Tell West of third effort, which was hard luck, Sir Thomas Lipton, a good looser always, seemed to have had enough. Three defeats would have satisfied an ordinary yachtsman, but after ten years of thinking it over he startled the New York Yacht Club by daring it to another contest. Shamrock III. had finished first in a race and lost it by a hair on time allowance! and the fog mishap of Shamrock III. was no race at all. From a review of these "might have beens" Sir Thomas may have thought that luck would come his way if he never gave up; moreover, he could challenge with a smaller boat and might catch the Americans napping. Shamrock IV. was a seventy-five footer. She came over a good deal of a mystery, and from a time antedating the war her forgotten home has been in South Brooklyn. However, there are no barnacles on Sham-
