SEALING NEWS.

Yesterday afternoon Bowring Bros. received a wireless from Capt. Joe Kean saying that the Florizel was on her way home and would arrive today. The Florizel gave the Eagle coal yesterday. The latter ship will remain out till the close of the voyage. The Stephano will not come home till Sunday next.

Last night Job Bros. received the following messages:—

From Nascope.

"In heavy ice 53 miles N.E. of St. John's; seals scarce; gave Diana some coal."

Division on Home Rule Bill.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-Day.—At the conclusion of the debate in the House of Commons last night on the second reading, the Home Rule Bill was carried by a vote of 256 to 273; an amendment for the rejection of the Bill was defeated by 256 to 27. The announcement of the figures showing a reduced Government majority was received with loud cheers and cries of "Where is your independent majority?"

One Night More for Sweet Charity

The inclemency of the weather last night prevented many from attending the Crescent Picture Palace and helping towards swelling the receipts, which were in aid of the Sealing Disaster Fund. The picture programme was an ideal one. The sensational film, "The Flying Circus," by special request, was shown again. Miss Louise Arkandy rendered very pleasing vocal and instrumental selections. A change of picture to-night, when it is hoped that full houses will respond. The proceeds will also be added to the fund—for the last time and for sweet charity.

Thanks.

Speeches More Conciliatory.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-Day.

The announcement of the figures on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, evoked louder cheers from the Opposition than from the Ministerialists, the Opposition interpreting them as gratifying proof of a dwindling Government majority, but the diminution is accounted for to some extent by the abstention from voting of the O'Brienites. Speeches were generally conciliatory in tone. Redmond who opened the debate again held out the olive branch to Ulster in a speech of great eloquence, but insisted that it was impossible for him and his colleagues to agree to the permanent exclusion of Ulster and to abandon the principle of "Ireland a Nation." Andrew Bonar Law, though professing in certain passages of his speech to see hardly any hope of a peaceful settlement, and predicting civil war was certain if the Government persisted in pushing the Bill through, declared that he and his colleagues would gladly accept a proposal for the repeal of conversations with Government leaders, but feared nothing would come out of it. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, was most optimistic. Despite all criticism he was certain that great progress had been made towards a peaceful settlement. Civil war he declared was impossible. The second reading of the Home Rule Bill was carried a first time by a majority of 101; second time by a majority of 88. Last night eight O'Brienites abstained from voting, two Liberals voted against the Government, one Nationalist was absent through illness, three Laborites also absent, and Charles P. G. Masterman, who had previously voted as member of the Government, lost his seat in the election for Bethnal Green. A large gathering of Irishmen assembled last night outside Parliament to celebrate the passage of the Bill. They cheered wildly when the result of the vote was announced. Asquith took no part in the voting.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, April 7, 14.

You will need a good disinfectant when you go to clean up your cellar. There is no more effective disinfectant and purifier than Cook's Cofectant.

In fact its co-efficient is the highest of any in the market against disease germs. One thirty cent tin will make twenty gallons of good strong disinfectant fluid, and being non-poisonous it is always safe, and being contained in a tin, there is no danger of breaking and wasting the whole, as in the case of ordinary disinfectant sold in bottles. The odor, too, is less unpleasant than most things of this kind. You will make no mistake if you use Cofectant. Price 35 cents a tin.

Talisman Arrives

The s.s. Talisman arrived in port at 1 p.m. to-day from New York and Halifax, bringing a full cargo, equivalent to 17,000 barrels. The steamer was off this port last evening but was driven off to sea by a storm and a rough night was spent, but no damage was done to the ship. The Talisman is scheduled by the Red Cross Company to make one trip more before the Florizel and Stephano takes up the route.

Bonaventure
Arrives With 12,000 Seals

GOT DEAD BODY ON BOARD.

The S. S. Bonaventure Capt. John Parsons, arrived from the icefields at 1:20 p.m. to-day and reported to the Quarantine Officer to have 12,000 prime harp seals.

Like the other ships that arrived the "Bon" reports a terrific spring, the worst in the experience of Capt. Parsons. The steamer brought along the body of Henry Fridman, a sealer belonging to Petty Harbour, who was killed in the early part of the voyage by falling into the hold of the ship.

The Bonaventure's crew had nothing new to report of the Newfoundland disaster because the first intimation Captain Parsons had of the tragedy was by wireless from Capt. Randall, of the Bellaventure. At that time the survivors and dead were on board the latter ship. The Bonaventure then made a diligent search for the eight missing bodies but found none of them.

Capt. Parsons says he never saw the ice so heavy and seals so scarce. He reports passing a quantity of ears, poles, blankets, etc., about 4 o'clock this morning. He reports the catch of the other ships the same as the "Bell" did, namely:—
