Language to put Program areas A and B
in context

bis

Governments recognize that there is a new global effort to relate the elements of the international economic system and mankind's needs for a safe and stable natural environment. Therefore, it is the intent of governments that consensus building at the intersection of the environmental and ~~the continuation of~~ trade and development will be ongoing in existing international fora as well as in the domestic policy of each country. ~~Program areas A and B should be viewed as steps in the process of formulating ideas on these issues.~~
