SIR JOSHUA REYNOLDS born 1723, English portrait painter, whose works are well represented in the national collections in London, Edinburgh, etc.

HEJIRA (FLIGHT) of MOHAMMED, 622. It is this flight from Mecca which proved the turning point in the prophet's career. In ten years Mohammed numbered his followers by thousands.

An Impossible Premier.

There is a story going the rounds which illustrates the extraordinary revulsion of feeling in respect of the Morris Government. A Minister met a constituent, a stalwart Tory and a firm supporter. The Minister asked him how he stood in the district now. The reply was: You will not get in next fall with Bond leading the Opposition. Oh, said the Minister, I made my record majority last election. But you will not get in next time, repeated the constituent. How do you make that out, asked the Minister. Last time, you had the people with you. Now, the people are against you, the constituent explained.

This story brings out two points: (1) The great change of political feeling which has come over the people; and (2) The fact that the people are looking for Sir Robert Bond to take charge of the next Government.

There are no effects without adequate causes, and the causes of the change are not far to seek. In the first case, the feeling in favor of the Morris Government in 1909 was not very pronounced. In many districts the Morris candidates won by narrow majorities. Goodison only won by 44 votes. If 23 voters had voted differently Maddock would have been returned. If 13 voters had voted differently in Port de Grave, Bartlett would have won. The average Tory vote in Bay de Verde exceeded the average Liberal vote by 96. An average change of 49 would have put in two Liberals. A change of 84 voters would have put in two Liberals in Harbor Main. An average change of 105 would have put in three Liberals in Harbor Grace. If these figures be summed up, it will be found that a change of sentiment in some 274 voters would have placed the Morris Government in a minority of two. We have set forth these figures to show the slim margin on which the Morris victory rested. There was no overwhelming sentiment in favor of Sir Edward Morris in many of the districts where his candidates won. There was no marked prepondence of feeling against the Liberal Party in many of the districts where Morris candidates were returned. The popularity of the Morris Government was insecure from the first, and since 1909 it has been subjected to many rude shocks. People are alarmed at the extravagant expenditure. Their confidence was betrayed by the deception practiced as to the cost of branch railway building. Their sense of propriety was shocked by the spending of Agricultural money to bind certain M.H.A.'s to the Government with chains of gold. Their sense of justice was outraged at the revelations of a Minister of the Crown writing the Orange Bay Letter and speculating in timber limits obtained from the Crown. The Civil Service has become a dumping ground for political heelers, and Minsters are a law unto themselves in picnicking and running their departments for partisan ends.

With these irregularities and enormities staring them in the face, it would have been strange had not the little popularity waned with which Sir Edward Morris started. A Governor has been staggered at the doings of one of Sir Edward's colleagues; the Supreme Council of the F.P.U. has condemned the conduct of the same Minister, and condemned it too in his former stronghold at Bonavista. Fishermen in their thousands have taken the extraordinary step of expressing their alarm at the extravagance of the Government and begged for an election as a means of putting an end to it by turning out the supporters of the Morris administration. All these ebullitions of sentiment are phenomenal and unprecedented. They express a strong revulsion of feeling towards Sir Edward Morris. They make clear that Sir Edward Morris is impossible as a Premier after the election. They show the people are bent on a change. They point out that Sir Robert Bond is the Premier they want next time. The F.P.U. petitions embody, as Sir Robert Bond pointed out in the House, the sentiment with regard to public expenditure that he had been giving voice to. All these circumstances then make manifest that the people want Bond next time. Morris is an impossible Premier.

LONDON, July 15.

Premier Asquith promised the Commons to-day that the Government would present this session its scheme for the reform of the House of Lords.

ROCHESTER, July 15.

Fire and water caused $100,000 in damages to the plant of the Union and Advertiser newspaper office this afternoon. A $45,000 press installed a week ago, was covered by the firemen with rubber blankets, and it is thought is not badly damaged.

VERA CRUZ, July 15.

The battleships Michigan and Louisiana have arrived here, and there are now four warships in the harbor. Many Americans are of opinion that the Washington Administration is making a grave mistake in not recognizing the Huerta Government as the existing government is by far the best Mexico could have.

SALONIKI, July 15.

The Greek commander reports that Bulgarian troops fleeing before the advance of the Greeks yesterday, burned the village of Doxat on the railroad between South Drama and Kavala, and massacred 500 inhabitants. Heavy fighting ensued, the result being the occupation of Drama by the Greeks. The Bulgarians fled in disorder, leaving 70 waggon loads of ammunition on the field.

LONDON, July 15.

It is officially announced here that a contract for over a million sterling has been signed for the construction of a railway and new harbour on the West Coast of Ireland, in connection with the All Red Route scheme, which the Canadian Government has now approved. The Railway will run from Cullooney to Blacksod Bay, in County Mayo, where the port will be for steamers, which will make the run to Halifax in 3½ days.

BELGRADE, July 15.

The report that Servia refuses to enter into peace negotiations with Bulgaria, is without foundation. She is waiting only for the arrival of persons armed with full powers from the Bulgarian Government to open a discussion of peace preliminaries. After their signatures have been attached to a demand for negotiations, hostilities will cease at once. It is especially stated that complete quiet prevails to-day along the whole front except at Zayetchar, where some unimportant skirmishing occurred.

MEXICO CITY, July 15.

Additional complications in the relations between Mexico and the United States may result from the attitude assumed by European diplomats here. It has become known that all of them, acting in concert, have sent to their respective governments, identical notes, in which they declare that the position taken by the States in reference to Mexico is contributing to revolutionary conditions, and suggest that the representatives at Washington of European countries be instructed to request recognition of the Huerta government, or that the United States shall assume responsibility for the state of affairs here. Newspapers are printing little of the anti-American matter such as has characterized their columns for several days past. By order of President Huerta, all departments of the Government were closed to-day, and all government employees given a holiday in honor of the French residents, who were celebrating the Fall of the Bastile.

LONDON, July 15.

The tour of King George and Queen Mary in Lancashire came to an end yesterday, and was the record tour and the busiest of the kind ever undertaken. It began last Monday, and continued daily with Knowsley, the seat of Lord Derby, as the centre. Everywhere the Sovereigns went they were met with enthusiasm. They reached Buckingham Palace last night. In a letter to Lord Derby the King reviewed the tour, and warmly expressed his appreciation of everything that occurred.
