

A WRONG IDEA OF DYSPEPSIA

Throws all the blame on the stomach. The Real Seat of Trouble is the Intestines. The Permanent Cure is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is an old idea long since exploded that dyspepsia is confined to the stomach. No modern scientist denies that by far the greater part of digestion and the more difficult part takes place in the intestines. This explains why dyspepsia is never really cured by preparations which merely aid stomach digestion and act only on the stomach.

This fact also explains why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been so remarkably successful as a cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and give new tone and vigor to the intestines, and make them able to perform their work of digesting the substances on which the stomach has no effect.

Stomach treatment may do well enough for slight indigestion, but if you have chronic indigestion or dyspepsia of a serious nature you can profit by the experience of scores of thousands who have been permanently cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, two or three times a day, at meals, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AT THE COMEDY.

Last night, in snowy gown and gloves, I saw you watch the play wherein each hero won his love. The old unfilial way.

(And, oh, were life their little scene Where love so sweetly ran. How different, dear, this world had been Since this old world began.)

For you, who saw them gayly win Both hand and heart away, Know well where dwelt the mockery in That foolish little play.

"If love were all—if love were all!" The viola sobbed and cried, "Then love were best, white'er befall." Low, low, the fiddle replied.

And you, fond heart, did you forget For all the changing years? Since watching there your eyes grew wet With just a little tear.

(And down the great dark curtain fell Upon their faces, dark, oh, too well— Life went another way.)

—G. A. S. (Singer in the Comedy, "Macbeth.")

OUR JOKE COLMUN

A Gay Young Widower of 97 Advertised for a Smart Young Wife

Of 80 with 60 or 70 Years Experience—The Spare Fibs Were Spare—Women are so Human.

An Alabama newspaper has this interesting advertisement:

To the Ladies:

I am a widower, 67 years old, and I am looking around for a suitable wife of about 80 years, who knows how to work and would be willing to help manage the farm. No young girls need apply. I want a woman who has had at least 60 or 70 years' experience, and I promise to make such a one happy for the rest of her life.

We have always said Alabama is a great state. They only die there when they get tired of living and times are flush enough to afford funeral expenses. —Atlanta Constitution.

A Question of Grammar.

"Mamma, if I had a hat before I had this one it's all right to say that's the hat I had had, isn't it?"

"Certainly, Johnny."

"And if that hat once had a hole in it and I had it mended I could say it had had a hole in it, couldn't I?"

"Yes, there would be nothing incorrect in that."

"Then it'd be good English to say that the hat I had had had a hole in it, wouldn't it?" —Trained Motherhood.

The guest who had ordered spare ribs looked discontented at the meager supply on his plate.

"Is that all you can spare?" he asked the waiter, with a frosty smile.

"Yes, sir, without more bones," replied the waiter distantly.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

Mr. W. G. Phyll, proprietor Bodega Hotel, 36 Wellington street east, Toronto, says: "While living in Chicago I was in a terrible skin with itching and bleeding piles. I tried several of the best physicians and was burnt and tortured in various ways by their remedies to no avail, besides spending a mint of money to no purpose. Since coming to Toronto I learned of Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used but one box and have not been troubled with piles in any shape or form since."

Love is blind, especially the kind that attacks the egoist.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitions, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. One of the first signs of it is a feeling of heaviness in the stomach and belching, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangement of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

DON'T TEAR DOWN—BUILD UP.

The old-fashioned theory of tearing down disease was entirely changed by the advent of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Blood and Nerve Tonic. Through the medium of the circulation and the nervous system they strengthen and invigorate every organ in the human body.

pleasing to the ear, as well as more distinctive and thus more serviceable, than the monotonous repetition of Washington, Jefferson and Lafayette.

Speaking of these Indian names, it is noticeable that they are generally rough and guttural in the northern parts of the country and more liquid in the south. Thus contrast such county names from Maine as Androscoggin and Sagadahoc with the Alachua and Suwanee of Florida or Michilivackine and Gogebie from Michigan and Snohomish and Klackit from Washington with the soft and sibilant Tuscaloosa and Tallapoosa of Alabama. In the central states the names are generally of a type equally removed from these extremes of ruggedness and softness.

But the red man's names form but an inconspicuous part in the roll of counties, more than half of which commemorate Americans of national, state or even local reputation. In fact, this roll constitutes a sort of national saints' calendar, the Walhalla of departed American heroes, the Westminster abbey where the nation's illustrious dead have their monuments.

In a little roll, the battle of Trafalgar is reported to have said something to the effect that "here goes for a postage or a tomb in Westminster abbey. Unfortunate name! It seemed the battle to the great admiral in his hour of triumph, or rather a tomb in St. Paul's, which was still less. But Perry, at the battle of Lake Erie, might still have said, 'Here goes for an event for a name spread over ten great American counties' for that is what his countrymen have awarded him, a monument certainly more lasting and imposing than the title of illustrious martyr, with a full quota of epitaphic mendacities.—Indianaapolis Journal.

Dear Swift and the Masons.

When the masons were building it (as most tradesmen are rogues) I watched them very close, and as often as they could they put in a rotten stone. I took no notice until they had built three or four porches beyond it. Now, as I am an absolute monarch in the liberties and king of the rabble my way with them was to have the wall thrown down to the place where I observed the rotten stone, and by doing so five or six times the workmen were at last convinced it was their interest to be honest.—Unpublished Letters of Dean Swift.
