Poetry

THE STORMY PETREL.

'Twas when in the morning
The rainbow gave warning,
To the sailors that traversed the wild raging sea,
That the music was heard
Of this stormy bird
As he skimmed o'er the mountain wave free.

'Twas a strange, wild thing,
With a motionless wing,
That touched neither ocean nor air as it flew;
But ever pursued,
With its phantom brood,
The white winged ship and its dauntless crew.

I had watched her flight
At the noon of night,
And wept for this bird of the tireless wing,
That hath no rest
On the heaving breast
Of the sea with its ceaseless swing!

And she hath no home
But the snow-white foam
This wanderer out on the wild, deep sea;
Where her chosen nest
Is the billow's crest
When the storm pipes loud in his ocean glee!

It is said of this bird,
That her wailing is heard
When the mariner sinks to his final rest;
And she glides away
O'er the darkling spray
When the sun goes down in the far black west!

That her wings are kissed
By the morning mist
When the sun comes up from his ocean stream;
And she hastes anew
In the bright foam dew
When the day dissolves with its parting beam;

That there is no rest
On the ocean's breast
For this storm love bird of the wailing night.
That o'er the sea
Flies ceaselessly
Like the panting wind in its pathless flight!

New Application of Electricity.—Every day brings to light some fresh discovery or some application of discoveries already made. On Monday last, the Battery at New York was filled with a crowd, collected to witness the raising of a submerged vessel by Foreman's Electric Apparatus, invented and constructed for that purpose by the gentleman whose name it bears. As the new discovery is one of the utmost importance and utility to the maritime and commercial world, among the throng collected to witness the announced experiment, were many of the first merchants and ship-owners of that city. Owing to the roughness of the weather, the experiment was transferred to the Atlantic docks in Brooklyn. Here the force was brought to bear upon a craft of 90 tons, resting on the bottom, in 18 feet of water. The following account is from the Herald of Wednesday:—

"The buoys, used as floats to receive the gas, or, in technical phraseology, the 'camels,' were simply water-tight casks, so constructed that when the charge generating the gas should be fired, the gas would enter through India rubber pipes into one orifice, and the water that had filled the casks up to the moment of the experiment would thus be forced out at another. It so happened that these casks were of uneven buoyancy, and when the charge was at last fired, the gas entered those ranged above one side of the vessel with greater rapidity than it could force its way into those above the other—so that the former rising very swiftly, added to the pressure upon the latter, which remaining full of water, and impervious to the gas, sank instead of being inflated and buoyed up, and the vessel rose to the surface on one side only.—The principal, however, was fairly illustrated, as the submerged craft came up, amidst the cheers of the throng, in about two minutes after the charge was touched off, and remained suspended in her position. The material used in the apparatus was alone defective—a fault that can readily be avoided upon a future occasion by the outlay of more money. We understand that Mr. Foreman is having India rubber camels of precisely equal size and buoyancy prepared, and will soon make another experiment."

Natural Gas.—The Holmes Country (Ohio) Farmer states that a wounderful natural curiosity has been discovered in that county, in the shape of natural gas. The discovery was made on the Farm of a Mr. Purdy, some eight or ten rods south of the house, in a curious kind of earth resembling dark sawdust. The owner, for two years, has been aware of the existence of some wonderful phenomena. The place on which the discovery has been made, has been cultivated for a number of years, and it has been observed that in a number of places every thing planted or sown, and all kinds of vegetation, would dwindle and die, and seemingly turn up. After the late rains, the water was discovered to be agitated, and to bubble up in a number of places, which led Mr. Purdy and others to experiment, by collecting a bottle of this gas and setting it on fire. When the instant a lighted match was touched to it, the vapour ignited, and sent the bottle whizzing through the house.

The Moth.—A great fuss is usually made about this time to keep off that delicate and beautiful little insect, the Moth Miller. She has certain instincts, as well as other people, and they lead her to deposit her eggs where food can be found when her young are "born into the world." So she, like a good mother, looks about industriously and claps an egg here and there under the seams of our best woollen coat, or in madam's wrist cuffs, or boa, or muff; or for want of better shelter and more refined feeding, will deposit half a score of eggs among the hair of the buffalo robes that hang in the carriage-house. Now this is very innocent and commendable conduct throughout all bugdom, but is looked upon by us as a peculiary insinuating course of proceedings by the bugs, and a form of deposit not altogether approved. So the good housewife tries to defend herself with cedar closets, camphor draws, rosemary, sassafras leaves, and other delectable odors, but the bugs care no more for them than does a hectoring gallant for a tap with his lady's fan; they are true to their instincts still, and will continue to be so in spite of the nostrums of Esculapius and all his disciples!

But, fair lady, there is one infallible remedy; and as a good recommendation, it is simple and always within reach. Shake your garments or furs well, tie them tight in a pillow-case, or any cotton or linen bag, and hang that in the garret, or any where under cover, and your valuables will be perfectly safe from the ravages of the moth.

An old preacher once took for his text—"Adam, where art thou? and divided his subject into three parts:—1st. All men are somewhere. 2d. Some men are where they ought to be. 3d. Unless they take care they will soon find themselves where they would rather not be.

