QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

HAIR CYST.

When born, one of my pigs had a small lump on its back. This has gradually increased to the size of a door-knob. The pig is now four weeks old. W. J.

Ans.—It is probable this is a hair cyst. Make a free incision into it, and allow the contents to escape. If it is hard and fibrous, dissect it out. Flush the cavity out twice daily with a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid until healed. V.

LAME COLT.

I wrote you about a lame colt, two weeks ago. It is no better. I have had two veterinarians to see it, and they cannot locate the trouble. Its back is humped, and it is very stiff in hind legs. It nurses well, and can walk a little. J. B.

Ans.—As the veterinarians who have examined the colt are unable to locate the trouble, I would not presume to make a diagnosis simply on the symptoms you have given. All that I can recommend is to keep it as quiet as possible, and feed the mare well on milk-producing food, and it is probable either a recovery will take place, or it will soon become helpless, and either die or have to be destroyed. V.

INFECTIOUS OPHTHALMIA.

Our cows' eyes become sore, run water, swell, and become whitish; two are blind. (MRS.) W. I.

Ans.—This is an infectious form of ophthalmia peculiar to cattle and sheep. All affected animals should be isolated and kept in a well-ventilated, but almost dark, building. Each cow should be given one pound of Epsom salts and one ounce ginger. The eyes should be well bathed with warm water three times daily, and a few drops of the following lotion put into each eye after bathing, viz.: 10 grains sulphate of zinc, 20 drops fluid extract of belladonna, and 2 ounces distilled water. V.

ALSIKE POISONING—COUGH.

1. Yearling colt, pasturing on alsike clover, was all right in the morning, and at night her body was covered with pimples; head swollen, and eyes nearly closed. She is all right now. Some say she had button farcy. W. K.

2. Mare cast her wethers the day after foaling. She has been on pasture since, until about three weeks ago. Since then we have worked her some, and she has a bad cough, especially when drawing, and her breath smells bad.

Ans.—1. This was alsike poisoning, and, as she has recovered, no treatment is necessary, except prevention, which consists in keeping her off alsike. Treatment for the trouble consists in removing the cause, purging, and giving antiseptics, as 10 to 30 drops carbolic acid well diluted with water twice daily. 2. I do not know what you mean by "casting her wethers." The term is sometimes used for inversion of the uterus, but if this occurred with your mare, she must have been given skillful treatment. The cough, with foul breath, without nasal discharge, indicates chronic lung trouble and a decayed tooth. The latter, if present, should be extracted by a veterinarian. For the cough, give, every morning, a ball composed of 1½ drams gum opium, 2 drams solid extract of belladonna, 20 grains digitalis, and 1 dram camphor, with sufficient oil of tar to make plastic; roll in tissue paper and administer, or omit the oil of tar, mix with one pint warm water and give as a drench. V.

Among the sheep owners throughout the world, it is now generally known that William Cooper & Nephews, manufacturers of the well-known Cooper Sheep Dip, have reached a very high position as sheep breeders, and their success at the recent Royal Show, of England, certainly places them in a foremost position, their Shropshire sheep capturing, on the occasion, six first premiums, practically sweeping everything before them, and establishing a prize-winning record never approached by any other exhibitor. From the Cooper flocks last year, sheep were shipped to every part of the world, to the value of nearly half a million dollars.

Bone Spavin

No matter how old the blemish, how lame the horse, or how many doctors have tried and failed, use
