Province's Best Pedallers Gathered For Close of Old Boys' Sports Bill.

The bicycle race meet today at Queen's Park is the wind-up of the London Old Boys' week's program of sport, but by no means the least important. It brings together all the crack pedalers of the province, and several provincial titles will be wheeled for this atternoon.

Bounsall, McCarthy, the 44-year-old veteran and champion at various distances for years; Bill Coles, local boy, and 10-mile Dominion champ; Webster, Brown and a host of others, not so well-known, but comers, make up a great array of talent who will be seen in action.

known, but comers, make up a great array of talent who will be seen in action.

As an example of the enthusiasm the pedalers arouse in Toronto, and more especially of McCarthy, the veteran's spirit, take the following from the Toronto Star:

"Earl Rogerson, secretary of the C. W. A., started one large, sized ruckus last Tuesday night at the Scarboro Beach bicycle meet, when he called off the unlimited team pursuit race at 9½ miles, with Fred McCarthy and Norman Webster still on the track. The veteran, McCarthy, though he had lost his partner, Brown, at five miles in a spill, had ridden down every other team single handed and was riding Webster's tail for a mile and a half when Rogerson signalled the "cease fire." McCarthy could not pass Webster, but he had the latter in a nice place, for he could 'sleighride' him in all his sprints. He only had to poke his wheel in front to win, while Webster had an entire circuit of the track to make up before he could earn the verdict. Naturally McCarthy is a bit peeved. He has demanded that he and Webster be placed out on the track in the same position and let finish it out on next Tuesday night's card."

Everything is in readiness for the meet. The track has been rolled and scraped, watered and rolled again, and is in great shape.

The officials, all prominent in wheeldom, are as follows:

BILLY ABDELL WINS 2:16, STRAIGHT HEATS

Peggy Allerton Wins 3rd and 4th Heats, 2:35 Pace, For First Money.

Billy Abdell, bay gelding, by Abdell, owned and driven by R. H. Wilson, Strathroy, captured the 2:16 class pace yesterday at Queen's Park in straight heats. In the third heat Billy ran an easy winner, but in the previous two, Wilson drove a beautiful race, coming from behind at the three-quarter mile yest to win by a length. There was a from behind at the three-quarter mile post to win by a length. There was a good crowd present.

Forest Ridge Bill, another bay gelding by Abdell, ran second in all three heats, while Pilot Unko took third money by virtue of its two last finishes. Pilot finished fifth in the first heat, but drew up into third place in the final two heats.

Peggy Allerton, after running seventh in the first heat of the 2:35 pace, and sixth in the second, turned in straight wins in the third and fourth heats, for first money. Pearl Togo captured the tirst heat, and was favored by many to win the race. Pearl Bingen, who ran second to Pearl Togo was also favored. Only two races were run. It was ound impossible to fill the card for the 2:12 class card. However, the seven heats that were run, brought out some nice generalship, and some pretty pacing.

M. Briscoe of London, well-known sportsman, who complimented the Rovers on their excellent success, and hoped that they would go a long way in the Ontario Cup finals. President "Billy" Bisset of London, was also present and had a few encouraging words to say. Mayor C. E. Raven and others were in attendance and very appropriately congratulated the champions.

The Rovers are getting ready for their playoff at the C. N. R. team of Hamilton. They expect a stiff argument here in the second round of the Ontario Cup and have increased their training schedule.

Liddell's Refusal To Enter Dampens England's Hopes.

New York, Aug. 9.—The progress which the athletes of France are making in track and field events is clearly shown in performances in the recen French national championships. Mourlon covered the 100 metres in 10 4-5.

lon covered the 100 metres in 10 4-5, which is a mighty meritorious performance, and Wilhelm in the broad jump did 23 feet 2¾ inches.

The hopes of England in the 1924 Olympic games, however, have been somewhat dampened by the refusal of Liddell, one of the most promising of the British sprinters, to enter. Liddell, who is a Scotchman, objects strongly to Sunday competition, and if successful he probably would be called on to perform on that day. However, this disappointment has been made up in part by the work of Stallard, the old Cambridge miler, who recently covered the 600 yards from scratch in a handicap race in 1 minute, 11 1-5 seconds, only 2-5 of a second behind the great mark of Mel Sheppard of New York, which still stands as the world's best for the distance.

The volume in the broad jump did 23 feet 2% inches.

The success of Henry Sullivan of Boston in swimming the English channel has brought him much praise for his determination and perseverance, but it is perhaps forgotten that Burgess, the Englishman, who holds the distinction of having conquered the tricky tidal water between England and France with Sullivan and Captain Webb, made no less than 15 trials before he was successful. Sullivan succeeded on his seventh attempt, and others may equal his feat this season if they are favored by the tides.

