PUBLIC WORKS OF ST. JOHN TO COST MORE MONEY THIS YEAR

The various civic boards will be called to meet shortly, to prepare estimates for the coming year, which will be presented to the council and passed before the 15th inst. Director Murdoch is now preparing the estimate for the public works department, which is expected to be a little heavier than last year. Last year's estimate was $71,500, and at the end of the year the department had a surplus of $114.83. This was pretty close figuring, and for the reason that the estimate was made by the Director Murdoch and staff and Comptroller MacIntyre. This year's estimate will be based on last year's experience. The accounts for the year which have just been closed show the appropriations and expenditures to be as follows: For purposes of comparison, the expenditures for 1908 are also given:

Unorganized districts	58,300

Since the close of the fiscal year there have been 150,000 immigrants entered Canada, bringing the total population to the figure first given.

A. E. CHAPMAN MADE PUBLIC BEQUESTS

Moncton, N. B., Jan. 5.—The will of the late Alfred E. Chapman, of Moncton, probated here today, shows that handsome bequests have been made to religious and benevolent institutions. The Missionary Association, sustentation fund, superannuation fund of the Methodist church and Mount Allison University, each received $5,000; Moncton Hospital, $2,500; Moncton Y. M. C. A. and Central Methodist church $1,000 each; W. C. T. U. and Salvation Army, $250.

These bequests are subject to a life interest therein by Mrs. Chapman. All the residue of the estate is given to Mrs. Chapman. Letters testamentary were granted to Mrs. Chapman and Percy Black. It is understood the estate is valued at $50,000.

At tonight's meeting of the city council a report was read from the city engineer on the proposed second reservoir for the city. The council were of the opinion that an additional water supply was necessary and passed a resolution to this effect recommending the engineer's report to the incoming council for consideration.

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 5.—As a result of an accident at Beachville, five miles west of here, last night, two more lives will probably be added to the tolls of the deadly level railway crossing. Miss Marion Zusselt and Ernest Zusselt, sister and brother, are so badly injured that it is stated this morning their chances for recovery are practically nil.

London, Ont., Jan. 5.—The Canadian Pacific's morning express for Toronto was wrecked this morning. The engine and five cars were derailed. The accident happened about three miles west of Ayr, the whole train running off and rolling on its side in the snow. Everybody was severely shaken up and no one seriously injured. St. Thomas, Ont., Jan. 5.—Michigan Central Railway Telegraph operators here received an increase in wages dating from December 1, 1909. Three hundred men are affected. The increase will average about $3 a man per month.

Tuesday evening from a fishing schooner in the harbor, a suit of clothes, a watch and chain and $35 were stolen, the property of Frank Kelly.

TARIFF REFORM LOSING

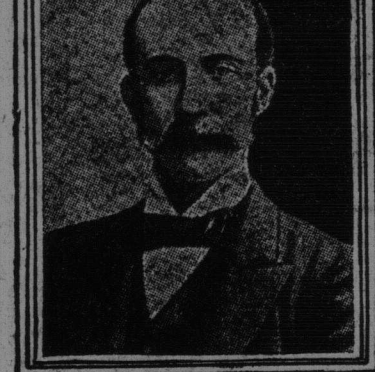

Lansdowne Now Advocates Reform of the House of Lords

NEWS OF CONTEST

Churchill Favors Nationalization of Railways and Pay for Members of Parliament—Mob of Thousand Breaks Up a Unist Meeting—Germans on Balfour

London, Jan. 5.—The Conservatives claim that Balfour's statement that Germany is not prepared to allow Britain to adopt protection, and his reference to naval weakness, are worth many votes to the party. In fact they are greatly heartened by the reappearance of their leader and his speech at Hanley.

Liberals, on the other hand, deprecate a man of Balfour's position and responsibility.

THE MARQUIS OF LANSLOWNE

ity dealing in "such perilous stuff," for, as they allege, platform purposes. Indirectly more impressive to Germany than any valiant assertions of what we are going to do in the future, says one of the most responsible Liberal organs, is the solid fact that our landed classes and rich men are on strike against further expenditure.

