REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Happened After Rita Brown Went to Telephone. "Here's your drug shop."

Alfred swung the car to the side of the road, drew up in front of a village pharmacy as if he had been driving a car for years.

"And here's your mazume," He held out a bill,

"Oh, I don't want that. I'll only have to get it changed." Rita Brown spoke petulantly. I surmised that she was Dicky's voice expressed the most elabo-

Bo Generieve Kemble SATURDAY, AUGUST 9.

The planetary rule for this not reassuring in matters outside the not reassuring in matters outside the realm of the social, artistic, domestic and affectional. These are strongly fortified under a most kindly position of Venus in trine aspect with Luna. In other directions matters are not so fortuitously aspected, and stamina, self-control and cool judgment are called for in order to save business affairs from disaster or causing much anyiety. for in order to save business affairs from disaster or causing much anxiety. The admonition is to avoid impetuous actions, ungoverned speech, litigation and quarrels, and undertake journeys, change or removals with care or defeer them altogether. The astrologers say: "The young will court"—this under the aforementioned Venus-Luna position. When Dicky is in a teasing mood he generally invents some ridiculous "pet name" with which to address me, knowing my abhorrence of public endearments. But as we walked toward the grocery store he dropped his affected manner abruptly

"But she's made all plans to stay days longer."

"That was when she still had an idea she might cop old Alf out when he wasn't looking, or had forgotten to cross his fingers. But she isn't quite bone from her neck up, you know, and anybody who wasn't solid ivory above of teasing in this particular instance, anybody who wasn't solid ivory above for the girl's eyes were smoldering with wrath. She had accepted the silver coins with a cool, crisp "Thank you." She turned on Dicky now with a look that spelled anger rising almost to the danger point.

"Suppose you close your trap and bolt it!" she said raucously, with a reversion to the type from which I suspected she had been bred, and turning upon her heel walked haughtily into the drug store.

"You really think he's attracted by Leila?" I asked eagerly, forgetting Rita Brown for the moment in this hint of a "Dear chee-ld! I'm so afraid she's upset about something." Dicky's face was like an undertaker's, his voice a piping falsetto. "What can it be? Alfie, you naughty, naughty boy, why didn't you let her have the seat by your side?" Dicky cast a whimsical glance at me.

"Oh, no, he doesn't know she's on earth," he began teasingly, then abrupts changed his manner.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

AUNT MATILDA'S KINDERGARTEN.

Cousin Bruin had a relative of whom the was very fond, and her name was Aunt Matilda Ursus, and she had two of the dearest little cubs you ever they looked just like Chow dogs. he was very fond, and her name was Aunt Matilda Ursus, and she had two of the dearest little cubs you ever saw—they looked just like Chow dogs. Aunt Matilda Ursus kept a little kindergarten for them, and the furny thing was that she didn't want anybody to visit her school—not even on Friday afternoons, when all the lessons were done.

The was very fond, and her name fully against trees, and how to measure how tall they were, and how big they had grown, by reaching as far up as they could on an old bare sycamore tree, and by clawing a mark, and then in a few weeks coming to see if they had grown any.

Now, Cousin Bruin could walk so quietly that you would never know he was anywhere nearby. He loved to stand in the shadow of an old oak stand in the shadow of an ol tree and watch that kindergarten, and immy Coon loved it, too, because hose little bears were so cunning.

Their dear Mother trained them in boxing—which, you know, is part of the training of any bear of good family. They were so funny that often Cousin On Labor Day, September 1, at Lake side, the Farmers' Club is holding Bruin had to stuff his paw into his mouth to keep from laughing out loud, and Jimmy Coon had to put his head into a hollow tree, to laugh there.

Those funny little Bear cubs would stand on their hind legs and have sparring matches, feinting and using lots of the tricks of boxers. This match would end in a clinch and fall and a regular rough and tumble frolic. Then they would stand up and begin their boxing all over again, until finally Bruin had to stuff his paw into his Charcoal sweetens the breath after their boxing all over again, until finally Aunt Matilda would think they had had enough and would then knock both completely over!

Cousin Bruin whispered to Teddy Possum and Jimmy Coon. "There is nothing like the advantage of being born in such a good family as yours and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form and mine, Jimmy Coon! Did you ever see such a good mother as Aunt Matilda taught the same training," and Cousin Bruin looked as proud as Punch.

Aunt Matilda taught the same training and Cousin Bruin looked as proud as Punch.

Aunt Matilda taught the same training of large, pleasant-tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey. The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the bearty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.
