The platform calls for civic control works, telephone and electric light. If Dawson advances and developes within the next four or five years as there is every reason to hope will be case, the franchises under the control of the municipality will attain a value difficult at this time to estimate. Under these circumstances it is well for the voters of the town to know how the various parties which are seeking the municipal offices stand upon such an important matter.

Quite as weird as the foregoing was the wooing conducted by a young Manchester gentleman, who met the lady who afterwards became his wife whilst attending a course of spiritual seances in that city. Both parties were somewhat skeptical on the subject of "spooks," but the darkness in which the room was invariably plunged afforded many excellent opportunities for the clasping of hands and even for occasional osculation. Eventually they were made one at the hymeneal altar, probably the first couple in the whole history of courtship whose wooing has been conducted amid such extraordinary surroundings.

Touched with infinite pathos as well as with surpassing weirdness was the courtship of a young Lancashire miner who wooed his cousin, a girl of nineteen, across the dying bed of the former's father. The item of traps is a serious one boo cages are also necessary in which to transport the savage captives.

Elephants, rhinoceros, and hippo potami are trapped in pits, labor for the digging of which is another item in the hunter's bill.

The inexperienced man who caught a rhinoceros in a pit in the middle of Africa would be equally puzzled as to how to get the creature out, or, when out, to get it down to the coast. An inclined plane must be dug for the first, and then the huge brute half tamed by hunger and fright, must be securely shackled with great chains and ropes, and so led through tangled torests and over stony or sandy plains for many hundreds of miles, all the time at imminent risk to his leaders' lives. Food and water, too, are abso-'lutely necessary for such a captive, and if the country is sterile such must by carried. It is wonderful how soon even a rhinoceros will give up and die if not properly fed.

The two most difficult of all known creatures both to trap and to get to the coast are the giraffe and the zebra. 'The latter can only be caught in high and barren hills and with the utmost difficulty because of its shy-