At the present moment, Liberals say, just as Britain is watching Germany for evidence that the money strain is beginning to tell, so Germany is similarly watching her, drawing encouraging inferences from the rejection of the budget. The people, Liberals declare, are refusing to be stampeded by the invasion scare, and the majority believe Asquith when he said the British navy is unassailably supreme.

Lansdowne For Reform

German newspapers again sarcastic comment on the expenditure speech, which is attracting universal attention in Germany. The Kreuz Zeitung regrets that Balfour has joined the professional war-mongers, and says it is a pity that he has been given the name of the Germans who forbade the adoption of tariff reform, under that name he might receive popular credit.

Lord Lansdowne, addressing a great meeting at Liverpool tonight, responded to a demand in diet, and urged the lords by adopting that of Lord Rosebery. He is opposed to an elected chamber because it would demand equal powers with the Commons. He said, however, there must be a check upon the Commons and cabinet in order that they should not be swayed by a party which would have such a had in the reform. The lords, he said, opposed the budget on its own account, and also because they did not want the country to be switched off tariff reform and switched on to another policy which they believed to be better.

He admitted, looked with some hesitation upon tariff reform, as she had enormous interest at stake, but he said she had nothing to lose from a system which would make foreigners pay for the use of our markets. Even supposing prices were to rise a little, they could not rise much, because, nobody talked about anything except a moderate scale of duties. The country would not have such a had in the reform. The lords, he said, opposed the budget on its own account, and also because they did not want the country to be switched off tariff reform and switched on to another policy which they believed to be better.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER

The week of prayer services last night were well attended. The North End services were held in St. Luke's church last evening. There was a very large attendance. Rev. Gordon Dickie delivered an address upon the Bible as the work of God. Judge Forbes also spoke in reference to the work of the British and Canadian Bible Society.

The meeting tonight will be in St. Matthew's church. Rev. D. Hutchinson will speak, and the meeting will be led by Rev. Neil MacLaughlin.

On the West Side last night's services were held in the Charlotte Street Baptist churches, when congregations of all the West Side churches united. Rev. W. R. Robinson spoke on "Our young people." His address was highly interesting.

The meeting tonight will be held in Carlton Methodist church. The topic will be "Our Country."

BACKACHE MEANS DIRTY KIDNEYS

A Few Doses Clean and Regulate Your Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out-of-order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Diuretic untried.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, irascibility or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish. Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatism pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and permanent a cure.

The unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Diuretic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—from any drug store—anywhere in the world.

ing accentuated. One thousand people at Stafford stormed the Unist meeting, smashing the windows and surging into the hall.

There Are 1,330 Candidates

London, Jan. 5.—The privy council meeting which is to take action on the dissolution of parliament, will be held on Jan. 10, at Buckingham Palace. After the King has given the proclamation for the dissolution of parliament, business incidental to the issuance of writs for the election of the new parliament will be hurried on.

The first elections will be held Jan. 15. It is understood the dissolution proclamation will fix the date for the opening of the new parliament on Feb. 2.

There are no fewer than 1,330 candidates for election in the field. Of this number 601 are Unionists. This party will have a walkover in three places, at Burton, Penrith and West Birmingham, the latter, Joseph Chamberlain's constituency where the Liberals and Laborites have made no nominations.

(Toronto Telegram Special.)

London, Jan. 5.—Fifty newswomen men from all parts of England were around the press tables at the Balfour meeting at Hanley. If the signs pointed to a tariff victory over the budget, these trained observers would be the first to see it. They represented parties of all opinions, and have been at every big meeting, and so far as they had time to talk at all, their talk did not indicate that they regarded a Conservative victory as the United Kingdom's best possible, or a Conservative victory in England as probable.

The Manchester Guardian man, putting aside the preference of his paper, declared that tariff reform had no chance in Manchester, and that the Unionists are sure to lose the seat. Lord Joseph Chamberlain from Winston Churchill.

Results do not always fulfill the best informed guesses, and next week may change the outlook, but at present it is none too promising for a Unionist majority, even in England.

