SALVATION RESCUE HOME.

A Correspondent Calls It a Slavery Home, and Says Inmates are Starved, and Ill-treated Adjutant Holman's

A correspondent, who has evidently been in recipit of a lot of unreliable information, writes to the Sun some very severe statements regarding the manner in which the Salvation Army, Restue Home on St. James street is being conducted. She alludes to the institution as a "Slavery Home;" says that any money the unfortunate inmates may have when they enter is taken from them; that while there they are fed on commeal and water, "only fit for hogs," and compelled to do all kinds of menial labor, and complains that all letters written from the home are read by those in charge before mailing. She thinks the civic authorities should interfere to prevent the ill-treatment and starvation of girls who have been unfortunate enough to go astray.

The Sun has had occasion previously.

treatment and starvation of girls who have been unforturate enough to go astray.

The Sun has had occasion previously to allude to the creditable work being done by this institution, but last night, to make assurance surer, a reporter saw the matron, Adjutant Holman, and questioned her concerning the assertions made by the correspondent.

It must be understood that while to many cases entering there, the story of the cruel betrayer has true application, this is not always so. Men are of course very wicked, but they are not invariably the greatest offenders, so among the stream of hundreds of unfortunates that flow through the Home yearly there must necessarily be found women of all degrees of criminality. On this account, for the protection of the weaker from temptation and of the others from loss, all money brought into the institution must be left with the matron, who holds it of demand and returns it when the owner leaves the place. The fee for medical attendance is $15, but this so mly levied in cases when the pactical can afford it, which seldom happenen. The correspondent's statement concerning the letters was true, and said the adjutant, was necessary for the protection of the limited from the very wrong which brought them there.

As far as the work went, said Miss and the adjutant, was necessary for the protection of the limited from the very wrong which brought them there was not enough to keep the himmates from idlences. They, to get the houlding when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted to attend to the cleanline gether with the officers, were required to attend to the cleanliness of the building when their health permitted it, and to supplement this some washing was also taken in by the institution. This work was divided up equally and changed from week to week. No work was done by the inmates after 5 c'clock.

Regarding the food, Adjutant Holman issued a standing invitation for the reporter to come at any meal time and inspect it. The menu was, of course, not elaborate, but consisted of plain, well-cooked food, such as bread, meat and vegetables daily, with occasional dainties, and was better than that to which most of the partakers were accustomed. If any girl was dissatisfied with the fare or 'treatment, she was at liberty to leave the institution at any time, and the fact that many remained as long as a year seemed to show that it was satisfactory to the majority.

BASE BALL.
Houlton, 7; Alerts, 2.
Houlton turned the tables on the Alerts yesterday by defating them, 7 to 2. Inability to bat Vall consecutively and the sharp work of the visitors' field caused the trouble. Whelly pitched splendid ball for seven innings of the game, and struck out ten men. In the other two innings he was found for nine hits. He received good support, with one or two exceptions. Lennihan, the new third baseman, received his first irfal. He had nothing much to do at the sack. At the bat he hit the ball every time up, but was not able to place it safely. Lia this respect he had the company of five other Alerts.

THE ROYAL VISIT.

Shouter Once More.

The assortment of victims was varied his morning, two females, three men, in Nova-Scotian and a colored preacher. The women were Phoebe Dukeshire of Sheffield street and Lizzie Hayes, who registered her age as ewenty-seven as usual. The recent rains have most probably washed away Lizzie's age along with her complexion, and the same unfavorable weather has given Phoebe a bad cold. Late last night they were enjoying themselves on Sheffield street, but their amusement was rudely terminated by Officers Finley and Scott, who each with a lady on his arm wended his happy way to the central. The girls had been using maughty words—especially Phoebe—while Lizzie was decidedly under the weather. This morning each was fined eight dollars.

weather. This morning each was fined eight dollars.

John Mullins and John Kain had some slight difficulty on Brussels street. They were both arrested on the charge of fighting with each other, and came up this morning. A number of witnesses were examined and told of seeing blows struck. Mullin is said to have butted Kain, but he explains this by saying that when his head was down Kain ran against it. Mullin raised Kain and the police scooped the pot. As Kain wanted some witnesses on his own behalf the case was adjourned until tomorrow.

Lewis Austin (colored) explained that the Lord had commanded him to declare salvation from the mountain tops, and that he was only obeying the command. It happened however that Sergt. Klipatrick had arrested Austin for shouting on King street as, and the magistrate explained to him this morning that he had been altogether mistaken in his interpretation of the command, as King street is not a mountain top. No one will object if Lewis goes away to the nills and yells, but the residents of King street dislike the noise. Austin was remanded till tomorrow, but did not wish to put the court to se much trouble, and asked that it be taken up today. His request was not granted.

Two other drunks were fined four dollars or eight days.

Edmund Riley, who was reported for allowing a dead horse belonging to him to lie for twenty hours on Bridge street today explained that he had engaged men to have the carcass removed and was ignorant of the fact that it had not been done. He considered that he had done all in his power in the matter and his explanation was accepted.

and his explanation was accepted.

In the case between Thomas Barrett, and Thomas Murray the charge of fighting has been dropped for the present and the preliminary examination of Murray for cutting and wounding Barrett was begun yesterday. Barrett's evidence was taken, and as he was suffering in jail he was upon the order of Dr. Morris sent to the hospital. Today Dr. Morris, who attended Barrett's wound, gave evidence, as did also William McCormack, who saw the fight, and Officer Semble, who made the arrest. Barrett sweare positively that Murray cut him and shows a hole in his left sleeve, where the first blow with the knife was struck. Dr. Morris described the cut, stating that it was two inches long and one inch deep and required five stitches. McCormack saw the fight, but did not see the knife used and Semple gave evidence on the finding of the knife on Murray. Murray was formally committed for trial, after again declaring that he is not

WHY SOME CHIDREN ARE TIMID. How many children have been terrified by stories of the "Bogy Man," of "the wolf that will come and eat them," of "the policeman who will put them in the lockup," till their fear of the in the lockup," till their fear of the dark amounts to positive agony. Bed time should be an hour inseparably associated with the prayer at the mother's knee, followed by a quiet talk, after which the little one settles down to a restful sleep. But instead how often does it happen that the child is tucked in bed with the admonition, "No go right te sleep like a good boy, for if you don't there's a big dog over there in the corner that'll come and bite you." Go to sleep! Sheer nervous terror keeps the child awake. How can he be expected to grow up anything but timid?—Arthur W. Vale, in August Woman's Home Companion.
