The colonial secretary refused to recognize as burghers foreigners who had been naturalized during or just before the war, saying they had been bribed by the resolution of the volksrrad giving them burghers' rights as a reward for taking part in a conflic in which they were not concerned. Botha concluded with an appeal for the widows and orphans, and said he considered that the appropriation of e 15 000 000 was inadequate. Replying to this Chamberlain com pared Great Britain's treatment of the Boers with the treatment of the south by the north after the civil war in America.

MORE MAGNANIMOUS THAN U, S "I would remind the general," said Chamberlain, "that we have undertaken already more obligation than have ever before been undertaken under similar circumstances. To take one case in my time

"I recollect very well the great civil war in America, and I appeal to that pacause that stands out as a case in which more than ever before, or indeed, ever since, the victor the conqueror, showed a magnanimous and generous feeling to the conquered. There was good reason for this, be-cause they were brothers of the same religion, the same everything.

"It was a civil war, but even in that case the northern side, that is to say the victorious side, made no provision whatever, either by way of grant, pension or allowance to the people who had been wounded, to the side Miss Mabel Cowan attended the wed-that had been conquered, They gave them their lives and liberties, and after a period of ten years, gave them votes, but did not give them any money compensation.

"But we have gone a step beyond hat, because we have contributed in addition to all our own enormous expenses a very large sum to relieve hose who are really destitute in our new colonies. We have done more than I think was expected and we have done all that we can afford to do, and I think it would be undesirable for the generals to press us any further in this matter, either now or writing." FORGET AND FORGIVE. Proceeding, Chamberlain reciprocated the desire expressed by Botha that they should all live in peace in future in South Africa. "We want in this country," said the secretary, "to forget and forgive because if you think, as you well may, that you have something to forgive, we also think we have a great put all that on one side. The war We each fought as well as is over. we knew how, and there is now peace. All we want is to recognize you as fellow subjects with ourselves, working as we shall work, for the prosperity and liberty of South Africa. How great that liberty is and how soon complete self-government will be extended to South Africa depends entirely on the rapidity with which the old animosities die out." Chamberlain concluded with saying that the government would be glad of the co-operation of men like the generals, who had loyally accepted the new situation. As they wanted South Africa to be a happy abiding place for all, he felt sure that if the burghers met the British half way they would find them quite as good friends in the future as they had been loyal enemies in the past. Free medical advice. Men and women suffering from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, absolutely without fee or charge. CHUMMY WITH BRITONS

Sept. 10.-Most cordial reations have been established between the British and American generals attending the manoeuvres of 90,000 German troops near Frankfort-on-the-Odor. Gens. Young and French naturally interest each other as cavalry eaders, and Lord Roberts and Gen. Corbin are good companions, although not well matched in stature. Gen. Hamilton, being an outspoken and racy talker, also pleases the Amerieans. Gens. Wood and Kelly-Kenny are practical men of fine ability as organizers. The British generals, being a field-marshal and lieutenant-generals, outrank the two American major-generals and Brig.-Gen. Wood and have precedence in presentations and court functions. Gen. Corbin and the other Americans are particularly impressed with the ability of Count von Waldersee. The American generals, after giving dinner to the German and British officers at the close of the manoeuvres, will visit Vienna, Paris, and London, and have a short run through Scotland. WHEN YOU VISIT TORONTO

BANK OF FRANCE ROBBED.

Paris, Sept. 10-Several of the morning newspapers to-day mention rumor that the Bank of France had been robbed of an important sum, in t mating that it was the work of burglars. The Patrie this afternoon ublished an interview with an official of the bank, who said:

"The robbery amounted to $44,000 in gold. It was discovered yesterday, but was kept quiet on the advice of the police. It was not the work of burglars. The gold was taken in the day time, evidently by a person or persons having access to the cash vault, but suspicion yet rests on no-
