FOOD PRICES IN WASHINGTON In Last Twelve Years Increases Are as High as 150 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 9.—The house committee enquiry into the high cost of food developed the fact that the retail merchant of Washington cannot buy direct from the farmer without bringing down upon his head a boycott by the commission merchants, and he is, therefore, forced to trade thru that medium and add to the charge to the ultimate consumer whatever the increased cost may be. Food Inspector Dodge continued his tes-
