what he has done. It would be more to the point if The Globe told its readers what Premier Ross proposes to do. If he wishes to gain the good wishes of the peole he will lose no time in instituting proeedings against the election criminals who altherto have escaped well-merited Junishnent. We cannot have honest elections in feature, and the soldier boys and their thousands of friends were greatly interestection, which is not distant, unless the perpetrators of the frauds in the recent elections are made examples of. The only way to put a stop to the criminal practices indulged in by such men as Bole, Vance, Cap. Sullivan and Cahill is to have a dozen. In St. James' cathedral in the morning that the source of the control of the con indulged in by such men as Bole, Vance, Cap. Sullivan and Cahill is to have a dozen or so of them sent to jail for twelve months. If they go unpunished in the face of the indisputable evidence that is now on record against them, there will be no dearth of others to take their places in the elections that are about to be held. Whether Mr. Ross decides to dissolve the Legislature and bring on a general election at once, or if he will confine himself to the bye-elections, it is absolutely necessary that the criminals of West Elgin, South Ontario and North Waterloo should be punished. The public are awaiting with much interest the announcement of the new Premier's policy for purifying the political atmosphere and for giving the people ral atmosphere and for giving the people presentatives who have been honestly ected. Destruction.

The prompt action of Mounted Constable Lydiatt last night saved a horse and wagon from destruction. The officer was on the front platform of a Church-street car, No. 462, when a horse, owned by John Hewitt, 670 East Queen-street, started to walk across the tracks from where it was left standing at the curbing. Realizing that there would be a serious collision, the motorman did his best to stop the car. The brakes failed to respondictly, and the wheels slipped along the wet rails. Constable Lydiatt then three off his overcoat and jumped to the roadway. He was just in time to seize the reins and jerk the horse back into a site place. As it was the car just touched and broke the shafts. The passengers in the car praised the officer for his heroic conduct.
