

I am looking forward with a great deal of interest to the opening of Parliament next week, and the statement of position which must come from each party and groups at that time. The political interest around Savant's is very acute just now, and as I said in my note the other night, the Liberals hold the balance of favour with any doubt. Everyone is very shrewdly disappointed with conditions as they are at present and we are all longing for a change. Though there are a few who look for something.

Besides, I would stand a good chance of making a permanent connection for next year, when, I hope, Savant will be behind me and I will be starting out on my own. Had I suggest that a word from you to supplement my own would be invaluable, and as I am taking the liberty of making you this request.
I know that jobs are scarce and hard to get these days, but I must do something.
