nostrils he will see a hole on the reflected skin near the margin. It is the orifice of the duct or channel which conducts the surplus moisture from the front of the eye, and is squeezed into the corner or top end of canal when the horse blinks. All animals are so provided. Men who refuse to cry at scenes of grief blow their noses in order to dispose of the tears which would otherwise run down their manly cheeks.

Slaughter of the Innocents.

To impress young readers, may I tell another story? It shall be short. When thousands of horses were being sent to South Africa, and the supply of vets. ran out, some of the transports sailed without these officers. On one of them a zealous militia officer in command, who could not distinguish between the nasal discharge of influenza and that of glanders, and had been told (and rightly) that the presence of an ulcer on the membrane was diagnostic of glanders, made the astonishing discovery of my friend of this morning, and proceeded to pistol 180 horses before someone else discovered that other horses had the same "ulcers" that had not shown any nasal discharge or other symptoms of disease.

A flock of sheep will get more substance on poor land and at the same time do it more good than any other stock on the farm.

A hog wallow suggested the idea of a cheap and practical way to put dirt roads in good condition. There is nothing so poor or unsightly but it has a value. The puddling of the clay after drying made it capable of holding water, and from this came the idea of dragging muddy roads so that when dry they were smooth and shed the water off into the ditches.

An advertisement should not only be clearly and plainly and truthfully written, but it should be well and attractively illustrated. We all like to look at pictures, do we not? Most assuredly, and the better the pictures the more attractive they will be.

It is safe to say that an illustrated advertisement will have at least twice the pulling power that one without illustration would have. A word to the wise is sufficient.

"Ah, ze English language, eet ees impossible," a Frenchman said to a friend. "For example, ze English host fills up his glass, rises, holding it out to you, saying, 'Here's to you,' and zen drinks himself. I can make nozing of eet. Anuzzer example: Ven I was crossing ze Channel, in ze top berth was an Engleesh gentleman, and I was in ze lower one; it was very stormy and ze Engleesh gentleman he became very ill. Zuddenly he cries, 'Look out there,' vich I naturally did, but ah, my friend, I regretted doing so ver much."

United States Senator Beveridge, according to the Buffalo Commercial, was describing a precocious little girl. "She showed her precocity the other day," he said, "by a question that she asked me. It was a clever question. It was the question of a misogynist and a cynic. I had said to her, in the course of an examination in mental arithmetic: 'How old would a person be who was born in 1861?' She smiled and asked: 'Was the person a man or a woman?'"

Sharple's Tubular Separators

Tubulars Find Gold In Milk

Good butter is worth 20 to 30 cents a pound. Butter is worth only one cent a pound as stock food, yet farmers using gravity skimmers—pans and cans that leave half the cream in the milk—feed that half the cream to stock, then wonder why dairying don't pay. Can't find gold without digging. Can't make dairying pay big profits without getting all the cream.

TUBULARS Dig Right Down to the paying level—squeeze the last drop of cream out of milk—make dairying pay. Tubulars are the only modern separators. The picture shows them. Write for catalogue G-193.
