C.P.R. ISSUES A NOTICE TO ITS STRIKERS

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—Next Tuesday the striking C. P. R. men will have been out exactly two weeks and the company has decided on decisive action.

Saturday it issued the following notice, which is printed in both French and English, and posted up at different shops and other places:

"The company will, at 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, August 18th, 1908, commence filling the vacancies in the shops, roundhouses and car department.

The seniority standing of the employees engaged or resuming work thereafter will count only from the date on which they start work.

Following the strike the company went on with its business as usual, desiring a conciliatory policy with the desire to attain its old employees, and wishing to give every opportunity to the men to return to work. No effort was made to fill their places as the different departments, although turning short handed, were, it is claimed, sufficiently manned to meet all requirements. Trains were said to be running as usual, both passenger and freight.

SUCCESSFUL WIRELESS TELEPHONE TESTS

PARIS, Aug. 17.—The naval lieutenant Colin, Jeanne and Mercier, the inventors of a wireless telephone apparatus which recent tests have shown to be superior to anything existing, have achieved remarkable success with their new instrument, communication with the wireless station at Raz De Seine Department of Finistere, a distance of about 310 miles. The transmitted words were somewhat faint, but could be plainly distinguished and the officers are confident that they can make great improvements in the apparatus, which has been the result of only four months experimentation enabling the exchange of conversation up to 500 or 700 miles.

J. DE WOLFE SPURR EXPIRES SUDDENLY IN UNION STATION ON HIS WAY TO CATCH A TRAIN

The death of James De Wolfe Spurr, one of St. John's most highly esteemed citizens, took place with tragic suddenness early Saturday afternoon on the train en route to the Union depot. The relatives of the late Mr. Spurr, although aware for some years that he was unable to be stricken by heart failure, were hardly prepared for his sudden end, as he had appeared to be in good health and spirits the evening before.

Mr. Spurr's intention had been to attend the gathering of the Natural History Society held near Robbsey on Saturday afternoon. With this in view Mr. Spurr took a hurried lunch and went to the railway station to take the train for Robbsey. Soon after he had passed the gates of the train shed Mr. Spurr was observed to pause and lean heavily on his walking stick. He then walked a short distance farther and fell to the ground. Death was instantaneous. It is supposed that the unusual exertion and excitement attending the journey to Robbsey brought on the fatal attack of heart disease.

BODY REMOVED.

As soon as it had been ascertained that death had ensued the body was removed to 184 Germain street, the late residence of the deceased. The remains will be interred at the cemetery of St. John's in Annapolis. They will be taken to Digby on Tuesday morning's boat. This evening the body will be in the hands of the St. George's Society, of which he has been a member, will attend. The late Mr. Spurr was in his 85th year.

He was survived by his wife, one sister, three nephews and one niece. His widow is the daughter of the late John Bennett and was formerly the wife of James Robertson, late collector of customs at St. John. The nephews are James S. Harding and Frederick J. Harding, agent of the marine and fisheries department, both of this city, and Charles S. Harding of Mountain Street, Montreal. The niece is Mrs. J. F. McBride of Dorchester street, Montreal.

The late Mr. Spurr was a great-grandson of the Albert family industry and erected near this city extensive refining works in which oil was produced in opposition to the petroleum industry of the United States. In 1880 the deceased was president of the Board of Trade and in 1882 a similar office in St. George's Society. Between the years 1880 to 1883 he was chief game commissioner. In the early part of his life he was an enthusiastic angler and sportsman.

JUVENILE COURT IS A NECESSITY HERE

Rev. Warren McLeod, D. D. of Chicago, Heard in City Pulpit

Rev. Warren McLeod, D. D., of Chicago, was the preacher in the Ludlow street United Baptist Church last evening. The reverend gentleman spoke on the subject of "The Juvenile Court." His text in Isaiah: "Come up into the mountain," etc.

He went on to say that it was necessary to have a plan for life's work. He declared that this plan was given to us by God, when we were born into this life. He said that many persons turn away from the plan. He took an example the juvenile court of Chicago, where boys were tried, who broke away from the plan. He declared that every place throughout the entire world there would have a juvenile court, where boys could be tried. Such an institution was a necessity in a city like St. John. He spoke of Jesus and His great deeds and work. He closed with an earnest plea for his congregation to follow the right path, and to pray that they might do better.

Dr. McLeod will be heard in the Ludlow street Baptist Church again on the 20th.

