DEATH of WILLIAM the FOURTH.

(From the London Globe, June 20.)

THE LONDON GAZETTE EXTRAORDINARY published this morning, contains the following melancholy announcement of the demise of his late most Gracious Majesty, WILLIAM THE FOURTH:—

"WHITEHALL, JUNE 20, 1837.
"A Bulletin, of which the following is a copy, has been received by Lord John Russell, one of his late Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State:—

"WINDSOR CASTLE, Tuesday, June 20, 1837.

"It has pleased Almighty God to release from his sufferings our most Excellent and Gracious Sovereign King WILLIAM THE FOURTH.

"His Majesty expired at twelve minutes past two o'clock a.m., this day.

"MATTHEW JOHN TIERNEY,
"WILLIAM FREDERIC CHAMBERS,
"DAVID DAVIES."

We deeply regret to have to state that His Majesty expired about twelve minutes past two this morning. The Archbishop of Canterbury was present, as were also several members of the King's family. Immediately after the decease the Archbishop of Canterbury left Windsor Castle for town.

It must be gratifying to hear that His Majesty died without pain; his family took their leave of him about 12 o'clock yesterday, when he was perfectly sensible.

We are enabled to give the following particulars of what has taken place this morning:—

Half-past Nine o'clock.—Viscount Melbourne having received a communication, attended on Her Majesty the Queen at Kensington Palace at 9 o'clock this morning to have an audience.

The following is the copy of the official communication made by the Secretary of State to the Lord Mayor of the lamented death of His Majesty, which was posted at the Mansion-House between ten and eleven:—

"Whitehall, half-past Ten o'clock, June 20, 1837.

"My Lord.—It is my painful duty to inform your Lordship of the decease of His Most Gracious Majesty King William the Fourth. The melancholy event took place at Windsor Castle at twelve minutes past two o'clock, a.m., this day, when it pleased Almighty God to release the late King from the sufferings which he had borne with the most exemplary fortitude and patience.

"I have to request that your Lordship will give directions for tolling the great bell of St. Paul's Cathedral.

"I have the honor to be, my Lord,
"Your Lordship's, &c. &c.
"J. RUSSELL."

The disease of which His Majesty died was no doubt a general breaking up of the system. Throughout the whole of the past week he was in a very weak state, and it was only by the aid of brandy and other stimulants that he was kept alive on Saturday. Notwithstanding the extreme caution observed in drawing up the bulletins, the medical attendants themselves saw almost from the commencement that the case of the royal sufferer was hopeless.

Summonses were issued in the course of the morning for the immediate attendance of the Peers in the House of Lords.

St. JAMES'S PALACE.—The Duke of Cumberland (now King of Hanover) slept at Windsor last night, and this day at 8 o'clock arrived at his apartments in St. James's Palace. He came unattended in a carriage and four. The King of Hanover has now ceased to be a Peer of the realm, and takes his departure from England in a steam vessel to-morrow to assume the throne of his dominions. On his arrival in Hanover the vicerealty of the Duke of Cambridge, as a matter of course, ceases. The latter Royal Duke is now on his way for England, and hourly expected. His arrival was looked for yesterday.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Mr. Martine, the Secretary to the Lord Chamberlain, left St. James's palace express for Windsor to receive directions respecting the funeral of his late Majesty. He stopped at the garden gate and conversed for some moments with Sir Benjamin Stephenson, who, we regret to say, was looking extremely indisposed.

A considerable crowd began early to assemble about the avenues of the palace, particularly in the Park, at the Royal private entrance, in expectation of seeing Her Majesty.

At 10 precisely the Baron Lyndhurst drove into the centre Court-yard and went into the apartments of His Majesty the King of Hanover, where he remained for some time, no doubt in consultation on the present aspect of affairs.

Half-past 10.—Up to this time no intimation of the wishes of Her Majesty has been received at the palace; the crowd of persons, most of them respectfully attired citizens, are increasing.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the great bell of St. Paul's Cathedral began to send forth its solemn tones, conveying the mournful intelligence of the King's death and the bells of Westminster Abbey and all the principal Churches of the Metropolis joined in the dismal peal. The Royal Standard floated from several of the public buildings, churches, and the shipping in the port of London, half-mast high.

MEETING OF THE CABINET.—A Cabinet Council assembled this forenoon at the Foreign Office, which was attended by Lord Melbourne, Lord Lansdowne, Lord Holland, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lord John Russell, and all the Members of the Cabinet.

At 11 o'clock the Council Chamber in the Throne-room at St. James's Palace, was laid out in the form prescribed for holding Privy Councils. The Royal pages were in attendance, with the Exou and yeomen of the Guard.

The Privy Council was held at Kensington this day, at 11 o'clock, to proclaim the Queen, which was done in the usual style, and the usual formalities, but with one exception, viz., that the style and title of the Sovereignty of Hanover was of course omitted.

A number of Privy Councillors were present, amongst whom were the Queen's Minister's and other great Officers of State of the Household of His late Majesty; we noticed Sir R. Peel arrive in a carriage with five other Privy Councillors.

Lord Kenyon also paid a visit of some duration about eleven o'clock to His Majesty the King of Hanover.

The guard mounted at the customary hour, eleven o'clock; this spectacle usually one of an animating nature, was particularly sombre, as they marched in without beat of drum, in slow movement, the form of the relief was gone through in the same gloomy manner. This will be the case, we understand, until after the funeral of His Majesty, which will take place about the middle of next month.

HOUSE OF LORDS, JUNE 20.

The House of Lords met this morning at half-past ten, and was occupied for a short time in administering the oath of allegiance to Queen Victoria until near eleven, when the House was adjourned until three.

The Lord Chancellor was the first sworn, and took his seat on the woolsack. Lords Lansdowne, Strangford, Ilchester, Kenyon, and Shaftesbury.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, JUNE 20.

The Members of this House began to assemble at 12 o'clock. By half-past 12
