Immigration to America.
 From all accounts the immigration to the United States and Canada this season is unprecedented. Every day ocean steamers of large tonnage, to say nothing of sailing vessels, are arriving at the Atlantic ports laden with thousands of immigrants, who have come to find a home among us, or to add to the rapidly increasing population of the Great West. To such an extent has this exodus of the bone and sinew of the Old Country grown that several of the English papers are getting alarmed at the drain which is taking place among the working classes. For the last few weeks the average number of emigrants who have left Liverpool each week is computed at about ten thousand, and at a low estimate we may calculate that five thousand more have left other ports in England, Ireland and Scotland. Many of these, of course, are Germans, or immigrants from the Baltic or other European ports; still making all due allowance for these foreigners, there is no doubt that the immigration to this continent is already vastly larger than during any former season, and promises to keep up in the same ratio all summer. All the lodging house keepers in Liverpool have their places so crowded that nothing like accommodation can be provided for the thousands who every day reach the city en route for America, and temporary lodging houses have to be provided until a clearance is made by the outgoing steamers.

The English papers, we have said, are commenting on this unprecedented exodus, and some of them express their surprise and astonishment that so many thousands have determined to leave their old homes where work is everywhere abundant, wages high, taxes low, and are being still further reduced every year, and a Government anxious for the welfare of the working classes. But in this grumbling over the enormous drain which is being made in the population of Britain, they forget that though times are good now, and the country is enjoying a period of great prosperity, yet the intelligent mechanic or laborer, in looking ahead, fears a reaction, which may come soon, and which will no doubt come sooner or later, when the present tide of prosperity will be checked, and when perhaps dark days may be in store for them. Besides, but very few of the laboring classes at home are able to lay past much of their earnings for future contingencies, nor can they ever hope to secure a farm or homestead for themselves and their families, as they can in the United States or Canada, by the exercise of frugality and sobriety. It is the hope and expectation of permanently bettering themselves in the future which impels so many to try their fortunes in the New World, and if sickness or misfortune does not overtake them, the great majority realize their most cherished hopes. We say then let all come who desire, and let us make them welcome. Here there is scope and verge enough for all comers, work for those who wish to be employed, land for those who wish to engage in farming, enterprises waiting for those who wish to engage in business, plenty to eat and drink for all who are willing to work, and a comfortable home, and it may be a competency for those who wish to push their way in the world.

REACTIONARY GOVERNMENT IN FRANCE.
 —The Government of the re-action has already begun in France. The new Cabinet is composed of men who are entirely in sympathy with the coalition that forced President Thiers to resign. Among the members whose names are published this morning only one (Gen. de Cissey), has had any association with the Republicans, and his antecedents show that he was never thoroughly in sympathy with the Republic. These appointments alone render superfluous the formal declaration of President MacMahon, that his administration would adhere to a Conservative policy. But when we consider that the real party of disorder in France is the coalition of monarchists, there is something very much like irony in his remark that the country looked to the Assembly for the restoration of order.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE INSPECTION OF BUTTLER.—Mr. Tilley's inspection bill has passed both Houses, and will come into force on the 1st of September next. It was amended so as to provide that the Board of Trade of any Municipality, or where there is no Board of Trade, the Municipal Council may petition the Minister of Inland Revenue to appoint an Inspector, and the Government gave assurances that such petitions will be acted upon. In every city, town, or village where an Inspector is appointed under this arrangement, the inspection of butter put up in packages of 50 lbs. and over is compulsory.

Wool in Hogwood.—Mr. John McLeod is paying the highest price for wool in Rockwood, or exchanging the same for first class dry goods, groceries, &c.

THE LION! THE LION!
GREAT COMMOTION IN THE DRY GOODS TRADE and a Tremendous Rush at our Mantle and Millinery Rooms.

On all hands we hear of dull trade: "Nothing doing," says Tom, Dick, and Harry, but it is not so at THE LION. Times better than ever. Still great bustle and activity at the leading house. The spring trade is opening beautifully, thus encouraging us to greater endeavors in the public weal; and the reason of our success is apparent. Our Goods are all direct from the manufactory, and none can do a successful business only those who lay from first hands, for which our Establishment has long been noted, and has raised the standard of our House (combined with the energy of the proprietors of the firm) to the present proud position, and more especially for the last two years, so that our daily sales are almost equal to the combined trade of the same character in the Town of Guelph.

OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT
 Our Millinery is a complete success this spring, the taste inherent displayed by Miss McDonald is captivating all hearts, and places her high in the ranks of first-class Milliners. Combined with the genuine popularity of Miss Sutherland, thus making our rooms the centre of attraction.
