

BRONCHITIS

Was So Choked Up
She Could Hardly Breathe.

Bronchitis is an acute inflammation of the mucus membrane lining the air tubes of the lungs, and should never be neglected, for if it is very often the disease becomes chronic, and then it is only a short step to consumption.

On the first sign of bronchitis Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be taken, and thus prevent it becoming chronic.

Mr. John D. MacDonald, College Grant, N.S., writes:—"My little girl, seven years old, caught a bad cold which developed into bronchitis. She was so choked up she could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle, and with such good results that I got another which completely cured her. I cannot say too much in its praise, and would not be without it in the house."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price, 25 cents.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

CALVES DIED.

I have just had two calves die suddenly. They were fed on a well-known calf meal, mixed with separated milk, twice a day. They were quite all right in the morning, and at noon were stretched out stiff. Their age was two weeks. F. P.

Ans.—Did they bloat?

GREASE.

Pure-bred Clyde stallion has oil, or kind of dirty sweat coming out and wetting the hair on his legs and scalding them. Legs not swelled. Please answer through columns of "The Farmer's Advocate," the cause and cure.

A FARMER.

Ans.—Some horses are predisposed to this trouble, which is commonly known as grease. Feed regularly and lightly, especially of grain. Give regular exercise, and keep legs clean and dry. Purge with 8 to 10 drams aloes and 2 drams of ginger, and follow up with 1½ ounces of Fowler's Solution of Arsenic twice daily for a week. Apply warm poultices of linseed meal with a little powdered charcoal, locally, every six or seven hours for about 48 hours, and then apply oxide-of-zinc ointment to which has been added 20 drops of carbolic acid to the ounce. Do not wash.

SALT—GRAIN FOR GREEN FEED— —APPLYING FERTILIZER— POTATO SETS.

1. To decide an argument, how often should a horse have salt, and is a lump of salt the size of a small hickory nut once a day, too much?

2. What kind of grain would you advise sowing to make the best green feed?

3. Which is the best way to put fertilizer on sweet corn and tomato plants? Should it be put around the hill, or sown in the ground, and when?

4. Which way do you advise planting—the whole potatoes, or cutting them?

A READER.

Ans.—1. A hickory nut of salt once a day is all right. A horse may safely be given what salt he will take voluntarily, unmixed with food.

2. Peas and oats.

3. Having especially in view the spotted residual effect of fertilizer applied in hills or drills, we usually recommend broadcasting. The time of application depends upon the class of fertilizer used.

4. Cut.

UNTHRIFTY PIGS.

Last fall I bought a bunch of Berkshire pigs, about five weeks old, just off the sow. When we got them home I fed them on skim milk, in which a little shorts were mixed. Now they are about four months old, but never seem to thrive and grow. They seem to be fat enough, but no size for their age. Last year my fall pigs went same way. Can you tell me what is the trouble? They are penned in a stone stable and fed warm feed three times a day—boiled turnips, mixed thick with barley and oat chop. I also give them charcoal and wood ashes thrown in their pen. After they are fed, you can hear them biting and eating at the trough. When they were about two months old one of them died. Please tell me if there is anything I could give them; also best food for young, growing pigs like these?

J. W.

Ans.—The pigs were probably confined to too small quarters, and did not get sufficient exercise in the fall months to grow strong in bone and muscle. A stone building is not the best housing for pigs, as it draws moisture and becomes damp. Dry bedding and wooden walls are the best conditions for keeping pigs thrifty. The feeding is not faulty, though ground oats mixed with the shorts would be an improvement. We would try feeding the mixture dry, and give the milk and swill in a separate trough. We have known pigs to thrive remarkably well fed in this way. Late fall pigs are liable to become unthrifty unless they have freedom to take plenty of exercise. Access to charcoal and ashes is advisable, and exercise in the barnyard in moderate weather should prove helpful.

Livingston's Cake and Meal have from 1/5 to 1/4 more real flesh-forming food value than other feeds. This has been proved by actual tests on the Livingston Farm. From the very first they fatten the cattle and better the milk.

Made by skilled experts, with every up-to-date manufacturing aid to help them—by the Old Patent Process, which cooks the food, insuring its keeping for any length of time and making it more easy to digest.

Neither too soft (which means waste), nor too hard (which hinders digestion)—the animal gets the full strength of each particle. Suppose you try them at once—they both
