RECENT DEATHS

Senator James Donville.

Senator James Donville passed away at his home in Rothesay at six o'clock on Saturday evening. He was seventy-nine years of age and leaves, besides his wife, three sons and four daughters.

THE LATE COLONEL DOMVILLE.

Hon. James Donville, F.R.C.S., F.R.G.S., honorary colonel of the 10th Regiment, Princess Louise Hussars, which he organized, and a member of the Canadian senate for eighteen years, was born in Bellefleur, New Brunswick, November 29, 1842, the son of the late Lieut.-General James W. Donville of the Royal Artillery, and Frances (Usher) Donville, daughter of the late Hon. William B. Usher. Senator Donville was educated in England and on the continent, taking a course also at Woolwich, with the intention of entering the British army. He changed his mind, however, and came to Canada in 1860, from Barbadoes, where his father was stationed with the Royal Artillery, did not remain here, but returned to England and started business in St. John as a West India merchant. Eventually he took over the business of the late William H. Scovell and operated the Coldbrook mill factory and Moosepath Rolling Mills. He carried on a large business for years in mills and rolled iron, ships' knees, etc.

About 1870 he took the late James Scovell, son of W. H. Scovell into partnership under the name of James Donville & Co., and continued until the great fire of 1877. In 1872 Colonel Donville organized the Maritime Bank of St. John and was its president for several years. He also started the Maritime Warehousing & Dock Company. In 1897 he built and sailed the steamer James Donville, the first British steamer that flew the British flag on the Yukon. He was interested in property development in the Yukon country and in later years invested in the Albert shale fields. He retired from active business several years ago.

His Military Career. Colonel Donville joined the old New Brunswick militia soon after he arrived here from the West Indies, and was on duty at the border at the time of the Fenian Raid. He did not continue in the militia after Confederation, but in 1870 he joined the King's County Cavalry as major and later succeeded to the command as lieutenant-colonel. He re-organized the regiment as the Eighth Princess Louise Hussars, a detachment of which he escorted duty to the Marquis of Lorne (afterwards Duke of Argyle) governor general of Canada, and H.R.H. the Princess Louise, in 1879, when they visited this city. He brought the Hussars up to date and maintained a splendid regiment, which was recruited from Kings, Westmorland and Kent counties largely. He continued in command for many years, being commander of that unit longer than any other officer. In those days it was customary for the regiment to hold the annual musters at various places, such as Sussex, Apohaqui, Shediac, Moncton, Hampton and St. Stephen. Through these musters and his military activity Colonel Donville became well known throughout the province and his name was practically a household word in many localities. He commanded the Hussars for twenty years.

The regiment volunteered for service in the Sudan in 1898 and again in 1896 and received the thanks of the British government and Lord Wolseley. Colonel Donville was one of the officers who accompanied the Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, to England on the occasion of the jubilee celebration of the late Queen Victoria, at which he received a medal. The regiment was presented with a silver trumpet by General Herbert for efficiency, the only trumpet given to a cavalry regiment in Canada. He was decorated for his long service in the militia. He was also awarded a Peniarth medal. After his retirement from the militia he was elected honorary colonel for life.

When a resident of St. John Colonel Donville sat as alderman and was a chairman of a delegation from the St. John Board of Trade to Ottawa in 1871. He founded the free public library, and later was president of the Kings county board of trade. He was elected to the house of commons from Kings county in the Conservative interest in 1873. He became a Conservative in 1882, and was defeated in the general elections of that year by George Eulas Foster, now Sir George Foster. The election was declared void by the courts, and from this time for years he and Mr. Foster were the political gladiators of Kings county.

In the by-election of 1882 Colonel Donville was again defeated by Mr. Foster, and in a by-election in 1880 made necessary by the latter accepting office in the cabinet, the colonel again defeated Mr. Foster. Colonel Donville was defeated by Hon. Mr. Foster in the general elections of 1887 and 1891, but was successful in the general election of 1896, the minister being obliged to seek election in York county. He was defeated for re-election at the general elections of 1900 by a senator, now a senator. It was often the boast of the Senator that although often defeated himself he was able by persistence to drive his daughter out of Kings county. Colonel Donville was for four years chairman of the select standing committee of the house of commons on banking and commerce. On April 20, 1908, Colonel Donville was summoned to the senate, and in a that body has made numerous vigorous speeches.

Early Experiences.

Among his early experiences in politics he was a candidate for the legislature in the city of St. John when the great issue of Confederation was before the people for ratification. He favored a union of the provinces, but as the voters declared against Confederation at that time he was among the defeated candidates. The last political convention he attended was at Hampton in 1920, when the Liberals nominated a ticket for the legislature. He was somewhat feeble at that time, but was able to attend the senate at the last session. When Colonel Donville resided in St. John he owned a house in Wellington Row, now the name of a Great War Veterans' Association, and later he purchased Kingshurst in Rothesay, where he lived for years and did much entertaining. Since the burning of his Rothesay residence this year he had lived part of the time at the Kennedy House, where he passed away.

In religion Senator Donville was an Anglican. He was a member and vestryman of St. Paul's (Valley) church, St. John, and took a great interest in building the present church, contributing liberally and placing a memorial window.

In 1867 Colonel Donville and Miss Isabella Scovell, daughter of the late William H. Scovell, were united in marriage. She survives her husband, as do three sons and four daughters. The sons are: James W. Donville, of Montreal, Harry of Mexico, and Edward, of Montreal. The daughters are Mrs. W. Z. Earle, widow of W. Z. Earle, of St. John, Mrs. John W. Davidson, of Rothesay, Miss Fanny Donville, and Miss Maizie Donville, of Montreal, who was a nursing sister overseas during the war.

The sympathy of a host of friends will go out to the bereaved family.

H. B. White.

His many friends will be grieved to learn of the death of Hiram B. White, which occurred at his residence, 59 Hazen street, yesterday morning at 1:20 o'clock. Mr. White had been confined to his home for only a few days and his illness did not seem serious until Saturday afternoon when he lapsed into unconsciousness from which he never rallied. He was born at Bellefleur, Kings county, eighty-eight years ago, and in early life was a member of the firm of White Brothers at Sussex. Moving to St. John in 1864 he formed a partnership with the late Fred E. Titus and for years the firm of White & Titus conducted a wholesale grocery business on New Brunswick street. A man of remarkable energy and vitality he was a familiar figure in the city and in the province to a few weeks ago he seldom missed a day from his office, always walking back and forth. Mr. White was a Methodist, serving for years on the trustee board of Centenary church. Although never taking an active part in politics he was a strong Conservative. He was a past
