Proves Him as Hypocrite ***********

THAT the new German Chancellor, another Amurath to Amurath succeeding, is of the same school of hypoc risy as his predecessors has been robust suspicion since the Kaise presented him as his vizier and spok through him to the Reichstag. But the absolute proof of his fraudulent insincerity has come sooner than was anticipated. The evidence of his dis honesty is now at hand, in the form of a letter written by Prince which has come into the hands of the London Mail's correspondent a Bern.

In December Prince Max delivered an address to the upper house of the Baden Legislature in which he avoid-ed to some extent the usual swash-bucking of a German statesman. He spoke of the Sermon on the Mount in terms of reverence and asked the Allies to respect it. Butter hardly melting in the princely mouth, he described Germany as controlled by high spiritual purposes. The speech high spiritual purposes. The speech gave offence to the blunt pan gave offence to the blunt pan Germans, who are candid about thei vices and do not camouflage their purposes. Taking Prince Max, accord-

Whereupon, taking note of the pitacks on him, Prince Max on Jan. 12 last wrote to his cousin Prince Alexander of Hohenlohe, who is now in Switzerland and anti-Kaiser in his convictions. This letter, which told how the Sermon on the Mount speech should be interpreted, was preserved. now the Sermon on the Mount speech should be interpreted, was preserved, and has been turned over for publi-cation. It is a document as interest-ing and even more illuminating than the letter of Kaiser Karl to his brother-in-law, Prince Sixtus. Prince Max says he is astonlshed to learn that his speech was inter-preted as anti-Hohenzollern, and to show the nonsense of such a 'reading mentions a telegram of congratula-tion and approval received from the Proceeding he finds fault with the pan-Germans because so stupid as not to see he is helping their cause by presenting it more at-tractively. On the other hand, he is disgusted because the Frankfurter Zeitung, which has democratic and liberal leanings, "smeared him," as he says, "with laudations." "I clear-by enough." declares Prince Max.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"-The Wonderful Fruit Medicine-Gives the Power To Resist This Disease.

SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thou-sands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many denths are already. remorted: Surgeon General already reported is surgeon-General Blue of the United States Public Health Service having stated that "Spanish Influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks".

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings those infected with the disease disease. Surgeon-General Blue urges that "the individual take all the precau-tions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene". Plenty of exercise should be taken; the dietshould be regulated, etc. Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, work or worry, especially those who are "run-down" or "not feeling up to the mark." The really great danger from the disease is not so much in the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

URGES STICKING TO BUSINESS

Physician Asserts That Too Early Re-tirement of Successful Business Men Is a Mistaken Policy.

To old men who are thinking of re tiring from active business Dr. William J. Robinson, editor of the Medi-cal Critic and Guide, gives the celebrated advice once tendered by Punch "to young people about to marry," namely, "Don't!" The counsel often given to those of advancing years, even by physicians, to take things "easier," to give up this and give up that—in short, to lead a dull, empty, vegetable existence, is unqualifiedly bad. Doctor Robinson thinks. although, of course, there are exceptions and special cases. He writes:

"An old man with a very high blood pressure—i. e., high for his age—

THE CARLETON PLACE HERALD.

Tokio Has Unique Mayor FTER several months of interregnum Tokio has a mayor in the person of Vis-count Inajiro Tajiri, who is something of a "character." He was born in 1850 and received part of his education at the Keiogijiku, Tokio, but was graduated from Yale Uni-There he was a versity in 1878. member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, which boasts several famous Japanese on its rolls.

Upon returning home from the United States he filled various official position, such as vice-minister of finnce on two occasions, director of various bureaus in the Department of Finance, professor in the Department of Finance, professor in the Imperial university and finally president of the board of auditors. He was considered an authority on questions of econo-mic and finance and he was well known for his "high virtue and plain conduct."

The newspapers have published many interesting stories about the mayor. It is said that when he first got back from the United States he mayor. It is said that when he first got back from the United States he was a stylish young man, of the kind known in this country as "high col-lar," but he developed into a kind of plain Spartan type. He has been accustomed to get up every morning labor at once. Like Gladstone he en-gages in cutting wood and does a farmer's work in his own garden. He raises all the vegetables consumed in his own household. In the summer-time pumpkin vines make a verit-able tunnel from the gate up to the portico — a «distance of about sixty feet. Once on a very large pumpkin he inscribed the character "Katsura Taro" in honor of the late Prince Katsura, ex-premier, who was famous for having an abnormally large head. After Viscount Tajiri has done a certain amount of work in the garden he sits down to a breakfast of un-cleaned rice, slices of pickled radish (daikon) and a bowl of soup called "miso." The Japanese, as a rule, prefer cleaned rice, which is more palatable, but the uncleaned is cheap-er and contains more nourishment, indeed, it is asserted by some authori-ties that the prevalence of bert beri-ber is the result of eating the clean-ed rice. "It is said-that Tajiri rarely takes a tramcar, but goes on foot. Even

