

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

N. B. Labor Men Meet at Fredericton

Make Many Demands Upon the Provincial Government, and are Favorably Received

The N. B. Federation of Labor met at Fredericton March 12th to 14 instanc. Among the resolutions passed were: Demanding Woman Suffrage; demanding improvements to the Workmen's Compensation Act; Proportional Representation in all provincial, municipal and civic governing bodies; free tax; books and appliances for public schools up to Grade VIII; an independent commission to handle all matters relating to labor with the exception of Compensation; government recognition of organized labor by appointment of labor representatives upon public bodies; and permission of manufacture and sale of beer having two and one-half per cent of alcohol. It was also demanded that manufacture of ice cream and candy be stopped during the war to save milk and sugar. A delegation interviewed the government and was received favorably. J. L. Sugrue, St. John, was re-elected president, and the secretary is P. D. Ayer, Moncton. The formation of an Independent Labor Party was sympathetically discussed.

The Stowaway

He revived, and found support- ing her with a grace of skill that was remarkable in one who had enjoyed so little experience in these matters. She heard his voice, coming, as it seemed, rapidly nearer, urging her to slip something very fiery and spirituous. Instantly she protested.

"What are you giving me?" she sobbed. "What has happened?"

His pushed away the glass and sat up.

"You carried me?" she said.

"Well, I couldn't do anything else."

"I suppose you don't realize what it means to a woman to feel that she has been out of her senses under such conditions?"

"No, but in your case it only meant that you sighed deeply a few times and tried to bite my fingers when I wished to open your mouth."

"What for? Why did you want to open my mouth?"

"To give you a drink. You needed a stimulant."

"Oh."

By this time a few dexterous twists and turns had restrained those wandering tresses within bounds. She held a hairpin between her lips, and a woman can always say exactly what she means when a hairpin prevents discourtesy.

"I am all right now," she announced.

"Will you please leave me and tell the steward to bring me a cup of tea? If there is a cabin at liberty tonight put that portmanteau in it."

Hooper fulfilled her requests and re- joined Coke on the bridge.

"Miss Yorke is quite well again, sir," he reported. "She wants a cabin to change her clothes, I imagine."

"That bag you saw?"

"Pretty foxy, wasn't it?" broke in Coke, with a glee that was puzzling to his hearer.

"The whole af- fair seems to have been carefully planned," agreed Philip. "But, as I was saying, she asked for the use of a cabin, so I told the steward to give her mine until we put into Queestown."

Coke, who had lighted another black and stumpy cigar, removed it in order to speak with due emphasis.

"Put into—?" he said.

"But surely you will not take this young lady to the river Plate!" cried the astonished second officer.

"She knew where she was bound when she keen aboard the Andromeda," said the skipper, frowning now like a man who argues with himself. "There's her portmanteau to prove it, with a label, an' all in her own 'and writin'. It's some game played on me by 'er an' 'er uncle. Any'ow, the first time she sees land again it'll be the lovely 'arbor of Ferrambuco, an' that's straight. 'Er she is an' 'ere she'll stop, an' the best thing you can do is spread the notion among the crew that she's runnin' away to avoid marryin' a man she doesn't like. That sounds reasonable, an' it 'appens to be true. Verity an' me talked it over last Sunday p. m."

"To avoid a marriage!" repeated Hooper.

"Yes, that's it," said Coke. "But look 'ere, me boy, this gal sails under my flag. I'm-wot d'ye call it?—in loco- motive parentibus, or something of the sort, while she's on the ship's boots. You keep your mouth shut an' wink the other eye an' leave it to me to give you the chance of your life. 'Er, wot?"

Philip Hooper did not strive to extract the precise meaning of the skipper's words. The process would have been difficult since Coke himself could not have supplied any reasonable analysis. Somehow, to the commander's thinking, the presence of the girl seemed to make easier the casting away of the ship. Exactly how or what bearing her strangely begun voyage might have on subsequent events he was not yet in a position to say.

"Queestown!" he chuckled. "Not this journey—wot if my name's Jimmie Coke, the man 'er is stanin' on all that is left of 'er 'ard earned savin's. No, sir; I've got me orders, an' I've got me letter, an' the pore old Andromeda gets ripped to pieces in the Recife or I'll know the reason why. Wot a card to play at the inquiry! Ower's nice on board bound to South America for the good of 'er health. 'Er even 'er'd of a man mendin' 'is pretty nice on a ship 'e meant to throw away? It's providential, that's wot it is, reel providential! I do believe ole Verity 'ad a 'and in it."

