

BUSINESSMEN TELL OHIO'S FOREST CITY OF LONDON'S POINTS

Show Advantages of Western Ontario's Metropolis. GIVEN WARM WELCOME Entertained at Luncheon and Root for Indians at Ball Game.

[By Staff Reporter.] CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 26.—"We want you gentlemen from Canada to feel at home here in our city. We welcome you in all sincerity. We are all from the same race of people, we speak the same language, we live the same kind of lives, and the thin line of separation that divides us is purely an imaginary one," said W. B. Fish, representing the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, in addressing the members of the London Board of Trade at luncheon today.

The speaker appreciated the fact that the initiative in the movement to promote closer business relations, that he and other members of the Cleveland board felt confident would develop into the object sought. "When you go back, I want you to take our most earnest expressions of good welcome and will, and we hope you will often, which I trust will be mutually advantageous in our future relations," said Mr. Fish, in closing his address.

President George H. Belton, of the London Board of Trade, explained, in reply, the many advantages which London presented as a location for branch industries, and asked the Cleveland manufacturers to carefully consider what this would mean to the future development of their respective industries.

A. E. Silverwood of London explained in detail the two direct lines from the city to Port Stanley, linking up with the boats for Cleveland, characterizing these two roads as the finest to be found on the continent.

A complete auto tour of the park system followed, the party arriving at the ball grounds in time for the Cleveland game. The party had been assigned to one section of the grandstand, and rooted like wild men throughout the game. "First to bat was 'Glad' Grady, an old St. Thomas boy, and 'Glad' got a red-hot reception. 'Hurrah for Glad!' they yelled. The Indians, however, 'Hurrah for the London boys!' replied Glad with a wave of his hat on the way to the plate."

Ad Club Entertained. The members of the London Advertising Club were entertained by the Cleveland Ad Club in their club rooms to the Hotel Statler. Addresses of welcome and good fellowship talks were given by President William J. Radatz, Albert J. Letch, and J. M. Douglass. On behalf of the London club replies were made by Thomas Elliott, E. H. Yull, Ernest Dennis, R. M. Douglass and J. M. Douglass. The Cleveland members were invited to pay a visit to London in September, which they gave every assurance of accepting.

At 8 o'clock twenty London Rotarians were the guests of the Cleveland Rotary Club at luncheon at the Statler Hotel. The luncheon card for Wednesday evening was marked, "Go as you please until the boat sails," and this injunction was obeyed by the "L" visitors. At 10:30 the party boarded the State of Ohio, homeward bound.

ST. MARY'S GARDEN PARTY WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

Large Crowd of Merry-makers Had a Most Enjoyable Time.

London's deluge on Tuesday may have caused the postponement of the garden party held on the lawn of St. Mary's Church last night. The ladies of the church, but it detracted nothing from its success when it was held.

Some of the refreshment booths and amusement devices were well patronized and all the many articles offered for sale sold readily. An excellent concert in which the choir of the church, the choir of the church, and the choir of the church, but it detracted nothing from its success when it was held.

All the refreshment booths and amusement devices were well patronized and all the many articles offered for sale sold readily. An excellent concert in which the choir of the church, the choir of the church, and the choir of the church, but it detracted nothing from its success when it was held.

LONDON OWNED HORSE KILLED AT HARRIETSVILLE

Heat Causes Its Sudden Death—Man Just Escapes Electrocution.

DORCHESTER, July 26.—During the intense heat wave that preceded the electrical storm of Tuesday a valuable horse attached to one of the London Imperial Oil Company's wagons fell dead from sunstroke. The accident happened at Harrietsville.

Retha Walker narrowly escaped being run over by the horse when it came to a halt. The horse was killed by a stroke of lightning which struck the horse's head.

See the races and baseball Saturday in Detroit, by going on "Bees" M. C. R. excursion, $2.25, good for three days.

TIE-UP ON RAILWAY.

Traffic was held up for several hours yesterday afternoon on the L. and P. S. Railway as a result of a stalling of an inbound car at Pond Mills. Four cars were bunched before traffic opened again.

London to Detroit and Return—$2.75. The Canadian Pacific Railway will run an excursion to Detroit and return July 28, 29, 30, and 31, leaving London at 4:43 a.m. train Saturday, July 28th, and good returning up to and including Monday, July 31st, at the rate of $2.75, including war tax. Tickets and full information at the City Ticket Office, corner Dundas and Richmond streets. H. J. McCallum, City Passenger Agent, 214.

