ASSISTANCE FOR BELGIANS

Mrs. Frank S. White will receive contribution at 232 Prince William St. Clothes Needed.

In answer to the appeal of the Belgian people for assistance, a ship loaded with clothes and food is expected to sail from Halifax on October 20th. The gallant defense put up by the Belgians against the German hordes and the inhuman ravages of the invaders has aroused world-wide sympathy and Canada as usual is doing her part in reply to the call for aid.

Mrs. Frank S. White of 262 Prince William street has taken the leadership of the local movement to secure clothes and food for the Belgians and already has a large amount of goods on hand. Mrs. White intends sending away a box about the last of the week and hopes that the donations will be generous enough to make up a parcel of appreciable size. Clothes, boots and dry groceries are needed and in fact anything that will stand the long voyage across the Atlantic will be accepted. Other Canadian cities are sending large contributions forward and it is up to St. John to do likewise. Any one having old clothes that can be spared is requested to send them to Mrs. White at 262 Prince William street.

GERMAN FLEET TO COME OUT
IN OPEN AT LAST

Copenhagen, Sept. 29, via London, 6.55 p. m.—Travelers arriving here from the Kiel Canal say that the Germans are busy placing new ordnance, which the Krupp works have been experimenting with for the past two years, on the armored cruisers and dreadnoughts.

The canal is described as being crowded with warships including the largest battleships. The armaments are busy day and night and long trains arrive continuously with immense guns for the ships.

The Germans are reported as declaring that the whole fleet will soon be ready to fight.

U. S. FAILS TO PASS LAWS
MAKING FOOD FISHERIES
TREATIES EFFECTIVE

He emphasized the view that for the failure to make the regulations effective this country was in no measure responsible, and asserted that under the circumstances there was no alternative left for Canada but to resume liberty of action.

Mr. Hasen also gave it to be understood his department would proceed to make such amendments to the existing fishery regulations for the Canadian boundary waters which may be deemed best having due regard to all the conditions obtaining.

The treaty was concluded between Canada and the United States, April 11th, 1908, and was the culmination of proposals emanating from the latter in 1906 for the protection of the fisheries. It provides for the appointment of an international commission of a representative from each country to prepare a system of uniform regulations for the protection and preservation of the food fishes in the boundary waters.

Other Canadian cities are sending large contributions forward and it is up to St. John to do likewise. Any one having old clothes that can be spared is requested to send them to Mrs. White at 262 Prince William street.

The treaty was approved by congress and consequently it was not anticipated that there would be any delay or difficulty in making the regulations effective. The United States government, however, has not yet taken any action to ratify the treaty.

ALLEGED POISONING
CASE IN ALBERT CO.
CONTINUED MONDAY

Witnesses tell of finding the complainant Johnson ill on road.

Special Correspondence to The Standard.

Albert, Sept. 29.—The adjourned hearing of the alleged poisoning case against Jethro J. Downing was on before the Police Magistrate at 10 a. m., Monday, and lasted all day. Six witnesses were examined and the further hearing adjourned to Tuesday, October 6th at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Fannie Newcomb testified to seeing Johnson lying or sitting in the roadway in front of her home where he had fallen, on a Monday morning about 10 o'clock late in July or early in August last. He appeared very ill and when he was able to rise walked unsteadily, looked and acted as though he was very ill—was then going towards his home, less than a quarter of a mile from her place. She called a neighbor to go to Johnson's assistance. Johnson told her he had been poisoned.

Henry Duncan saw Johnson the morning in question. The latter was lying in the grass in front of his home and seemed very ill. Johnson told him he was poisoned by eating canned peas for breakfast.

Eben Steeves testified to getting a part of a box of Paris green from Johnson early in August. He sent a boy named Woodworth for the poison to Johnson who lived 80 rods from his place. He put some of the Paris green on growing potatoes and produced the box in court with a small quantity of the Paris green remaining. Clarence Woodworth, a lad of 15 years, a son of Alfred Woodworth, who gave him the box personally got it in his barn. The box had been opened and part of the contents was gone.

Malcolm Wilson, a steverdore on the second ship which loaded deals at Grindstone Island, this season, for Peck & Smith, testified to seeing Johnson on the wharf on a Monday morning in June or July. Johnson complained of being ill and did not go to the ship, but turned and went towards home, saying that he was ill from eating canned peas.

Johnson, the complainant, resumed his evidence and testified to eating canned peas for his breakfast on the Monday in question. They had been poured out of the can into a small tin pan. He found the peas tasted very bitter and he only ate three spoonfuls. The bitter taste remained in his mouth all day. About five minutes after he had swallowed the peas he became sick to his stomach and vomited soon after. He started for work but was too ill and went only to the wharf, a mile and a half away. On his way to the wharf he became so weak he fell to the road where he lay for some time. He was able after a rest to get home where he went to bed after taking a drink of milk. The vomiting and nausea continued all day until after 5 p. m.

The Crown prosecutor, A. W. Bray, asked for an adjournment to have Chief of Police Rideout present with certain letters and other alleged evidence now in his possession.

German Finances and the War.

A recent issue of the Revue des deux Mondes, the great French review, contains a passage on the origin of the war which is worthy of quotation. The author, a Frenchman, it says, "will understand that the present war was a financial arrangement made on the eve of bankruptcy, as much as it was the result of megalomania or a craze for fighting. Financial Germany was in great difficulties; its colonial operations had always been unprofitable; it had schemed too much, risked too much, made too large advances in loans and bonds, and its customers of doubtful credit, both in Germany and throughout the world; it had accustomed its buyers to prices and transactions which did not leave the necessary profit to the manufacturer or to the German capitalist, and it was necessary to do something drastic to bolster up the financial edifice which was tottering to its foundations. And so it was to give Germany in debt
