

ALL SILENT HAS TO BULLER.

It is Evident Though That He Has Made the First Move Against the Enemy's Flank.

MILITARY OPINION IS HOPEFUL.

Flank Movement Much Better Than a Frontal Attack on Colenso.

New York, Jan. 14.—Reviewing the war situation under Sunday morning's date, the London correspondent of the Tribune says: The War Office was prolific in casualty lists yesterday—after Mafeking, Stormberg, Colenso and other camps—but was silent after the hour of the battle of Buller's turning movement. The comments upon that movement, made 24 hours earlier, still held good at a late hour last night. There were no new facts, and the theories of experts were of no value because there was an utter lack of information upon which to base them.

The First Manoeuvre.

It was evident that Gen. Buller's advance to Poitsoer's Drift, if not a feat of displaying a real attack on Colenso, or 17 miles below on the Weenen Road, was the first manoeuvre in a series directed against the enemy's flank and rear, and that time must be allowed for working out the entire plan of operations. The passage of the Tugela by a strong column, when a flat bottomed scow or a rough sailing bridge worked as a single rope was the only means of transit, would require time, even if the enemy did not molest the invaders, and possibly it could only be undertaken under cover of darkness.

Locating the Drift.

Military writers have succeeded in locating the drift with a fair degree of accuracy, but the district is off the main road and little is known about it. The grazing region occupied mainly by Dutch farmers, Springfield is an insignificant village, with a few houses and two Kaffir stores. The journey by postcart from Springfield to Ladysmith via Poitsoer's Drift occupies seven and one-half hours. These are the only obtainable facts respecting the quarter where Gen. Buller is known to be operating.

The War Office in the Dark.

The crackers who believed to suspect at midnight that the War Office was holding back news. Their complaints were indicated their own nervousness. The officials themselves asserted that they were as completely in the dark as the corps of reporters clamoring for news.

Military Circles Hopeful.

The opinion in well-informed military circles is hopeful. The danger of a counter attack is not overestimated, but it is not expected that eight Boer camps were discovered by the British scow in the west on the south bank of the Tugela. It is assumed with confidence, however, that the rear will not be cut off, and that the most sanguine experts expect him to not overtake the British, or turning the Boer line, and where south towards Colenso. Theories like these are trifles light as air.

This is the Best Move.

What Englishmen would like to see information about what Gen. Buller has done, not what the optimists hope, however, this turning movement offers a better chance of operations. It is a crushing defeat of the Dutch forces than a direct frontal attack upon Colenso.

Other Details Meagre.

The news from other sections of the field of operations is also meagre. Buller has sent an encouraging report from Rensburg of the advance of a strong force against the French's command, under cover of artillery fire, and its encampment on the eastern bank of the Orange River. The report threatens the Dutch line of retreat towards the Orange River. The enemy has clearly been disturbed by it, for an unsuccessful attempt has been made to take the British position. Details are lacking at a late hour, but there seemed to be the promise of a successful effort. Gen. Buller's chief object has been to capture the Tugela, which has been the enemy's communications with the bridges over the Orange River.

TAGS PUT ON THE BABIES.

Physicians at Johns Hopkins Hospital Have Taken Steps to Prevent Infants Getting Mixed. Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14.—The physicians and attendants in the obstetrical department of the Johns Hopkins Hospital have hit upon a happy solution of the difficulty they have always experienced in distinguishing one young baby from another. There are always from one to two dozen new born babies in the obstetrical ward, and to the inexperienced eye they all look alike. The physicians were tired of the Southern mix-up, and determined to tag the babies as they arrived in this world. On a small square of adhesive plaster is written the baby's name. This plaster tag is then stuck tightly on the baby's back. Just between the shoulder blades. The tag is waterproof, so that it is not affected by the bath water. It holds on lightly until the time comes for the baby and its mother to leave the hospital, when the tag can be readily pulled off without causing the baby any pain.

Thirty Convicts at Belleville, Ill.

Overpowered, they were freed. Belleville, Ill., Jan. 14.—Thirty prisoners in the St. Clair County Jail made a break for liberty yesterday. One of them was mortally wounded. The sheriff was wounded. Turkey Phillips opened the door to the cage to give the prisoners their supper. A trusty plucked his arms, the others rushing out of the cage. The trusty was forced about a corner and handcuffed, and his revolver and keys were taken from him. His cries for help were heard by Sheriff Berman, who threw a bullet into the air. He threw his left arm over his head and received the bullet in the forehead. He shot the prisoner twice. One bullet entered his abdomen and is dying. When the prisoners saw the sheriff and the trusty they were then driven back into their cells.