DAYTON LAWYER TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE ON "CITY MANAGER"

Man Who Is Alleged to Have Escaped Apprehended.

WIFE LIVES IN LONDON

Accused Bigamist, Taken Into Custody Here, Said to Have "Jumped" Simcoe Jail.

James Leslie Macdonald, who is alleged to have escaped from the Norfolk County jail at Simcoe on Saturday night last, was arrested at the hotel and taken into custody at 7 o'clock this morning by Detective Harry Down.

The description of Macdonald and particulars concerning his escape from the Simcoe jail have been in the hands of the police for several days, and special pains were taken to apprehend Macdonald, who it was thought might be with the circus.

He was working for the circus as a stake driver, and was hard at work this morning when Detective Down, who knew him well, made the arrest.

Macdonald had been confined to the Simcoe jail since his arrest on a conviction on the charge of bigamy and was awaiting transfer to the Guelph prison farm.

The circus was playing Brantford on Monday, and Macdonald joined the company, having followed this line several years ago.

He is well known to the police of this city, having appeared on May 18, 1914, on a charge of fraud, preferred by a London Township farmer near Elberton. On this charge he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Macdonald had been in London for some time prior to the charge of bigamy being registered against him at Simcoe. His wife and one child, a boy five years old, live in this city with her parents.

Band Leader of Carnival.

A. U. ESLEICK, leader of Con. T. Kennedy's superb concert band, here during the week of July 31.

Have you ridden the Whip? This is the latest riding device of the show world, and it has proven a great success right from the start. It is a distinct novelty, and as soon as an aeroplane, yet is so protected with safety devices that an accident is almost an impossibility. The Whip is a twenty-five horsepower gasoline engine mounted on a chassis, and is very near the neighborhood of $3,000, and the very newest pattern will be here with the Con. T. Kennedy shows during the week of July 31.

The first one was operated in Coney Island last summer, and was such a sensation that people waited in line for hours to get a ride. The inventor immediately started work on plans to make the Whip more comfortable and as soon as he succeeded Mr. Kennedy gave him an order, being one of the first men in the show business to own this ride.

The Whip has been a great success, and every night hundreds enjoy the pleasure of being whirled around at the speed of fifty miles an hour.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

VALUABLE HORSES KILLED; LAME ONE ESCAPES UNHURT

Bodies of Animals Stricken by Lightning Form Perfect Triangle.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

DENIES DISCOURTESY TO ANY CITY OFFICIALS

Board of Education Secretary Says All Letters Answered at Once.

Secretary McElheran denies that the board of education has shown any discourtesy to the board of control in not replying to requests from the latter board. He produces files to show that he has answered every letter sent to him.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

He has reported that the building will cost $75,000, the amount of money voted by the council. The bylaw states that the building is to cost $15,000, and the furnishings cannot be estimated for some time yet.

"We have replied to every letter and at once," said Mr. McElheran.

WANTED AS JAIL-BREAKER; ARRESTED AT CIRCUS GROUND

Man Who Is Alleged to Have Escaped Apprehended.

WIFE LIVES IN LONDON

Accused Bigamist, Taken Into Custody Here, Said to Have "Jumped" Simcoe Jail.

James Leslie Macdonald, who is alleged to have escaped from the Norfolk County jail at Simcoe on Saturday night last, was arrested at the hotel and taken into custody at 7 o'clock this morning by Detective Harry Down.

The description of Macdonald and particulars concerning his escape from the Simcoe jail have been in the hands of the police for several days, and special pains were taken to apprehend Macdonald, who it was thought might be with the circus.

He was working for the circus as a stake driver, and was hard at work this morning when Detective Down, who knew him well, made the arrest.

Macdonald had been confined to the Simcoe jail since his arrest on a conviction on the charge of bigamy and was awaiting transfer to the Guelph prison farm.

The circus was playing Brantford on Monday, and Macdonald joined the company, having followed this line several years ago.

He is well known to the police of this city, having appeared on May 18, 1914, on a charge of fraud, preferred by a London Township farmer near Elberton. On this charge he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Macdonald had been in London for some time prior to the charge of bigamy being registered against him at Simcoe. His wife and one child, a boy five years old, live in this city with her parents.

Band Leader of Carnival.

