of the City Solicitor and the City Engineer.

Treatment of British Prisoners.

The Government leader in the House of Commons, Mr. A. J. Balfour, replying to questions regarding the reports of the illitreatment of British prisoners at Pretoria said Her Majesty's Government was considering the advisability of further representations on the subject thru Washington and thru the United States, Consul at Pretoria, Mr. Adelbert S. Hay, who has charge of British interests in the Transvaal.

Continuing, Mr. Wyndham said he was prepared to discuss the question of the judgment, and the discretion but not of the honor or rectitude of the Marquis of Lansdowne.

Getting Over Misconceptions.

Many misconceptions in regard to the despatches had already evaporated, including the belief that Lord Roberts and Gen. Buller had criticized Gen. Methuen's operations, and that the criticisms that they had been suppressed, as supposed, by favoritism, had been eliminated. The only point at issue was why the criticisms of Gen. Buller had been published, if the Government intended to leave him in command. Mr. Wyndham contended it was 'impossible to isolate the Spion Kop despatches, and treat them as no other despatches had been treated in the history of the last hundred years. The War Office, he asserted, nad acted entirely in accordance with the Queen's regulations. It was said the publication would shake the confidence of the troops in Natal in their commander, but Mr. Wyndham said that was not the view of the Government, nor the view of Gen. Buller, who was in the best position to decide. Getting Over Misconceptions.

Dillon Denies It. At this point Mr. John Dillon, Irish Nationalist member for East Mayo, interrupted, saying he had never asserted that he wanted the despatches published.

Mr. Wyndham continued: "But the gallant general has been applauded for saying he would stick to what he had written and would have made a great show of candor if he thought no one would know what he had written."

With regard to Gen. Buller, "to attempt to apologize for him would be a great insult to so great a man, who had deserved well of his country, and his troops would be glad to know his strategy was praised by Lord Roberts."

Mr. H. H. Asquith, Liberal, and others trenchantly adverted to the alleged untenable position of the Government, confidence in which, they asserted, had been so grievously shaken.

To Save Cecil Rhodes.

Mr. John Gordon Swift MacNeii, Irish Nationalist, declared the only reason for withholding criticism of Lord Methuen was because he had been ordered to save Mr. Cecil Rhodes at all costs.

Government "Cooked" Despatches.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, advanced Liberal, declared the Government was charged with deliberately undertaking to "cook despatches for British public," adding: "All honor to Buller, who refused to be a party to deceiving the public."

Roasted by Balfour,

Mr. Balfour said Mr. Labouchere had made it a question of the honor or dishonor of a great public servant. He added that his speech was the culmination of a series of attacks of persons who had discovered the meanest and basest motives in the Government's action. The Government, he continued, was accused of favoring one general at the expense of another. It was said they meant to prepare the public for the dismissal of Gen. Buller. Such attacks were not worthy of the opponents of the Government, which, by publishing the despatches, simply followed precedent. Was the Government to understand as a result of to-day's criticisms that no further despatches were to be published? He repudiated most earnestly the accusations hurled at the Secretary of State for War, and said he thought it shocking that accusations No worse or no more scandalous accusations to could be made in the House of Commons.