It is said-that Tajiri rarely takes a tramear, but goes on foot. Even on fine days he carries an umbrella or goes out with a raincoat made three decades ago. There is a story about Viscount Tajiri and Baron Sakatari, also a mayor of Tokio a few years ago. The latter was once a protege of the for-mer. The two met at a formal ban-quet, where it was necessary to put in an appearance wearing a silk hat and a swallowtail coat. The silk hat Viscount Tajiri wore was old fashion-ed and faded, probably a relic of his Yale days. Baron Sakatari, wishing to "save the face" of his former patron, exchanged his own good hat for that old one! It is generally recognized that To-bic hes a where of almost life.

patron, exchanged his own good hat for that old one! It is generally recognized that To-kio has a mayor of simple life and strict honesty. It is hoped that he may be able to effect reforms in the administration of city affairs. But it is also feared that his simplicity and honesty may not be able to make a successful stand against the corrup-tion in municipal politics. It is hoped, however, that he can put into prac-tice his lofty principles. In order to convert some of his subordinates to his views the new mayor arranged at the city hall a "mamenshi" luncheon, to which he invited the heads of the fifteen wards of the city. Genper Tanabe, the dis-coverer of the nutritious qualities of the bean husk, gave a lecture on the foodvalue of the despised and reject-ed article. The guests listened with Evading Food Rules. That there are loopholes in the best laid schemes of the Food Min-istry is illustrated by the following stories from London. A few days ago a hostess had a surprise visit from "three hungry subalterns. Neither she nor they had any meat coupons. A friendly butcher put one and one-half pound of rump steak through a sausage machine, instructing the customer how to make what before the war were called "Vienna steaks" out of what his conscience allowed him to call "sausage meat." The following Regulations, recently approved by the Governor General in Council, impose strict obligations upon every employer TO ASSURE HIM-SELF THAT EACH OF HIS EMPLOYEES OF MILITARY AGE AND DESCRIPTION IS IN POSSESSION OF DOCUMENTS PROVING THAT HE IS NOT IN ANY WAY IN DEFAULT UNDER THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT.

An employer who is charged with having a defaulter in his employ must be able to prove THAT THE MILITARY SERVICE PAPERS ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OR MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO THE EMPLOYEE IN QUES-TION WERE PRODUCED FOR HIS INSPEC-TION at the time when the employee was taken into his employment, and that it was reasonably established to his satisfaction that the man was not in default under the Military Service Act. It should be clearly understood that the Canadian Registration Certificates given on June 22, 1918, at the time of general registration, in no way define the status of a man under the Military Service Act.

he says, "with laudations." "I clear-ly enough," declares Prince Max, "held up to scorn in my speech the popular cry for 'democracy' and all current watchwords, especially 'par-liamentarism'." "My object," he goes on, "was to laugh to scorn the demo-cratic war cry of the western powers." His real opinion of the Reichstag resolution, which he now pretends to support, is indicated by pretends to support, is indicated by his reference to it. "The so-called his reference to it. "The so-c peace resolution of July, 1917, peace resolution of July, 1917," he writes, "was a disgusting child born of fear and the Berlin dog-days." Concerning Belgium he holds the German foot should be kept there in order to employ possession as a trading asset. As German comman-ders forced Belgian women and chil-dren to march in front of their troops, so he would use all Belgium for a similar purpose.

His utjerances in favor of democracy, of parliamen-tarism, and for peace on the basis of either the President's avoram or of either the President's program of the Reichstag resolutions are the fruit of a deliberate intent to lie.

We all know that some people at sixty are actually older than some are at seventy or eighty.

The people are not paying the mayor for pro-pagating his "mamekasu' craze. Doesn't Viscount Tajiri see that the improvement of the trancar com-munication, for instance, is a far munication, for instance, is a far more urgent question than the eating more urgent question than the eating of 'mamekasu'? Since the tramcar became the monopoly of the city government no improvement has been done. Cars are getting old and rails are rusting, but no attention is paid by the municipality." The mayor's friends believe that he will make good.

A Wooden Turbine.

A Wooden Turbine. Interesting traces of the Moorish and Roman occupation of Portugal are frequently brought to light while prospecting for minerals is going on in the district of Alemtejo. For the most part these remains are ancient agricultural implements, or machin-ery used in olden times in connection with oil presses or flour mills. One of the most notable examples of the kind is seen in an ancient flour mill with oil presses or flour mills. One of the most notable examples of the kind is seen in an ancient flour mill situated on the banks of the Guard-iana river. Perhaps the most inter-esting part is the turbine, which is made from two logs and compares not unfavorably with modern tur-bines of the same class. The outside casing is of masonry work, and this entails a considerable loss of water power on account of the passage of water between the wall and the out-side rim of the turbine owing to bad fitting. The mill stands directly on the bank of the river which fre-quently in winter rises rapidly and floods the country in the vicinity of the old mill, and even covers the mill itself for days together. Yet the old flour mill with its quaint wooden turbine still stands the rigors of win-ter without sustaining much damage,