A. U. ESLEICK, leader of Con. T. Kennedy's superb concert band, here during the week of July 31.

Have you ridden the Whip? This is the latest riding device of the show world, and it has proven a great success right from the start. It is a distinct novelty, and as soon as an aeroplane, yet is so protected with safety devices that an accident is almost an impossibility. The Whip is a twenty-five horsepower gasoline engine mounted on a chassis, and is very near the neighborhood of $3,000, and the very newest pattern will be here with the Con. T. Kennedy shows during the week of July 31.

The first one was operated in Coney Island last summer, and was such a sensation that people waited in line for hours to get a ride. The inventor immediately started work on plans to make the Whip more comfortable and as soon as he succeeded Mr. Kennedy gave him an order, being one of the first men in the show business to own this ride.

The Whip has been a great success, and every night hundreds enjoy the pleasure of being whirled around at the speed of fifty miles an hour.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

A peculiar feature of the accident was that the bodies of the stricken horses formed a perfect triangle as they lay on the ground. One other horse, a lame one, escaped.

Lightning killed three horses on the 2nd concession of London Township, opposite the farm of John Coote, during the storm on Tuesday. Two of the animals were heavy draught horses belonging to F. E. Sage. The other was a valuable driver belonging to Tom Maker of this city.

'LIBRARY REVIEW' STARTS; NEW BOOK HAS INTEREST TO READERS IN LONDON

Features Work of Local Public Library and Includes Article by Member of Board Here in Its Initial Number Conducted by Newly-Appointed Inspector.

Ontario Library Review, which is to be published quarterly in the interests of the libraries of the province, has made its initial appearance. It is of interest to Londoners because it represents a new departure that has been inaugurated by W. O. Carson, inspector of public libraries for the province and late public librarian of this city.

The publication, in its first issue, contains an interesting article by Rev. F. H. Weston, editor of the Catholic Record, this city, and a member of the public library board. The activities of the London library are set forth in the "Library News and Notes," and there is a very real if somewhat intangible way from the presence and service of its educated members. This is the purpose of the publication, but for educated or thinking persons demonstration is unnecessary.

"If it were possible to place one of our finest citizens—provided he be of average intelligence, ambition, and industry—in the midst of an illiterate community, or even in the midst of a community enjoying the benefits of higher education amongst its people, he would very soon realize the value to the community of the public library, the presence, the stimulation and the co-operation of a more highly educated element. The absence of such element would make him very keenly realize its value."

All Men Not Equal. "All men are not equal; they never were. No legislation can ever make all men equal any more than it can make them all the same height, the same weight, the same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

"The public library is an educational institution; in this province it is now rightly so recognized. The same physical strength or mental capacity; it cannot make the lazy, the shiftless, the self-indulgent, the equals of the energetic and industrious or of those who through their own efforts are faithful to ideals and principles."

"However, as is usual in an age of half education, and of half thinking, the popular doctrine of equality contains a half truth. No legislation nor system of education can make all men equal; but it can and should provide equality of opportunity."

LONDON GENEROUS IN PATRONAGE OF SOLDIERS' FLAG DAY

Big Returns Expected From Campaign Today.

ALLIED FLAGS POPULAR

Sell Readily to Help Returned Men Back From Firing Line.

Hundreds of people who thronged the downtown streets to witness the circus parade were responsible for making the flag day for returned soldiers one of the most successful affairs of its nature ever held in the city. The arrangements were in charge of three organizations, the I. O. O. F., No. 4 Nursing Division of St. John Ambulance Brigade, and the Boy Scouts of the city. It was estimated that 30 workers from each organization should take part, but the volunteers far exceeded this number. Hundreds of small flags of all the nations allied against Germany as well as small silk shields bearing their coats of arms.

Londoners responded generously. One enthusiastic Scot offered a dollar for a flag to his home in Scotland. Other responses were equally generous. Even the initial cost of the supplies was met in part by citizens. W. Holmes of the Mallick bookshop supplied a large number of flags, and another commitment was given by the girls of Hay's book store.

One of the hardest workers was Walter Smith, veteran of the Afghan wars. The Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Strindall and Mrs. J. E. Thomson of No. 4 division, loaned out much of the flags. The returned soldiers' club, and by supplying the others with flags.

It will be impossible to learn the exact amount netted during the day until late tomorrow, but it is expected that over 12,000 flags will be sold.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far above all their expectations.

Those in charge at the Returned Soldiers' Association were President Nightingale, Secretary Riddle, Corp. Mitchell, Pte. Rawlings, Pte. Holmes, Vice-President Williams. All expressed their gratitude to the citizens of London for their generous response which, they stated, was far