

NORMAN DUNCAN

Dr. Grenfell's Parish

16 Illustrations, Cloth, $1.00 net.

Outlook: "It is a series of sketches of Grenfell's work in Labrador. A very rare picture the author has given of a very rare man; a true story of adventure which we should like to see in the hands of every boy and of every man of whatever age who still retains anything of a boyish heroism in his soul."

N. Y. Globe: "Mr. Duncan has given a very moving picture of the dreadfully hard life of the northern fishermen. He has included dozens of the little cameos of stories, true stories, as he vouches, full of human nature as it is exhibited in primitive conditions."

Congregationalist: "Norman Duncan draws vivid pictures of the Labrador and the service which Dr. Grenfell has rendered to its people. It is a fascinating tale and told with real enthusiasm and charm. The unusual stage of action and the chivalrous quality of the hero, once known, lay hold upon the imagination and will not let go."

The Harbort of the Sea

16 Illustrations, Cloth, $1.00 net.

New York Sun: "Relates the life of the North Sea fisherman on the now famous Dogger Bank; the cruel apprenticeship, the bitter life, the gallant deeds of courage and of seamanship, the evils of drink, the work of the deep sea mission. These are real sea tales that will appeal to every one who cares for salt water, and are told admirably."

N. Y. Tribune: "Dr. Grenfell tells, in fiction form, but with strict adherence to fact, how the mission to deep sea fishermen came to be founded among the fishing fleets that frequent the Dogger Bank that has figured prominently in the recent international complication. It is a story rich in adventure and eloquent of accomplishments for the betterment of the men."

Chicago Tribune: "It is a plain unvarnished tale of the real life of the deep sea fishermen and of the efforts which Grenfell's mission makes to keep before their minds the words of Him who stilled the waters and who chose His bosom disciples from men such as they."

Brooklyn Eagle: "A robust, inspiring book, making us better acquainted with a man of the right sort, doing a man's work."
