IN MUSICAL CIRCLES.

With the first month of autumn, many of our musical people are returning to the city, and perhaps we may not be so dull from this out. Mrs. W. S. Carter is again to be heard in St. John's church, and Miss McInnis and Mrs. Wetmore have also returned to the same choir. Miss Henderson is singing, once more in the Centenary choir, after spending her holidays in Gage town. Mr. E. L. Titus and bride came from the states the first of last week. They are residing on Dorchester street. I was unable to attend the opening of the Davenport school on Monday last. I believe a very pleasant afternoon was spent by those who braved the weather. Mr. Geo. Wilson's piano solo were very enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Tipton left the latter part of this week for Philadelphia. I had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Tipton play in the Mission church last Sunday. Mr. Cusack will take the organ in the Mission tomorrow for the first time I believe. On Thursday evening a concert was held in the church at which Mrs. Gilchrist, Miss Jennie Young, Mr. Lindsay, Mr. White and others assisted. I heard something of a musical service to be held in the near future in St. John's, when the rector will take "Music" for the subject of his sermon. Miss Jennie Hitchens is again in the city after a long vacation. Mr. and Mrs. E. Percy Strand have been making a short stay in Leavenworth. Mr. Tipton gave a most enjoyable organ recital for a few friends on Thursday in Trinity church. This (Saturday) afternoon there will be a recital given in the rooms of the St. John School of Music, to which the public is invited. Miss May Elise Fellows, a pupil of Franz Kneisel (of the Boston Symphony Orchestra), will contribute several violin solos. I had the pleasure of hearing Miss Fellows play a "Glimmer Song," by Rice, at one of the New England Conservatory of Music recitals some years ago, in Tremont Temple, Boston. Miss Chaffel, violinist, will again be associated with the School of Music, I believe. By the Boston Globe I see that Corinne will star this season in a revised version of her last year's "Carmen," now named "Carmen up to date." New musical numbers have been written by Richard Stahl and William Robinson. As yet I have not heard any particulars relating to the re-opening of the Oratorio Society, but presume it will not be long before they begin work again. Rehearsals are being held every week for the exhibition concert, under the leadership of Mr. Thos. Hall. I believe Mr. Morley is still confined to the house through illness. Mr. Harry Daniels, of Boston, expects to make a short stay in St. John some time this month. TARBET.

put up a good game of ball, and if dates could be arranged for exhibition week the Y. M. C. A.'s should not hesitate in making the venture.

Out door sports do not seem to be as popular, as those held in the rinks, although I believe the Beavers came out all right last Saturday. A number of new athletes made their appearance, and some of them made a good showing.

The maritime province Amateur Athletic association have issued circulars for the championship sports on the Wanders grounds, Halifax, Oct. 2. The entries close Sept. 28. The following are the events: 100 yards run, 220 yards run, 440 yards run, 880 yards run, 1 mile run, 120 yards hurdle, 3 mile walk, pole high jump, running high jump, running broad jump, putting 16 lbs. shot, throwing 16 lbs. hammer, one mile bicycle (Ordinary) one mile bicycle (Safety).

A Great Programme.
The New York Sun is the best and greatest newspaper in America. Its programme for 91-92 eclipses any that we have seen. With daring enterprise and utter disregard of cost, it has secured the best work of the best writers. Its striking announcement speaks for itself: Mark Twain's new novel has been purchased for $12,000 by The Sunday Sun. In a week or two The Sunday Sun will begin a series of letters by this most popular of all humorous writers. They will contain the fruit of his observations during his present tour of Europe, and the first of them are already on the way. For these letters Mark Twain receives $1,200 each, which we think is the highest remuneration that any writer has won.

SPORTS OF THE SEASON.
Things are very quiet in the sporting line at present, and are likely to continue that way unless the clubs do some hustling and furnish additional attractions for the exhibition. The first importation was not as successful as it might have been, but this was not the fault of the home club. It was expected that Parsons, Larrabee and King would have been on the Waterville team, but they could not get away. Their presence would have made quite a difference in the gate receipts, although the crowd was as large as could be expected under the circumstances.

I believe the Collys want to come here to play the Y. M. C. A.'s the week before the exhibition. Parsons graduates this year, and it is doubtful whether he could come with them. The Collys can usually

New Commercial College.

Mr. S. E. Whiston has opened his business college in the commodious premises on the second and third stories of the building on Barrington street which was formerly Teas' spacious and elegant dining rooms (one door south of Mahon Bros.), with lofty ceilings, fine light and easy access. Mr. Whiston has placed a complete banking desk outfit (such as is to be seen in the Peoples' bank) for cashier, teller, clerks, etc., and there the financial business will be done in regular banking style. All the text-books and manuscripts are to be of the most modern style as used in the leading American and Canadian colleges. In the typewriting department there are in use the Smith Premier, Remington and Caligraph, and with these this fast growing branch (at which hundreds of girls in the States are earning $50 to $75 a month) will be afforded facilities for the very best acquirement. The staff consists of the following: Mr. Whiston (with 25 years experience), Mr. W. E. Thompson (late principal of Albro St. school) and Miss Georgie Miller, graduate of P. E. I. commercial college.

