CHIEF OF POLICE LEAVES SERVICE
Col. H. J. Grasett, C.M.G., Retires After Thirty-Four Years' Duty.

Col. H. J. Grasett, C.M.G., chief of the Toronto police department for more than 30 years, retired from office yesterday afternoon. The chief's resignation will not go into effect for several months, but so far as service with the force is concerned he has actively retired. Chief Grasett will be succeeded by Deputy Chief Samuel Dickson, who will take over the duties of chief of police today. It is rumored that Mr. Dickson will be appointed chief at the next meeting of the board of police commissioners. Robert Geddes will step into the office as deputy chief today and whether or not the position as assistant deputy chief will be filled has not been definitely decided. Col. Grasett is sailing in a few days for England, where he will remain for several months. It is expected he will return to Canada before the end of the year.

Yesterday afternoon the chief invited the members of the press to his office to bid them farewell and gave an outline of the growth of the police department and a sketch of some of the happenings during the earlier days of the force.

Born in Toronto, Col. Grasett was born in a house on Adelaide street. He joined the police department as chief in December, 1886. At this time he had the choice of two positions—the chiefship of the police force and the head of a millinery school. When he took office the strength of the force was 300 men with six police stations. Now there are 700 men and 13 stations. In 1886, the department had $150,000 to run the department. The expenditure for 1920, with 700 men, was $1,616,000. When the chief joined there was no signal system and was not until 1888 that the patrol signal system was inaugurated. In the year 1887 the system of granting good conduct badges to policemen was started. A good conduct badge entitled the holder to an increase of 10 cents a day and the most a man was entitled to was five badges. Horse-drawn ambulances and patrol wagons were used in 1895 bicycles were put into the service and eight years later motor cars were purchased to replace the horse-drawn vehicles.

First Street Car Strike.
Chief Grasett told of the street car strike in 1907, when a number of people were slightly injured in riots. He told of the time when in 1887 William O'Brien, M.P., came here to defame Lord Lansdowne. The people tried to mob O'Brien and it was only through the action of the police that O'Brien was successfully fleeing from the city at night. During his term of office the chief has escorted many royal visitors. On May 22, 1914, when the Duke of Cornwall visited Toronto, his excellency reviewed the police force at the University Stadium.

Under Thirteen Mayors
During his term of office, the head of the Toronto police has served under 13 mayors. Four deputy chiefs have been in office under the chief, namely, Stewart, Stark, Archibald and Dickson.

Referring to the future needs of the force, Col. Grasett pointed out that the department should be strengthened to 1000 men. He favored a police administration building, but stated there was no money to provide for the erection of such a building, saying "it is in the dim future." He spoke favorably of Deputy Chief Dickson, and in his remarks recommended that Mr. Dickson be made deputy chief. He thought he would make a good chief. Mr. Dickson is the first officer to rise from walking the beat to the office in a hold.

Farewell to the Board
Col. Grasett called to say good-by to members of the board of control yesterday while they were in session. Addressing the board, Col. Grasett said he had always been well treated by the members. He had seen boards come and go, but had never had any trouble with any of them.

Mayor Church said the city was losing an official of a high type. His never failing courtesy was always appreciated by the Toronto public and he was leaving a city honored and respected by the whole community. Other members of the board spoke in a similar vein.

NEW MUNICIPALITY BEGINS BUSINESS
Lakeview Ratepayers Propose New School, Work to Be Done by Local Contractors.

Lakeview, the new aspirant for municipal placement, on the Lake Shore road, has become an established community, as was evinced at a ratepayers' association meeting, held in the school house on Wednesday night. With boundaries extending from Etobicoke River on the east to Port Credit limits on the west, and from the lake to the middle road on the north, the new township has a wide area under government charter and plans now being prepared for the progressive development of the area. Arrangements for power facilities have been completed with the Hydro commission and the lighting of the highway within the town limits is under consideration.

The ratepayers' association, under the chairmanship of H. G. Page, J. Dodds, vice-president, and a strong executive committee, is the strong force behind the council for progress. Several committees were organized at Wednesday night's meeting, local improvements, parliamentary and social bodies being established on a solid basis.

A proposal for a new school was set under way, and the establishment of a postoffice and a strong building reports submitted show the number of houses built in the past two months to be between 150 and 200.

To encourage home trading a resolution was passed recommending that all work on new buildings be confined to contractors and mechanics resident in the community, a list of same to be kept by the secretary. Every phase of municipal management has been taken up in the initial stages and another flourishing community will be in evidence along that part of the lake front.

The police rounded up an alleged boozing den at a private house on Davenport road, foot of Eglinton street, yesterday. Complaints had been made for a long time that people did purchase liquor in this house and several cases of drunkenness in the Earlscourt district had been the result.

VEGETABLES SOAR HIGH.
New potatoes are selling in the Earlscourt district at 15 cents per pound and lettuce 5c. Vegetables generally are away up in price. Housewives complain of the high prices, but do not seem to exert to raise vegetables in their own gardens.

BOYS FIND JEWEL CASES.
While some boys were playing in the rear of Dr. Lowry's house on North Dufferin street, Earlscourt, Thursday, they found several empty jewel cases and trinkets, which were discovered to be part of the stolen goods from the jewelry store of G. INQUEST UNNECESSARY AS TO STRINGER'S DEATH
Member of Legislature Sticks by Statement That Thousand Dollars Was Offered.

Owen Sound, Ont., June 17.—D. J. Taylor, M.L.A., today reiterated his charge that he had been offered $1000 for his influence in favor of a certain measure less than three weeks after his election. This supports the charges of Andrew Hicks, U.F. whip in the Ontario legislature, that "appalling" sums of money were offered Farmer members for their influence in the passage of bills.

Over the telephone this morning, Mr. Taylor, at his farm in Keppel, said he had made this statement at the U.F.O. picnic at Leith some days ago, and had no reason to back down now. When it was pointed out that this statement was in line with the charges publicly made by Andrew Hicks, Mr. Taylor expressed surprise and wished to know what the Hicks charges were. Then he said:

"This $1000 I mentioned had nothing to do with what Mr. Hicks talks of. It is something different altogether." Notwithstanding the fact that it is a criminal offence to attempt to bribe a member of the legislature, Mr. Taylor has apparently not taken action in the matter.

"Will you say on what measures your support was sought by means of the offer of $1000?" he was asked.

"No, I don't care to make any statement on the point," he said.

Drury Not Informed.
"Have you informed the attorney-general or Premier Drury of the attempt to buy your influence?"

"No, I have not."

"Do you intend to do so?"

"But you say you were offered a bribe of $1000, and that you refused it?"

"Yes, I said that, and I still say it."
