INCEPTION. The experiments which perfected this prepara tion occupied many months, and were instituted with a view to curing that insidious disease, TUBERCULAR CONSUMPTON. and in order to supply the deficiencies in Hypophosphites already in use; for, although their nature was correct as to theory, their preparations vere, owing to their imperfect organization, found wanting in practice. While they caused the formation of fat and get erated heat, they did not improve the blood. The tonic effect upon the nerves and muscles was, cirumscribed, and, owing to their diluted state, it olving large doses, they were also too expensive The desiderata sought by Mr. Fellows, were:

A convenient, palatable remedy: Unalterable by time; Harmloss, though used continuously, yet migh be discontinued at any time without any ill effec Which would induce an appetite;

Strengthen digestion; Promote assimilation; Create healthy blood;

Strengthen the nerves and muscles; Enable the sul jet to successfully combat disease; And sufficiently economical for all. All this has been indisputably attained. The success of the work is complete; and Fellows' = ypophosphites stands foremost amongst the rem-

ABSTRACT EFFECTS. Fellows' Hypophosphites, on being introduced into the stomach, unites with the food, and immediately enters the circulation; and, being perfectly miscible with the blood, speedily pervades every part of the system. Its effects are first declared by a pulse slightly increased in fullness and strength a general exaltation of the organic functions, and xhilarat:on of the intellectual powers. Its specific influence is on the brain and nervous substance, increasing the activity of the absorbents, and rtnewing the blood, thus causing the healthy muscular formation so necessary in restoring the functions of the previously weakened organs. Being then, a tonic of the nervous and circulatory system, it follows that, when there is a demand for extrrordina; y exar ion, its use is invaluable, since it supplies the waste through the circulation, and sustains the general system. At no period of life is wathful care over the functions of the brain more requeste than during the acquisition of knowledge by the youth: plod-