London, Jan. 5.—Two phases of the election struggle now claim attention, first, the disorderly interruptions to which many Conservative meetings by peers are subjected, so that it is practically impossible for any Unionist peer to obtain a fair hearing. The second phase is the realization by the peers themselves and the Unionist press of the necessity of the House of Lords advocating tariff reform, as the only means of saving the House of Lords from the peer's action upon the budget aroused in the country.

The reform of the House of Lords has been long urged by the Times and other Conservative organs, and the speech of Lord Lansdowne at Liverpool, he admitted, declared his belief in the preponderant power of the House of Commons, and suggested a House of Lords within the upper house and that this reform ought to be the work, not of one but of both political parties working together.

In conclusion, Lord Lansdowne advocated tariff reform, with a moderate scale of duties as the only viable remedy for the evils all did to remove.

All the great leaders were again speaking in various parts of the country tonight. The Conservative leaders, Premier Asquith to produce proofs of his assertion that unemployment was felt as much in protected countries as in Great Britain.

The campaign seems to have a great attraction for the literary class. Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, joined the fray tonight by issuing a letter in which he points out that the present House of Lords includes 200 members who served the country in the army and navy, a hundred of them on the battlefield, to say nothing of those who perished in the shock of war. One hundred and seventy had been members of the House of Commons and he declares that it is impossible to call such a body unrepresentative.

Chamberlain's Views

The presence of Joseph Chamberlain would be as the strength of ten men to the tariff reform cause, and his absence adds to its weakness. But though unable to take the platform, he is busy with his pen. One of his most important utterances appears as preface to a book, "Tariff or Budget," by J. L. Garvin.

Chamberlain maintains that the peerage is a body of men who are standing by them, and "to pull down, free imports and foreign privileges, our country's only offense is in giving the nation a chance to speak for itself. The Liberals are fighting upon a false issue, and not upon the policy of tariff reform, which has made its evident impression upon the country, and which they desire to put aside.

Tariff reform is the only alternative to the budget. It is the only policy dreamed of by the authors of the budget.

Two things, then, have clearly to be decided.

In the first place, we have to determine one for all whether, in disregard of the experience of our own flesh and blood elsewhere throughout the English-speaking world, we, above all nations, can do without a second chamber. I do not think that our people are prepared for such a change as this, and I believe that a House of Commons entirely uncontrolled would be a great public danger.

The second point is whether tariff reform is now to become the basis of our fiscal system or whether Cobdenism—especially as regards the freedom of foreign imports from all taxation, which heavier burdens are laid upon our own trade—is to be considered the final principle. The new demands made by the budget are a vampire, sucking the life out of the nation's vitality and all that was good in the country. It was the creation of the minds of impoverished and the souls of the people. It was this beast the lords had placed in a state of inanimation.

It was for the people to decide whether the foul beast should be pumped back into the body or whether it should be allowed to lie and rot.

The meeting gave three cheers for the House of Lords.

F. E. Smith, one of the Unionist headliners, addressing the voters at Chipping Norton, Oxford, said:

Why should a working man every time he spends a penny on whisky get a penny worth of whisky and pay the rest to a penny-royal? Why should he pay 600 per cent on the tobacco he enjoys? The reason was because under the system of one-sided free import, they paid more in taxation on their food, drink, and tobacco than any nation in the world.

Germans on Balfour

Berlin, Jan. 5.—The speech delivered by Mr. Balfour at Hanley yesterday, in which he dwelt upon the comparative strength of the British and German navies, has caused both irritation and ridicule in Germany.

The newspapers of the German Empire print the speech prominently and comment upon it reproachfully.

Such authoritative journals as the Cologne Gazette, the Kreuz Zeitung, and the National Zeitung, deplore the fact that Balfour descended to stir up German feeling in Britain, for notwithstanding his professions of disinterestedness, his statements do not differ intrinsically from those of the war-scare-mongers who goad the German instincts of masses.

It is also contended that the Unionist cause must be in a parlous state when even the most moderate of their leaders is driven to paint a foreign foe on the wall.

UNIMPEACHABLE—If you were to see the unequalled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Pape's Diuretic, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.