A Handsome and Useful Souvenir.

One of those useful things that are always welcome in a newspaper office, a good map, comes from Messrs. Whittaker & Co., the Canadian agents for the North Queensland Insurance Co., of Australia. The map is of North Queensland with the outline of the New Guinea coast, is beautifully done in colors and handsomely mounted. Its practical use may be limited even in a newspaper office, but it gives Canadian an excellent idea of their brother colonists' country in the southern seas, of its prosperity and settlement, of its transportation lines and the natural advantages it can offer them, and above all of the enterprise and push of the English speaking race near the antipodes who seek business in Canada confident in their strength and challenging competition with the world.

Something New For Writers.

The centric pen is something new in the line of pens and penholders. The hold fast of the pen is flat and is placed in the centre of the holder, thus avoiding inking the fingers, cramping them, blotting the paper when laid down, etc., etc. The invention is simple, yet so apparently effective that the pens and holders are selling rapidly. Messrs. McMillan are wholesale agents.

Ease and Comfort For Doctors.

PROGRESS Engraving Bureau has an order for a fine engraving of a physician's favorite phaeton from Edgecombe & Sons, of Fredericton, which when it is finished will be inserted in their regular advertising space. The phaeton is a model of neatness and beauty and is absolutely free from horse motion. It combines safety, convenience, utility and durability. It will be on exhibition at the exhibition and should be inspected by every practicing physician.—A.

To Get An Education Fund.

Mr. Richard Rodgers has an interesting column announcement in another page of this issue dealing with a popular plan pursued in Ontario for saving money to educate children. The plan is simple—compensatively cheap and apparently feasible and sound. The gentlemen at the head of the company are as solid as the bank. Mr. Rodgers the general agent for the maritime provinces has all the literature of the company at his hand and will be glad to send any of it to parents who have children to educate in the future. For example: The writer paid $5 entrance fee and pays $2.75 every three months for 16 years at the end of which there are over $543 to his credit to educate his child—or any other purpose, just as you please.

ADVERTISE IN PROGRESS

A FEATURE OF THE EXHIBITION.

What People in Other Places Think of "Linus, the Beautiful."

In his travels through the country "Linus," the wonderful horse which will be here for the exhibition, has received some very appreciative notices from the press. A few extracts from the Brooklyn Times show how he was appreciated while in that city. The Times said: "Linus is a marvel of physical beauty. Linus is the target for countless admiring glances during the week. Is it any wonder, then, that Linus puts on hairs?"

Linus is a chestnut sorrel stallion, and a lucky one at that. He is stable in a pavilion of white silk, on the ceiling of which are the letters "Linus" in little rosebuds. All of Linus' acts, therefore, are sub rosa, although of a public nature.

This is paradoxical, but true. He has an intelligent head, an eye which speaks, a magnificent chest, flat iron hoofs, his legs are pillars of symmetry, his flanks molds of suggestive muscle, his quarters are those of an equine athlete, his coat shines like dewdrops. But all these beauties, admirable as they are, pale before the marvel of Linus' tail and mane. Imagine a cataract of soft glossy hair, the body of which is a rich creamy hue, lined and interlarded with streaks of soft amber. Think of it rippling and sweeping and falling and curving downwards for a distance of 117 inches and with a width of 45 inches and you will have an idea of what the mane of Linus looks like. Picture this capillary Niagara confined to warmer channels, fretted and flamed at its source, then sweeping out in the same sinuous combinations of topaz and opal, rich yellows and deep ivories for a distance of 147 inches and you will realize something about the tail of Linus.

Linus, therefore, has put on hairs. The stallion that was born in 1884 in Marion, Oregon, has a pedigree of three-quarters Clyde, one-eighth French, and one-eighth Printer. He is now the property of Messrs. C. H. & H. W. Eaton, of the Lexington stock farm, Mass. Linus was born on the Kutherford farm at Marion. The Messrs. Eaton heard of him through a brother of theirs who was in Oregon. He was bought for $30,000 and had an adventurous trip east, his car being attacked by horse thieves, two of whom were shot and Mr. Eaton wounded. His dimensions are: tail, 15 feet 10 inches; mane 9 feet 9 inches; foretop, 8 feet 6 inches; height, 16 hands; weight, 1,485 pounds.

Linus has been on exhibition at the Eastern Maine State Fair at Bangor, and this is what one of the papers in that city says about him:

One of the most attractive features on the fair grounds is the horse Linus, owned by Messrs. C. H. & H. W. Eaton of Calais. This horse is on exhibition, and on Thursday more than five thousand people paid an admission fee of ten cents to see this wonderful animal. He has a mane 14 feet long and his tail measures 11 1/2 feet. The animal is one of the finest specimens ever gazed upon, weighing 1,400 pounds and built in admirable proportions. He was purchased by the Messrs. Eaton in Oregon last winter, and for several months past has been on exhibition in many of the principal cities of the country. Next week he goes to the State Fair at Lewiston and the week following to St. John to attend the great exhibition there.