Sullivan has specialized in distance swims for years, and is peculiarly fitted physically for such a test. He is short, only a little over 5 feet, 6 inches, but has a magnificent girth of chest and his body is overlaid with plenty of fascia, or flat bands of tissue to keep him warm.

In the recent series with the Indians and the Browns and in one game with the Tigers, the pitchers were off and the batting of the team was feeble on the whole.

The Yanks might be losing some of their big lead if the Cleveland Indians had been able to keep going with any consistency, but when the Yanks were due for a slump and a good one, but from the way they have been acting since they returned from their western trip, their own carelessness will bring on whatever slump tney are ern trip, their own carelessness will bring on whatever slump tney are

Down the Line In All Sports

A Canadian manager who would search the bushes of Ontario instead of some of the states on the other side of the border for baseball material might be a means of prolonging the Michigan-Ontario League indefinitely as it is composed at present. London has a start in the fact that Jack Beatty, present manager of the Tecs, is a Canadian.

Buzz Wetzel, who is just as good a developer as he is a purchaser when it comes to baseball players, brought Pinto, Churry, Coogan, Curry and some others out of a small radius with Columbus, Buzz's home town, as a People like Billings might pitch a number of no-hit, no-run games, but they are "prophets" and too close home.

The officials of the Ontario branch, A. A. U. of C. have concluded that hey will run off events in the Ontario track championships in which Americans competed here last Saturday. This is another type of Toronto "legislation." The officials gave their sanction as far as Americans running was concerned, but made the stipulation that the visitors wouldn't be eligible for titles. Therefore the events that were run off without competition from the Toronto clubs who withdrew are "official," as in each case the first three Canadian entries to breast the tape were awarded the official honors.

The fact that Western Ontario helps pay some of the salaries paid to Toronto residents who hold down jobs in athletic organizations seems to has gone bloocy. escape notice at times.

Hamilton Spectator:

"Wetzel has been a prominent figure in the M.-O. League ever since it was organized. He won the first pennant for Saginaw and then shifted over to London and built up the Cockneys so that within a year they came from the bottom to win the flag. The London club's profits for the first season Wetzel was with it was over $20,000, the sale of young players helping to swell the surplus. The proposition looked so good to some of the London directors that the small shareholders were practically 'frozen out' and the majority of the stock is now owned by one man, President Heard. Only a few days ago Heard accused Wetzel of violating the rules of the league and of organized baseball, and the Saginaw pilot intends to have a showdown during his present visit to London. Wetzel has been in organized baseball too long to be caught violating the rules."

Lee Fohl sitting on the sidelines at the Yankee Stadium had a chance to brood over the ingratitude of baseball magnates and baseball fans. Taken all in all, Fohl was as good a manager as any of them and handled the material given to him to make up the Browns about as well as it could

Other managers have had quite as rough a time of it. Patrick Moran won a pennant for the impossible Phillies, and was rewarded by being dis charged. Bill Donovan handled the Yankees, such as they were, after Ruppert and Huston bought them and was let out. He was taken on as manager of the Phillies and was put out again before he had a chance to do anything with them. Subsequently Wild Bill took charge of the New Haven club and made it the greatest team in the minors.

In places like St. Louis they are impatient for results. They take their paseball with intense seriousness. Last year they expected a pennant They did not get it, but they came close enough through the management of Fohl to look for a goat in connection with the last-minute failure, so they picked Lee Fohl.

Only the results count in the baseball game. . . . .

A baseball play came up in New Orleans the other day that has attracted a great deal of attention, and John B. Foster, the Star's baseball authority, has received scores of letters from fans asking him how about it. It was described in press reports as a "catcher's balk." The batter could not be sent to first on a balk, and if the umpire ruled the pitcher had made a balk the umpire was wrong in sending the batter to first. As he permitted a run to score and the batter to go to first, the supposition is that he ruled that the catcher had interfered with the batter and the latter was sent to first, all runners advancing, since the bases were filled. That ruling doesn't come under the balk rule. Had the umpire ruled it was just a plain ordinary balk, the ball not having passed over the home plate, the runners would advance but the batter would remain where he was. There is nothing unusual about a catcher interfering with the batter.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Aug. 10 .- Jack Bentley has not succeeded in winning many games for the Giants on their present western trip, but he presents an interesting case for the baseball scalp

He leads the National League in batting, and leads it indisputably. True, he probably will not get the honor of being called the league's best batter because he has not played in enough games as compared with the famous longhorn hitter, Rogers Hornsby, but he is miles over Hornsby in what he has done, for he is the only baseball bald eagle soaring at the heights of .450.

Bentley has won ten games for the Giants and lost seven. He was going better than he had been until Pittsburg and St. Louis bumped him. Had e shown ability to win on this trip he might have led the National League pitchers as well as its bat-

But take him all in all, Bentley affords a striking example of what can be done with a player who is used for the best that is in him without trying to overdo it.