MOTHER'S GUDE FINDS HIS DAUGHTER AFTER 38 LONG YEARS

For Years Both Lived in the Same City Without Each Knowing the Other.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—No writer of romance has ever conceived a story more extraordinary than that which ends with the finding of his daughter by M. Ambrase Cipriani, after thirty-eight years.

Most people know the Italian revolutionary, M. Ambrase Cipriani, who in 1849 he was a refugee in London, earning his living as a photographer. Here he made the acquaintance of Miss Adolpha Rie, with whom he fell desperately in love and who married.

The couple were living happily at Oxford market, in Marylebone, when, on September 4, 1850, the revolution broke out in France, and the empire came to an end. Already a child daughter had been born to them, who was then 7 months old, and bore the original name of Pulvia Lavinia Italia Roma Cipriani, but no considerations of family could restrain Cipriani's revolutionary ardor.

He hastened to Paris, fought through the Commune, and was rewarded with lifelong penal servitude in New Caledonia. From that day his wife and daughter were lost to him. Ten years afterward he was pardoned, but when he reached England all trace of his loved ones had vanished. All that he could learn was that his wife was dead.

For twenty-eight years the old revolutionary, who settled in Paris, hoped against hope that one day his daughter might be restored to him. Many a time he had been to the right track, only to be more bitterly disappointed.

A few weeks ago, however, he received a letter from the well-known Parisian humorist, M. Jacques Wely, in which the writer said that he had reason to believe that his wife was Cipriani's daughter. Inquiry followed, and it was definitely proved that such is the case.

For years father and daughter have been living in the same city, each trying to find the other, and yet never dreaming of their proximity.

AMUSEMENTS.

EXTRA PROGRAMME AT PRINCESS THEATRE.

The management of the Princess Theatre are making an extra effort to please the public this week, and will commence with a selected vaudeville and moving picture programme. Madame Demby, a high classed vocal artist, has been engaged to sing very pretty and difficult solos. Morris Smith, a black-faced comedian who recently with the Decker and minstrels, will be seen in an entire change of specialty.

Harry Newcombe, the incomparable illustrated song artist, has a new solo which is pictured with a large number of beautiful hand painted slides.

The moving picture part of the programme is one of the best ever offered to the public and will be shown today for the first time in the eastern provinces. The Tyrant Feudal Lord is a feature subject of highest order, depicting vividly scenes of touching pathos. The costumes are superb, and the settings of castles in medieval age magnificent, with dramatic effect well executed. A feudal lord living in licentious rivalry ignores his family's interests. The arch man makes futile efforts to arouse the compassion of the lord, and in desperation sends a family of soldiers to the front where the former is living in revelry with a retinue of court attendants. An angry and a family of soldiers are ordered to rout the pleading populace, and the lord himself strikes down the priest. The spirits run the maddest pace, and his parishioners now haunt the palace, and live becomes unbearable for his master. The arch man's experience are repeated with such frequency and are so intense that they cease the genius of the lord. Excellent photographic detail and perspective, steadiness and dramatication.

The Saw Mill is the title of a very instructive series of views explaining the mill industry, and shows with much distinctness the lumber as handled from the forest to the mill.

Two exceptional amusing films are entitled The Substitute Automatic Servant and The Mystery of the Basket. Next week Passion Play will be shown.

HUMANOV'S NEW BILL AT NICKEL

NEW FEMALE SINGER—GOOD PICTURES AT THE BIJOU TODAY.

When the Bijou opens its doors this afternoon it opens them to two new days of good pictures sure to please its many patrons as the program is one of great variety. Starting with a delightful travel scene in which the picture of doing business in "Northern Venice," the acknowledged beauty spot of the world. Our attention is next taken up with one of those amazing and beautifully colored transformations of the greatest of all film manufacturers, Pathé Freres. This is entitled "The Witch's Kiss," and depicts the old success in her cavern home, the chance call of an old man who is lost and in whom the witch takes a great fancy and offers to make him young again if he will but kiss her. He does, is immediately rejuvenated and shown some truly wonderful things. Next, "The Mummy," a picture of the greatest of all film manufacturers and how he is taken in by an "old red" dealer. But here the hilarious part of the Bijou's program starts with "Lena and Her Beau," in which Lena's maid, who is not overly bright, makes several perplexing mix-ups for her mistress which cause much unpleasantness for Lena and her genteel callers. "Neighbors" is another laugh you can't help it. Family differences caused by the younger folks get two families fighting and the "Slick Bicycle" from which its rider finds it impossible to dismount; is arrested brought before the court and the real cause ascertained, is sure to bring the house down. There is a great treat for the music loving public at the Bijou today. Miss Smith, a soprano debut before a St. John audience, and coming as she does with the best of credentials, everybody should accept the opportunity and hear her sing "Dear Heart." The Bijou favorite, "Dave Higgins" will be heard in a very pretty sweet song entitled "In the Evening" by the Moonlight, Dear Louise.

