A COLD OR CATARRH

Carleton Member Seeks Vindiation - Borden's Challenge to Pugsley. By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, March 12,-After some usion the house of commons this moon referred to the public ac-afternoon referred to the public ac-counts committee practically all the charges of extravagance and graft in relation to the purchase of supplies for the first contingent. A. K. MacLean (Hallfax) moved that all the corres-pondence between the auditor-general and the militia department be referred to that committee for investigation. The main part of the correspondence appears in the annual report of the auditor-general and has already been published.

Audior-general and has already been published. Sir Robert Borden said there was no precedent for referring the expenditure of the current year to the public ac-counts committee, but ne would not oppose the motion as the government desired the fullest investigation. Some of the correspondence related to the purchase of medical supplies from a Chicago firm thru a Mr. Powell of Ot-tawa and in that connection the name of Mr. Garland, the member for Carle-ton, had been mentioned. In justice to Mr. Garland the Inquiry should pro-ceed without delay. He desired to say, however, that some of the letters said to have been sent by the auditor-general to the militia department had never been received. Purchase of Submarines.

made thru Mr. Powell. He denied that he had any interest, directly or in-directly, in Mr. Powell's business or in the latter's contracts with the militia department. He asked for the fullest investigation at the earliest possible moment. Personally, he would have preferred to have some member make a direct charge against him, which could be investigated by a special com-mittee.

seneral to the militia department had never been received. Purchase of Submarines. Mr. German (Welland) asked if the investigation would cover the purchase of motor-trucks and the commissions paid to a Mr. Ellis for the purchase of binemiare paid to a Mr. Ellis for the purchase of binoculars.
The prime minister replied that he thought both subjects were mentioned in the correspondence and would therefore, come before the committee.
Hon. Wm. Pugsley desired to know if the scope of the enquiry permitted an investigation into the purchase of the two submarines for the defence of the Pacific coast.
Sir Robert Borden: "I do not know, but if the member for St. John (Mr. Pugsley) desires to make any charge n connection with that purchase we will accommodate him with an immemittee. Mr. MacLean (Halifax) sai dhis mo-tion was not aimed at Mr. Garland, but was intended to provide for an investigation into all the subjects mentioned by the auditor-general. This closed the discussion and the motion to refer the correspondence to the public accounts committee was then adopted.

The budget debate was then resum-ed by Mr. Ball, the Conservative mem-ber for South Grey. He said there was no antagonism between the farmers and manufacturers of Ontario. The war taxes, he thought, were fairly well distributed among all classes, and took most from those who were best able to pay. He degrecated the scandal charges, and said the outcry about the boots furnished the first contingent had prevented Canadian manufactur-ers from getting orders from the allies. Dr. Neely (Humboldt) pointed to the enormous increase in American im-ports, under a government pledge to have no trade or truck with the Yankees.
