

Rev. D. Cameron, of Tiverton, Ont., and was b. at Breadalbane, Perthshire, Scot., 1841. Ed. at the Free Ch. sch. Lawers, and at the parish sch., Killin, he came to Can. 1857, and continued his studies at the Grammar schs. at Vankleek Hill and L'Original, Ont. After teaching sch. for 5 yrs., he entered Woodstock Coll., 1864, graduating 1867. He became pastor of the Bapt. Ch., Strathroy, the same year; was called to Ottawa, 1871; thence to Winnipeg, 1883, and thence to Denver, Col. Since Nov., 1893, he has been pastor of Calvary Ch., Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. C. has published a number of pamphlets, chiefly on controversial subjects. His lectures on Bapt. received some attention while he was at Ottawa, and led to a controversy with the Evangel. Alliance in that city.—Brooklyn, N. Y.

CAMERON, Donald Ewen, auditor, was b. of joint Scotch and Irish parentage, at Beaverton, Ont., 1851. Ed. at the local schs., he entered the service of the Bank of Toronto at an early age, resigning, 1875, to accept the managership of the Exchange Bank of Can. at Parkhill. In 1878 he embarked in the business of private banking at Lucknow, Ont. This he successfully carried on until May, 1888, when he was apptd. Asst.-Treas. of the Province of Ont. He resigned this office Oct., 1894, to accept the Genl. Auditorship of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Assn. of N. Y. In May, 1897, he was advanced to the position of Supdt. of the Western Dept. of this Co., with headquarters in San Francisco. While in Can. he was one of the most effective political speakers belonging to the Lib. party, and an active campaigner on that side of politics. He belonged to the advanced Lib. sch., was an uncompromising free trader, and favoured the idea of Independence as the ultimate destiny of Can. He was one of the founders of the Young Lib. movement, and at the convention in Montreal, 1885, was elected V.-P.

for Ont. Mr. C. has written largely for the press, and has lectured frequently on temp., political, and national subjects. He contributed to the Advance, 1898, a paper entitled "A Canadian Republic." He also takes an active interest in musical matters, and during his stay in Toronto was Presdt. of the Haslam Vocal Soc., and of the Orpheus Soc., was Secy. of the Massey Hall Festival, and choirmaster of one of the leading Meth. churches in the city. He was also musical and dramatic critic for one of the daily newspapers. He is a mem. of the Presb. Ch.; and m. 1885, Mary Elizabeth, dau. of R. G. Whitely, Lucknow.—San Francisco, Cal.

"As well known as an orator and diplomat as he is as a dramatic critic."—Fourth Estate.

CAMERON, Irving Heward, M.D., is the eld. s. of the late Chief-Justice Sir Matthew Crooks Cameron, by his wife, the dau. of Wm. Wedd, and was b. in Toronto. Ed. at U. C. Coll., he pursued his med. studies at the Univ. of Toronto (M.B., 1874), becoming a mem. of the Coll. of P. and S., Ont., the same year. Later, he was a mem. of the Bd. of Exam. of that body, of the Univ. of Toronto, and of the Univ. of Vic. Coll. Apptd. Prof. of the Principles of Surgery and Surgical Path. in his Alma Mater, 1887, he became a senator of the Univ., 1889. He is now in genl. practice, and takes high rank in his profession. A Con. in politics, he has already declined the party nomination for a seat in Parlt. He m. a dau. of Dr. H. H. Wright, of Toronto.—397 Sherbourne Street, Toronto; Toronto Club; Primrose Club, London.

CAMERON, James Chalmers, M.D., is the s. of the late Rev. Jas. Y. Cameron (Presb.), of Niagara Falls, Ont., and was b. 1852. Ed. at U. C. Coll., Toronto (Head Boy, 1870), he followed his professional studies at McGill Univ. (M.D., 1874), and afterwards in Great Brit. and on the Continent. He has since practised in Montreal, where his