THE LITTLE MAGICIAN AT THE UNIQUE.

A programme of more than exceptional merit will be offered by the management of the Unique Theatre to their many patrons today and tomorrow. Four of the very best pictures on the road and the latest New York song hits by Miss Outous and Mr. Frenline; the latter has been singing at the principal picture houses in the United States for the past year. The leading picture today is entitled "The Little Magician," and deals with a young lad who was left alone in the study by his father. He finds things too quiet and starts out to amuse himself. He enters a cafe and causes much amusement by the tricks he performs with the dishes. A can opener orders a drink; the boy throws a spell over the decanter and it fills all the glasses in the room, leaving none for the man himself. After amusing himself for some time he starts out. As he reaches the door he is met by his father, who picks him up and takes him home. The second picture is also a good comedy. It is called "The Water Cure," and gives the amusing experience of a haughty young man who desires the hotel servants to devote all their time to him. They have a revenge by putting a shower bath over his bed. He pulls the cord, thinking it is attached to the bell and brings the water down on him. He chases the servants out in the street and forces them to get under the stream from a watering cart. Two other brand new pictures, both of them shown here for the first time.

THE NEW CEDAR.

This house is now becoming the habitual amusement resort of the North End public, and a great many of it city dwellers begin to realize that to see a show such as this is a pleasure now put before their patrons. For the coming week they have engaged Al Dillon, the popular comedian, who puts everyone in a good humor. Dillon is a comedian of no mean order, keeping his audience in the continual roar of laughter. For Monday and Tuesday the pictures are Obeying Her Mother, a dramatic effort that appeals to all. Wanted, a Colored Servant, is a comedy that is sure to please. The Roses is a lovely comedy, and the picture is a good one. The picture, Percy says, the baritone with the voice and pronunciation, will be heard in new and popular songs. All who have heard Dillon are sure to bear him again. Those who have not should hear him without delay. So is the price of admission.

GOOD COMEDY AND TRAVEL PICTURES AT HAPPY HALF HOUR.

Today and tomorrow patrons of the Happy Half Hour will see a splendid programme both in songs and pictures. Miss Holmes will sing a delightful number entitled Good-Bys Sweet Day, and Mr. Buchanan will sing I Love You. Both of these numbers are pretty and catchy. In pictures patrons will have an opportunity of enjoying a good hearty laugh at two of the pictures, and they can enjoy a visit to two of Edison's famous beauty spots of which everybody has read, but few have seen. At the French Ball is the first laugh maker, and it is a picture, particularly "after the ball." The Elxir of Peace is the other mirth provoker. A scientist discovers a compound that always restores peace and harmony, no matter how great the row. He goes around town and distributes the liquid on the participants in several scapes and it works like a charm. He meets a friend who asks him how to do it. While dinner is being eaten "Ma-In-Law" starts to make a "rough house." "The Professor" tries the liquid, but "Ma-In-Law" is "peace-proof," and it is a failure. In The Riviera, the spectator is taken for a ride on the train and visits this beautiful and famous winter resort of Europe. Here among beautiful palaces and magnificent villas the nobility and royalty of Europe congregate. It is in the Riviera that King Edward spends a portion of every winter. The other travel picture is Picturesque Sicily. A few weeks ago Ruins of Ancient Sicily was shown at this house. This picture is totally different, and the trip is made by train, motor car, and steamer. Beautiful views both on land and sea are shown, and a visit is made to the following cities: Catania, Syracuse, Trapani, Marsala, Girgenti, Palermo, and Messina. "The city of Oranges." An excellent view of Mount Etna is shown, and another interesting view is that of a "public reader," reading the news of the day to several hundred of his fellow citizens. No one who delights in travel views should miss these pictures. They're delightful. Prof. Titus sings, If You Haven't Any Sweetheart Is There, Any Chance For Me? and Harry LeRoy sings, Sweet Rose May, illustrated with views of Coney Island.

TERRORISM REIGNS EACH NIGHT IN PARIS.

Apaches Continue Their Murderous Raids and Police Appear to be Powerless.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Crimes of violence continue to be of nightly occurrence in Paris. Today's list forms quite a budget in point of ruthless ferocity.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

While the Sandwich Islands were nominally Christian territory in 1822, they have since reverted to heathenism through the influx of Chinese, Japanese and Koreans as well as many Mexicans.