A worthy minister, noted for his wit, on being asked what kind of a person the wife of Mr. —— was, replied, "I will give you her grammatical character. She is a noun substantive, seen, felt, and heard.

"Jack Shaw," Mayor of Liverpool in the olden times, once told a Jew witness he would throw the inkstand at his head if he did not tell him his Christian name.

"The first expense is the least" in agriculture; and in everything else, perhaps, with the old exceptions of law and matrimony.

Self-respect is the noblest garment we can clothe ourselves in.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST ASTONISHING CURE OF SCROFULOUS ULCERS.—A CASE CERTIFIED BY THE MAYOR OF BOSTON.

Copy of a Letter from J. Noble, Esq., Mayor of Boston, Lincolnshire.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—Mrs. Sarah Dixon, of Liquorpond-st., Boston, has this day deposed before me that for a considerable period she was severely afflicted with Scrofulous Sores and Ulcers in her arms, feet, legs, and other parts of her body; and although the first of medical advice was obtained, at the cost of a large sum of money, she obtained no abatement of suffering, but gradually grew worse.

Being recommended by a friend to try your Ointment, she procured a small pot, and a box of the Pills, and before that was all used, symptoms of amendment appeared. By persevering with the medicines for a short time longer, according to the directions, and strictly adhering to your rules as to diet, &c., she was perfectly cured, and now enjoys the best of health.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,
August 12th, 1852. (Signed) J. NOBLE.

AN EXTRAORDINARY AND RAPID CURE OF ERYSIPELAS IN THE LEG, AFTER MEDICAL AID HAD FAILED.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Yeates, of the Post Office, Aldwick Road, near Bagnor, Sussex, dated Jan. 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I suffered for a considerable period from a severe attack of Erysipelas, which at length settled in my leg, and resisted all medical treatment. My sufferings were very great, and I quite despaired of any permanent amendment, when I was advised to have recourse to your Ointment and Pills. I did so without delay, and am happy to say, the result was eminently successful, for they effected a radical cure of my leg, and restored me to the enjoyment of health. I shall ever speak with the utmost confidence of your medicines, and have recommended them to others in this neighbourhood, similarly afflicted, who derived equal benefit.

I am, Sir, your obliged and faithful servant,
(Signed) ELIZABETH YEATES.

A DREADFULLY DISEASED ANCLE CURED AFTER BEING GIVEN UP BY THE FACULTY AT MALTA AND PORTSMOUTH HOSPITALS.

The following important communication has been forwarded to Professor Holloway for publication, by Mr. B. Dixon, Chemist, King-st., Norwich.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Smith of Great Yarmouth, dated January 19th, 1853.

To Mr. Dixon.

Dear Sir,—I send you the particulars of a cure effected by Professor Holloway's invaluable medicines: Mr. John Walton, late in Her Majesty's Service, in the British Fleet at Malta, had a very bad ulcerated ancle, and after having been in the Malta Hospital for six months, was sent to England as an invalid to Portsmouth Hospital, where he remained an inmate four months, there, as at Malta, refusing to have the limb amputated, he was turned out incurable. He then came to Yarmouth, and was under a medical gentleman for about three months, but his ancle became so much worse, that all hope was lost. At this period, by my advice, he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which by unremitted application, healed all the ulcers, and restored him to perfect health and strength.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN SMITH.

SURPRISING CURE OF A BAD BREAST, NERVOUS DEBILITY, AND GENERAL ILL-HEALTH.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. T. F. Ker, Chemist, &c. Lower Moss-Lane, Manchester, dated February 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in forwarding to you the particulars of a very extraordinary cure of a bad breast, effected solely by the use of your celebrated Ointment and Pills. Mrs. Martha Bell, of Pitt-street, in this town, had been for a considerable time labouring under nervous debility, loss of appetite, and general ill health, occasioned by ulcerated wounds in the breast. She had had much experience in the use of all the known remedies for the cure of ulcers, but without any beneficial result, in fact she had nearly lost all faith and hope of a cure being effected. In this distressing and painful condition of body and mind, she was persuaded to have recourse to your invaluable Ointment and Pills, which she immediately did, and in the course of a very short time the effect produced was most astonishing; her appetite was speedily improved, the sores and ulcers in the breast gradually healed, and the nervous excitement of her system was wholly removed.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
(Signed) T. FORSTER KER.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Live on any of the following contingencies:—

For the term of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments,

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums may remain on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent reduction of the future Premiums.—Or, 3rd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the Premium, with a fine of 10s. per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good state of health of the life assured.

The Company will alwrys be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at St. John, N. B.

I.—RESIDENCE.—Persons assured for the whole term of life will have permission, without the payment of extra Premium, to reside in any part of Europe, or in any place in North America to the north of 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

II.—VOYAGES.—They will also, if not sea-faring by profession, be allowed, without any extra charge—

To cross and re-cross the Atlantic Ocean, in steamers or first-class sailing-vessels;

To pass from any part of Europe to any other, or from any part of North America to another, within the limits above specified; also,

To pass to and from, but not to reside in any place which shall not be further south than 35 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.
