W. G. George arrived in New York on Monday last. He intends to stay in that city three weeks and then pay a visit to Florida, afterwards coming to Canada. He is reported as looking thin, and says that in his last race with Cummings he only weighed 106 lbs.,
when under ordinary circumstances he tips
the scale at 166 lbs.

A sweepstakes pigeon shooting match took place yesterday on the grounds attached to Irwin's Pioneer hotel, Seaton village. There were nine competitors who shot at ten birds each. Jim Douglas grassed his half score straight and captured first prize. Tom Loudem and W. Minizek tied and diviced second and third prize at 8. J. Townson and W. Smith tied and divided fourth and fifth prize at 7.

The lucky young French sportsman who has won the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire with Plaisanterie repeating Foxhall's triumphs, is said to have netted $70,000 by the double event. This may seem good, but there have been occasions within the last twenty years when the owner of the Cesarewitch alone has landed $500,000 upon his obnampion. Mr. Merry and Lord Hastings were each credited with that sum as the amount of their gains by betting when Lioness and Lecturer were successful in 1863 and 1866, the late Baron Mayer de Richschild drew $150,000 admittedly out of the ring when Corisande won in 1871; and rumor put the stake netted by the owner of Hosebery in 1876 at $500,000. It is only on a handleap, and on nor more than four in the year—namely, the Lincolnshire handleap, the Cambridgeshire—that a hig stake can be won.

A Magnificent Billiard Roem.
The billiard room in the Rossin house, ever which our friend Mr. Higgins so ably presides, is one of the institutions of this flourishing and bustling city. The large airy apartment is handsomely fitted up with all the modera improvements known for the comfort of the players of this noble game. As an indication of Mr. Higgins popularity, it need only be mentioned that the eight tables are always in use with a score of gentlemen waiting for a chance at very animated appearance.
