

stance that indicated an illisite trade. Had the Minister's orders been executed, the Choëguen trade at least with the savages of Upper Canada would be almost ruined. But it was necessary to supply Niagara, specially the Portage, rather than Toronto.

(To be continued.)

BIBLIOGRAPHIE

CANADIANA-AMERICANA

ONTARIO HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Papers and Records. Vol. II. The United Empire Loyalist Settlement at Long Point, Lake Erie. By L. H. Tasker, M. A. Toronto: William Briggs, 1900. Ry. 8vo, 128 p., illustrations.

3800 MILES ACROSS CANADA, by J. W. C. Haldane. London: Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co., Ltd., 1900. 12mo., cloth, XXI11-344 p., 45 illustrations and one map.

Mr. Haldane tells his story with ease and fluency, and in a style that arouses the attention and does not suffer the interest to drop. He has made a book full of accurate information as to Canada's prospects and capabilities; valuable on this account to the intending emigrant, and on account of its literary merit to all the rest of the world.

Mr. Haldane is possessed of a happy temperament, and knows how to make the best of everything. As his tour was made under the auspices of various influential people, including Lord Aberdeen, he had opportunities of seeing sights and enjoying experiences not vouchsafed to every traveller. He has embodied in his narrative a large amount of entertaining and useful information.

This volume is one of special importance. It is handsomely got up, contains a valuable map, a copious index, and is written in most entertaining style, and displays a wealth of knowledge.

THE ASSAULT OF BRIGADIER-GENERAL RICHARD MONTGOMERY and Benedict Arnold on Quebec in 1775. A Red letter day in the Annals of Canada, by Sir James M. LeMoine. (Reprinted from the Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada). 8vo, p. 457 to 467.

THE PROBABLE SITE OF THE BATTLE OF THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM, by Arthur G. Doughty. (Reprinted from the Transactions of the Royal Society of Canada.) 8vo., p. 359 to 426, maps and plates.