By this time a few dexterous twists and turns had restrained those wandering tresses within bounds. She held a hairpin between her lips, and a woman can always say exactly what she means when a hairpin prevents discourtesy.

"PRETTY FOXY, WASN'T IT?"

THE graceful lines of a Suit can only be acquired by two methods.

One by the man at the helm, who is a master designer,—the other, by tailors, trained experts on the production of particular parts in the construction of the garments.

For these reasons, 'tis easy to distinguish Fit-Reform Clothes. They stand out, like the masterpieces of the great painters.

DOUGLASFIELD

Douglasfield, March 14—Mr. Albert Connell who is employed in the Pulp Mill, Lower Derby, spent Sunday at his home here.

Miss Annie McDonald returned to Newcastle last week, where she is employed as Book-keeper for Mr. E. Dalton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gillies were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Irving the latter part of last week.

Miss Audrey Astles spent Thursday in town.

Miss Mary King returned to work Monday after a two weeks vacation.

Miss Mildred Black spent Sunday at home.

Mrs. J. Dick of Black River was the guest of her mother, Mrs. T. Brehaut, during the past week.

The many friends of Mr. Willard Baldwin will be pleased to hear that he is able to be about again.

The Misses Hazel and Edith Baldwin spent Sunday at home.

Our school teacher, Miss Florence McKenzie spent the week-end at her home in Upper Nelson.

THREE MEN PERISH

Andrew and Philip Belliveau, and Aurele Gaudet, who all reside near Memramcook, were found frozen to death near Memramcook Station on Sunday last. The three men who were employees to the C. G. R. Moncton were home on the 10th inst. for the week-end, and were returning to their work when they were lost in the blizzard and perished about a quarter of a mile from

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Income Tax Forms
Are now available
Returns must be filed on or before 31st March

THE Dominion Income War Tax Act requires you to fill in one or more of the five special Forms provided before 31st March, 1918. In order to assist the public to understand just what is required of them, information on each Form is given below. Read carefully, then get three copies of the form that fits your case and fill them in. Answer all questions fully and accurately. For making false statements, a penalty of $10,000 or six months' imprisonment, or both, is provided.

Individuals.—All persons unmarried, and all widows or widowers without dependent children, whose income is $1500 a year or more, must fill in Form T1. All other persons whose income is $3000 or more, use the same Form. Where any income is derived from dividends, list amounts received from Canadian and Foreign securities separately. Fill in pages 1, 2 and 3 only. Do not mark on page 4. Partnerships, as such need not file returns, but the individuals forming the partnerships must.

Corporations and Joint Stock Companies, no matter how created or organized, shall pay the normal tax on income exceeding $3000. Use Form T2—giving particulars of income. Also attach a financial statement. Under Deductions, show in detail amounts paid to Patriotic Fund and Canadian Red Cross or other approved War Funds.

Trustees, Executors, Administrators of Estates and Assignees use Form T3. Full particulars of the distribution of income from all estates handled must be shown as well as details of amounts distributed. A separate Form must be filled in for each estate.

Employers must use Form T4 to give names and amounts of salaries, bonuses, commissions and other remuneration paid to all employees during 1917 where such remuneration amounted in the aggregate to $1000 or over.

Corporation Lists of Shareholders.—On Form T5 corporations shall give a statement of all bonuses, and dividends paid to Shareholders residing in Canada during 1917 stating to whom paid, and the amounts.

Figures in every case are to cover 1917 income—all Forms must be filed by 31st March. For neglect, a fine of $100 for each day of default may be imposed.

In the case of Forms T1 and T2, keep one copy of the filled in Form and file the other two with the Inspector of Taxation for your District. In the case of T3, T4 and T5, keep one copy and file the other two, with the Commissioner of Taxation, Dept. of Finance, Ottawa.

Forms may be obtained from the District Inspectors of Taxation and from the Postmasters at all leading centres.

Postage must be paid on all letters and documents forwarded by mail to Inspector of Taxation.
