of life, and the universal of life, and the sermon was an able effort, and was presented by Rey. Father Kehoe, rector of Standard of Stand The sermon was an able effort, and was presched by Rev. Father Kehoe, rector of St. Mry's cathedral, Kingston. He said that the roloum act of charity which the Church wanted the people to perform brings to mind very forcibly the brevity of life and the certainty of death. The decree has gone forth from the throne of God that all men are to die, and no power on earth can resist its progress. No matter what is the position held in this world, all must submit to the inevitable. A cloud of all must submit to the inevitable. A cloud of all must submit to the inevitable. A cloud of all must submit to the inevitable. A cloud of all must submit to the inevitable. A cloud of all must be forced to the sould be force the Judge of Heaven and back the soul before the Judge of Heaven and carth. The speaker here depicted the scene that so often takes place around the destabled, when the dying person recalls the awful responsibilities of life, and the certainty of the judgement of God. All must be left, and the person whether he has been sinful or virtuous will, once the soul has appeared before God, be judged according to his works. Continuing, the speaker recalled the life and works of Father Stanton since the hands of a holy Bishop had ordained him to the priesthood, speaking in the most elequent terms of a life so fruitful in result and beaeficent in example. Father Kehoe spoke on the great dignity privileges and responsibilities of the priesthood depicting the many accrifices the priests are often called upon to make for the sake of the people confided to their charge. The speaker closed by a-king prayers for the repose of the soul of Father Stanton, also for the deceased Bishops and priests of the diocese.

FROM SAULT STE. MARIE.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the General hospital, Sault Ste. Mavie, held a very interesting special meeting, Nov 19. The object of the meeting was to give a reception to five Mother Kirch of Ottawa. Superioress General of the Order of Sisters of Charity, by whom the hospital is owned and managed, and to report financially on their annual charity ball of Nov. II. Many ladies were present. Acting President Mrs. Burden, expressed the gratitude of the ladies for the honor of Mother Kirdy's presence at their meeting and their pleasure at being able to announce their financial ability to further earry on the work for which the Society was organized, to assist the good Sisters of the hospital in providing the most pressing necessaries of the operating room and wards.

Mother Kirdy gracefully replied that she was much pleased to meet the ladies engaged in this charitchle work, and that the Sisters were very grateful to them for their gentle sympathy and kind assistance. She felt that the richest bleasings of Heaven would descend on those who helped God's poor, and on their families.

Dr. Gibson, who was also a guest of honor,

Dr. Gibson, who was also a guest of honor, and one of the oldest and staunchest friends of the hospital, gave some very interesting statements from the hospital books showing that those who paid were only about one fourth of the number who passed through the Institution. The ladies would like to possess the Sister's secret for world to the passes the Sister's secret for the passes the sister's secret

Rev. Sister Superior, who has long desired to possess a photograph of the auxiliary, suggested that the ladies being taken on the front steps of the hospital, to which they send that the ladies being taken on the front steps of the hospital, to which they send the providing the Reverendi-Mother and Sister-Superior join the group. They kindly accompanied the ladies to the wide front entrance, when the fair oblianthrophists formed a pretty group to pose for the picture.

As the Ladies Auxiliary of the hospital presents the unique and edifying spectacle of members from all or nearly all, the different churches of the place and from all grades of society, from the gay butterfly of fushion to the gether to assist in a great and noble work, that of sassisting to relieve the sick and suffering poor, and each cheerfully and willingly dolts her part, I thought that pernaps this account of their meeting might be of interest to readers of the Recoals in other places. Miss Florence Dowd rendered "Ora Pro Nobis" in a very bright and inspiring manner, and with exquisite expression, winning an appreciative applause, such as only a deserved rendition can evoke. Miss Dowd's appearance is graceful and pleasing, while her voice has a range of sweetness to an unusual degree. The final number was aborns by the choir, under the leadership of Miss Katharine Warde. PRAYERS FOR THE DEAD. BY A PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER.

O'er land and sea love follows with fond prayer
Its loved ones in their troubles, grief and care.
There is no spot
On which it does not drop its tender dew
Except the grave and there it bids adieu
And prayeth not.

Why should that be the only place uncheered
By prayer which to our hearts is most endeared
And sacred grown?
Living, we sought for blessings on their head
Why should our lips be sealed when they are dead
And we alone? And we alone?

Idle! Their doom is fixed. Ah, who can tell? Yet, were it so, I think no harm could well Come of my prayer And oh! the heart, o'erburdened with its grief
This comfort needs and finds therein relief
From its despair.

Shall God be wroth because we love them still And call upon His love to shield from ill a Our dearest, best. And bring them home and recompense their pain
And Cleanse their sins, if any sin remain.
And give them rest?

