

Good and universal education alone is not the answer to our problems but we will not find that answer unless education is widespread and good and follows right principles; is made the strong foundation for national life.

So - for that reason - may I end where I began by stating again my gratitude at the privilege of participating in something so vitally important to us all as Education Week.

---

S/C