ASSOCIATED KIN FORMS

A BRANCH IN TORONTO

To Care for Soldiers—Valuable Assistance Given to Government in Doing the Right Thing by the Men

(Toronto Star.)
"The Associated Kin has become a region with men," said Gordon Wright of London, Ont., president of the dominion executive of that organization, in addressing a meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A. last night. "I talk and work Associated Kin and nothing else. The Associated Kin is going to be the biggest civilian movement in the history of this war as far as its after-war effect goes."
Dominion President Wright in an interesting outline of the work already accomplished by the Associated Kin supported his statement rather forcibly with definite illustrations of the services it had rendered to the relatives of soldiers at home who were in trouble on the one hand and the government on the other. For example, he told of several men posted as deserters, whose wives had been cut off from separation allowance and assigned pay. Investigation proved in all the cases cited that these men were not deserters at all, but had been lost track of in the hospitals in England or France.

"Let me tell you this," said Mr. Wright. "I have found every department of the government anxious to do the just thing. It is a big machine, but the amount of grit is too large even for a vast mechanism like that, and injustice and mistake are bound to creep in. But I have taken hundreds of cases up with Ottawa, and in ninety-nine out of every hundred they acted on the information we supplied them, and did the right thing by the soldiers' wives or children."

The recognition of mothers whose sons have fallen at the front was dealt with in every Allied country, particularly the United States, this movement was being taken up at the suggestion of the Associated Kin. A mother who had given a son in the cause deserved some fitting decoration. It was up to the people of Canada to see that they got it. Three people "nominate" a mother who has lost her son, giving her name and address and that of her son, and the Associated Kin does the rest. "We will take care of the duplicate nominations," said the dominion president. "But you must be responsible for the neglected ones."

Following Mr. Wright's talk a local branch of the Associated Kin was formed, the officers being chosen by the audience, all of whom had near relatives in the front.

Lift Corns Out With Fingers Don't Hurt a Bit—Magic!

Few drops stop soreness, then the corn or callus lifts off. No humbug!

This tiny bottle holds the wonder of wonders. It contains an almost magical drug called frezone. It is a compound made from ether.

Apply a few drops of this frezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you just lift it off with the fingers. It doesn't hurt one particle. You feel no pain when applying frezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.

PLAY TO CURE NERVOUSNESS.

It has long been a practice of doctors, when called on to deal with nervousness in children, to recommend outdoor play as an invaluable help in treatment. Now comes a physician who makes the same recommendation to nervous adults.

Not only this, but the doctor specifies particular kinds of play as being especially desirable for that type of nervousness.

The Doctor's Advice.
"In speaking on this subject he has said: 'When you are nervous, increase your playtime allowance. When you are exceedingly nervous, drop work altogether and spend most of your time in play, as you did in childhood.'"

"If your nervousness takes the form of a severe depression of spirits, accompanied by mental fatigue, go to the country."

"Take a fishing rod with you, and go fishing every day. Or, if you prefer, equip yourself for mountain climbing. 'Do not be ambitious to conquer the highest mountains in the world. Good sized hills will do.'"

"Explore them thoroughly. 'Tramp daily. Enjoy the scenery from the hill-tops. This will restore to you cheerful and mental vigor and send you back in good condition for your work.'"

The Excitable Nature.
"If, however, your nervousness is the excitable sort, so that you find yourself irritable and impulsive, play games that will require you to co-operate closely and energetically with other people."

"Hockey is a good game for this purpose. So is any kind of ball game that involves team play. Or doubles in tennis. 'Games like these will help you to gain self-control. At the same time they are active enough to satisfy your ardent nature."

In the main this is excellent advice. But it is not applicable to all nervous patients.

Many nervous patients have never learned to play games. Neither fishing nor mountain climbing appeals to them in the slightest.
