up and certificates are going out the day the applications are received. Mr. Frank Wade is now giving his special attention to horses and getting this department in good shape. The French register is also at work, and looking specially after the Quebec registrations.

Prouse and Innes' Sale

The sale of imported Clydesdale fillies held at the Royal Hotel, Woodstock, Ont., April 6th, comprised over forty head of fillies of a good, useful kind and among them were a few of the showing kind. The prices received were in most cases fair, and bidding lively, quite a number being bought by Dr. J. D. O'Neil, of London, Ont. It is possible that if a consignment of fillies could be landed in better condition than seems to be possible in the winter time, that bidding on the part of the farmers would be keener. An excellently bred, imported filly should be worth a good deal more money than a common grade worker of similar weight and character, yet in several cases this was about the amount paid for fillies at this sale.

The Prince and the Horse Show

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has advised Mr. Stewart Houston, Manager of the Canadian Horse Show, that H.R.H. Prince Arthur of Connaught will remain in Toronto until Thursday, April 26th, so as to attend the Horse Show on two days. It was originally expected that he would leave on Wednesday evening, after opening the Canadian Horse Show. The Prince will reach Toronto on Saturday morning, April 21st, and will be the guest of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. His time will be completely taken up with luncheons and dinners and other functions. The Horse Show promises to be the most successful ever held in Canada, and there will be a very large attendance from outside places. The sum of $8,000 is distributed in cash and cups, being a considerable increase over previous years. The railways are offering reduced rates for both horses and visitors. A single fare is given for the round trip on the opening day, April 26th, a ticket and a third on the other day, all tickets good to return up to the Monday after the show.