Nay I'll not believe it, I will pray as for the living, for the dead each day. They will not grow Less meet for heaven, when followed by a prayer To speed them home, like summer-scented air From long ago.

Who shall forbid the heart's desire to flow Beyond the limits of the thoughts we know I an heaven above! An incense that the golden censers bear Is the sweet perfume from the earthly prayer Of brust and love.

MARRIAGE

BEST-WALSH.

BEST-WALSH.

Those who chanced to be present at the 8 o'clock Mass in the chapel of the Sacred Heart church Saturday morning, witnessed a pretty wedding ceremony in which Ed H. Best of Superior, Wis, and Miss Emma L. Walsh, of London Ont., Canada, were united in the holy bonds matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Fardy, parish priest, and was very quietly conducted owing to the fact that Mr. Best is only a recent acquisition to Superior circles, having come here three months ago from London, Ont. He is employed in the effices of the Eastern Minnesona railway where he has already made for himself a host of friends. Miss Walsh is the daughter of P. Walsh, a prominent real estate dealer and an old and respected citizen of London, and is very popular in musical circles in her batily city. The regard and esteem in which the young couple enter on their many friends here and in Canada was attested by numerous elegant and costly presents and the young couple enter on their matimonial career under the best auspices. They will make their home at 1922 Ogden avenue.—Suporior, Wis., Telegraph, Nov. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Best are well known and deservedly respected in our Forest City, the bride being a member of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary at the Carhedral. Their many friends here wish them every happiness in their wedded life.

A CULPABLE FOLLY

We learn from some of ar esteemed contemporaries that the Bible societies are doing a flourishing business. Bibles are being shipped everywhere, and the unregenerate heathen will continue to use them in the making of fire-crackers. This, however, is preferable to what they are subjected by the home heathen. A characteristic of reports is the exultant strain that pervades them. So many Bibles distributed -so many pagans converted-a very easy method of ascertaining the measure of their progress, and one calculated to improve the imaginative faculty.

It is incomprehensible that our separated brethren persist in attempting to propagate Christianity by distributing Bibles. It has been, and, must in the very nature of things, be a flat failure. And so signal has been the failure that Froude, who liked not the Church, declared that to send hawker over the world loaded with copies o the Bible is the most culpable folly of which it is possible for man to be guilty

Their failure as missionaries vouched for by competent Protestant authorities. They had a fair field in the Sandwich Islands, but we think their most ardent supporters will not allude to their career there. And when we consider that prominent divines are not so sure as to what constitutes the Bible: that Protestants deprived of the support of authority are a prey to doubt and indifference, vain theories and hypothetical systems, superstitions and absurdies; that according to one of its exponents Protestantism is but ecclesiastical anarchy -without doctrine and without consistence; that some preachers are, in order to fill the pews, obliged to supplement tneir Bible with attractions of a vauman who undertakes the conversion of a nation by reading the Bible alone.

The Rev. Algernon Crapsey says that the missionary boards should open their eyes to the fact that men and women are ceasing to give to missionary funds. And they are doing this from conscientious motives. They do not believe that the cause of Christ or the prosperity of His Kingdom will ever be furthered by present missionary

BISHOP CONATY.

The elevation of the rector of the Wash ington University is not only a mark o the affection of Leo XIII. for the insti tution but a tribute as well to the labors and talents of Dr. Conaty. Few, we imagine, thought he would b a shining success in guiding the des tinies of this great educational institu tion. His intimate friends may hav hoped for much from him, but to th world at large to those who looked up on him as a more or less obscure prie of Worcester he was a Knight untried and, in view of the difficulties confron ing him when he began his caree doomed apparently to defeat. Who these difficulties were is an old stor which need not be rehearsed. Suffic it to say that the situation demanded man of tact and of scholarly acquir ments, not to be cajoled flattering or daunted by dang -a man who could hold his ov with the best of educational author ities. And we think Bishop Cons has given evidence of all this. He h maintained the policy and traditions his predecessor. Criticism of c shape and another has fallen in bo teous measure upon him, nor it has n dimmed his enthusiasm nor stayed endeavor. His official utterances ha been invariably suggestive and thoug ful. More might we say of the c tinguished dignitary, but his record more eloquent than our poor phras He has succeeded nobly and manly, cause he deserved to succeed: and ev friend of education and every adm of strenuous thought and action n

Therein also is a lesson for al us. When Bishop Conaty came the Rectorship of the University came as it were into his own. He ready for the call and he was r ready by labour. It must have been For a man busied and perplexed parochial affairs as he had been, have portioned fout his time with in order to give appart of it to the velopment of the talents he has uti for the service of God and man. must have guarded every hour trivial waste and for guerdon, con
