London Scores in Second.

London started the scoring in the second half of the first inning, and although Peterboro looked dangerous at times they were unable to cross the home plate until the sixth, when they got their first and only run.

Bobby Heck, he of the continual smile and mighty left arm, was in a tight box but once, but fine work of his team-mates, heady pitching, and a bonehead attempt to steal on the part of Rowan, drew him out of it, and thereafter he was like a solid stone
